PRESIDENT BACK TO FIND FLOOD OF BONUS WIRES

Takes Advisers on Fishing Jaunt.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 12.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt returned from a week-end fishing jaunt tonight to find the White House inundated with telegrams and letters adjuring him to sign the 2 billion 202 million dollar veterans' bonus and inflation bill.

The administration and congressional leaders who shared the holiday with the President were full of fish stories but noncommittal on the results of the powwow on the administration program that took place around the fireplace of the Woodmont Rod and Gun club in the Blue Ridge mountains.

The President and his advisers, including Vice President Garner, Postmaster General Farley, Speaker Byrns of the house, Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas, Democratic leader of the senate, and Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi, chairman of the senate finance committee, discussed the situation created by the passage of the Patman bonus bill and the tangle of administration bills on which the Democrats are seriously divided.

Gets Facts on Senate Revolt.

Mr. Roosevelt was given an insight into the state of mind of the Democrats in the senate, who, almost to a man, have revolted against the presidential dictum to extend the life of the NRA for two years. The senate Democrats agreed on a ten months' extension of the institution in a greatly modified form. Speaker Byrns, however, told the President the house would pass the administration bill.

Democratic opposition to the banking bill placing the federal reserve system under government domination, and to the utilities bill, and the bearing upon the old age pension and unemployment insurance legislation of the Supreme court decision invalidating the railroad pension act, also were discussed. The congressional leaders expressed the opinion that unless the President is willing to make concessions of the growing opposition to much of his program he will have congress on his hands all summer.

Members of the party came home with the clear impression that there is no doubt the President will veto the Patman bonus bill and that the veto message is already in type ready to be transmitted to congress as soon as the bill reaches the White House. Jockying to gain enough votes to override the veto in the senate, the bonus champions and inflationists are delaying the dispatch of the bill to the White House by dilatory motions to reconsider.

Delay for Coughlin's Appeal.

A delay over the week-end was desired to enable Father Coughlin to make a radio appeal tonight that would either impel the President to sign the bill or gain enough votes in the senate to override a veto. Senator Elmer Thomas [Dem., Okla.], leading inflationist, intends to withdraw the motions to reconsider by the middle of the week. By that time the veterans' lobby, the greatest lobby in history, will have had a week in which to "put the heat" on the President and the anti-bonus senators.

Dennis Chavez, the new Democratic senator from New Mexico, will vote to override the veto, as will Senator James F. Byrnes [Dem., S. C.], who, however, opined that the veto would be sustained. The supporters of the bill are still several votes short of the two-thirds necessary.

To offset Patman gains administration leaders claimed the vote of Senator Joseph C. O'Mahoney of Wyoming against any motion to override a veto. O'Mahoney did not vote on the bill's final passage. As the Patmanites must pick up two votes to every one gained by the administration simply to hold their own the result appeared a net advantage for the administration. Leaders are certain they can muster thirty-five votes on a veto showdown, at least two more than necessary. They pointed out it would break every precedent if the opposition polled a larger vote on a motion to override than it registered on passage.

Discount Jones' Opinions.

Senate leaders were generally of the opinion that the statements of Jesse Jones, RFC chairman, and Gov. Marriner S. Eccles of the Federal Reserve board, discounting the inflationary effects of the Patman bill, will not change any votes in the senate.

Senator James Hamilton Lewis of Illinois, Democratic whip, said it may

UNCLAIMED TAX FUND INVOLVED IN COUNTY AUDIT

Sweitzer Tells of 64 Year Accumulation.

County Treasurer Robert M. Sweitzer yesterday told of the existence of a large fund which under the law the county clerk may "carry in his pocket if he wishes to do so." This fund has been accumulating since the Chicago fire in 1871, the treasurer declared. The amount in this fund, which is unclaimed and which has accrued gradually over the years as the result of the complicated tax redemption machinery, is undisclosed.

A general audit of the county clerk's office, the first one made since the great fire, is expected to be made public this week. The audit was completed last Friday and given to County Clerk Michael J. Flynn, who thus far has refused to divulge the contained findings and turned it over to his attorney for examination. When the audit was completed there were rumors of a shortage in the funds of the clerk's office, previously held by Sweitzer.

Smiles at Shortage Rumors.

Mr. Sweitzer, who held the office for twenty-four years—from 1910 until he became treasurer on Dec. 3, 1934—sat in his office yesterday and gave smiling assurances that no shortage would be found in the funds which he turned over to Clerk Flynn on Dec. 3. He said he has been at work every Sunday since he became treasurer and he has adopted a new system of having a monthly audit made of the treasurer's accounts, and of making that audit public.

The county treasurer said he believed the audit of his former office would show the need for a change in its bookkeeping methods, although during his long tenure he made many changes there that he thought were improvements.

The unclaimed fund, Mr. Sweitzer said, has accumulated in the tax redemption department of the county clerk's office. It is made of refunds to which tax buyers are entitled, but which never have been called for. This money, according to Mr. Sweitzer, constitutes the only fund which the county clerk is not required to turn over to the county treasurer.

Fund May Be Over $100,000.

There was no way of estimating the amount of this unclaimed fund, but employés of the treasurer's office said that if only a small percentage of the large turnover in tax redemption funds is unclaimed it would average several thousand dollars a year, and over a period of 60 years it could easily grow to $100,000 or more.

Treasurer Sweitzer said that eventually the county will get the unclaimed money. He said, however, that a new law must be enacted for such a turnover under which the county would guarantee the county clerk against liability if claimants with legal proof turn up and demand any part of it. Mr. Sweitzer assumed that most of the fund would never be claimed.

In discussing the rumors that have been current regarding a shortage in his turnover to his successor, the present county clerk, Mr. Sweitzer made it plain he suspected no shortage due to the wrongdoing of any of his former employés. What fees he collected as county clerk for marriage licenses, hunting licenses, certified copies of documents, and costs, fines, or other money paid to the county court, of which the county clerk is ex officio the clerk, were periodically paid in to the county treasurer, he said.

Clerk Has Complete Control.

In explaining the county clerk's complete control over unclaimed tax redemption money, Mr. Sweitzer went on to say that legally the clerk could keep the money in banks, in safety boxes, his own safes or vaults or even in his own pockets, in contrast to the handling of all other money, which must be turned over promptly to the treasurer.

Inasmuch as that which is not claimed within a year or two might be regarded as money that would never be claimed, it was suggested that such a fund would attract the covetous eyes of unscrupulous employés or sharp politicians. Mr. Sweitzer said he had confidence in the employés he had during his twenty-four years as county clerk, and particularly in his bookkeeper, a precinct captain, who is also a relative of Sweitzer and who is now employed by him in the treasurer's office.

How the "redemption fund" is built up was explained by James W. Ryan, chief deputy county clerk, who has been second in command of that office since 1922 and an employé in the office since 1910.

Mr. Ryan's explanation is as follows: The tax buyer pays the delinquent

THE STATE THAT DARED TO DISOBEY

Burglar Slain by Police After Thrilling Chase

Police killed a young burglar at 5:30 a. m. yesterday near Byron street and Ashland avenue after a strenuous chase of three and a half hours in the pouring rain. Pursuers encountered the fugitive five times, all in an area 200 yards wide and three-eighths of a mile long. Like a rabbit, he kept swinging back into the same neighborhood, though twice he escaped under police fire which caused flesh wounds.

The chase began at 1:55 a. m. when aroused tenants of an apartment at 4049 Greenview avenue surprised a burglar on their back porch. He fled and Policemen Louis Marek and Joseph Bellock of the Town Hall station set out in a squad car to trail him.

Flashes Light on Intruder.

An hour and a half later, Mrs. Jessie Phillips, 71 years old, 1441 Sherwood terrace, awakened when a burglar stumbled over a chair in her apartment. She switched on a light, which enabled her and her daughters, Katherine and Jessie, to view the man clearly. They reported $4.20 stolen and gave the police an accurate description.

Upon leaving the Phillips home, Policemen Marek and Bellock saw their suspect sauntering along just a block and a half away at Irving Park boulevard and Greenview avenue. He ignored the halt order and the five shots which followed the command, and vanished in an alley. Marek and Bellock desisted from pursuit long enough to telephone the station for more police.

In a few minutes Marek and Bellock saw their quarry again strolling leisurely on the sidewalk at Grace street and Bosworth avenue, less than three blocks from the scene of their first meeting. Pistol fire again proved vain, though the robber apparently was unarmed.

The Rabbitlike Return.

By that time police were patroling the neighborhood thoroughly, but the fugitive stumbled into them again at the same corner—Grace and Bosworth.

Finally, at 5:30 o'clock, the quarry was forced from a passageway on Ashland avenue near Byron street. He raised his hands as he faced Policemen Marek and Bellock. When Marek stepped up to search his captive for weapons, the prisoner kicked him in the groin and ran back into the passageway.

The policeman fired two shots, one of which struck the fugitive in the head and killed him. At the American hospital the burglar's body was found to bear several flesh wounds, evidently incurred in his earlier encounters during the chase.

Mrs. Phillips said the body was that of the burglar who invaded her home.

'HERO' IS RESCUED JUST IN TIME IN THIS THRILLER

An old-time melodrama with a new twist was enacted in Melrose Park late last night.

On the North Western tracks at 15th avenue in the suburb lay Thomas Cook, 56 years old, 7526 Emerald avenue. He was sleeping peacefully. Far away was heard the whistle of a train speeding southward toward 15th avenue and Mr. Cook. And Mr. Cook, in the arms of John Barleycorn, heard it not.

But Policemen Ernest Dalleuge and James Bronge heard the toot. They saw Cook. They looked at their watches and it was 11:26½. They looked at each other. The train was due at 11:27½. Then the policemen acted.

Dalleuge ran up the track, flickering his flashlight and wishing for a red petticoat with which to flag the oncoming iron monster. Bronge tried to pull Cook away from his uneasy couch, but Cook took a firm grip of his iron pillow and resisted. Only when Bronge vigorously pounded his shoe soles with a night stick did he awake and roll over.

The ending was happy. The train slowed down and Cook was safely at one side, with nothing worse than a charge of disorderly conduct to look forward to.

2¾ Inch Rain in a Day Sets a May Record

An all-night rain that ended yesterday in a four hour electrical storm set a 62 year May record for total rainfall in one day.

In the 24 hours ended at 10 a. m. yesterday the weather bureau recorded 2.78 inches of rain. Only once before in the more than 70 years of weather records has this mark of a 24 hour rainfall in May been exceeded. That was in 1873, when 2.82 inches fell.

This week-end's deluge indicates that the month may wind up by being the wettest May on record, according to Forecaster C. A. Donnel. In 1883 May had 7.32 inches of precipitation. So far this month the fall amounts to 5.20 inches, and less than half the month is gone. The normal average for the entire 31 days is 3.54 inches.

Comparison with 1934.

Last year, when the parching drouth was just getting under way, May struggled along with a trickle of only .67 of an inch. In fact, the first five months of 1934 had only 4.56 inches. With 4 1-3 months of this year past, the total rainfall has reached 14.33 inches.

After raining steadily most of the night, the rain at 6 a. m. reached torrential proportions, and was accompanied by terrific cracks of thunder and lightning flashes. Lightning struck the 50 foot flagpole atop the Lincoln Turnverein hall, 1005 Diversey parkway, and hurled it to the street.

Several trees were struck. Flooded basements prompted more than 4,500 calls to the fire department for help.

River Flows "Normally."

Because the drainage canal was unable to carry the unusual heavy volume occasioned by the downpour, the Chicago river reversed its course yesterday morning and for two and a half hours flowed eastward as nature intended.

The Chicago Surface Lines reported practically every viaduct under water, with extra cars operating a shuttle service. Seventy-two were impassable.

Many motorists found themselves stranded, unable to drive through pools three feet deep. Near the Illinois Central railroad tracks at 79th street and Dobson avenue water five feet deep submerged one automobile, leaving only the top sticking out.

The water shorted many circuits of the city lighting system. Most of the Hyde Park district was without electricity and water all morning.

Chicago was not alone in the rain area. During the 24 hours showers were general in the upper Mississippi valley, the Missouri valley, Plateau region, central valleys, the Great Lakes, and even in the Dakotas and Nebraska, where rain was sorely needed.

Plane Falls in Sea; Warships Crash; 2 Killed

HONOLULU, T. H., May 12.—(AP)—A destroyer collision which killed one man and injured four and a plane plunge into the sea that took the life of an aviator were revealed here today as the casualties in the American fleet's secret mid-Pacific "war" operations.

The casualties were disclosed when 42 of the 153 warships in the North Pacific steamed into Pearl Harbor here this morning and Admiral Joseph M. Reeves suddenly lifted the rigid censorship that had shrouded the operations since last Thursday.

Mass Flight Succeeds.

Simultaneously Admiral Reeves made known that the 43 planes which took off here last Thursday for a mass flight somewhere in the mid-Pacific area had reached their secret destination safely 1,200 miles westward and were "executing their missions." [This was the first time the navy had made any official mention of the number of planes involved.]

The high command did not reveal the point of arrival. Ostensibly the planes were heading for Midway Islands, 1,323 miles west and north of here, at takeoff time. The only known landing place in the vicinity of "1,200 miles westward" is Pearl and Hermes reef.

One source said the planes made one stop en route, adding that 41 planes finished the flight together and two lagged but arrived later. The patrol squadron is part of more than 450 planes which will participate with the fleet in the next phase of the mimic war.

Collision in Dark.

The destroyer Lea tore into the stern of the destroyer Sicard just out of the harbor at 3:48 a. m. today while leading the bigger ships through an "enemy" network of submarines.

Only prompt work by a damage control officer prevented the Lea from sinking. She moved into harbor under her own steam, but her sharp prow was crumpled like a smashed automobile fender. Rendered helpless, the Sicard was taken in tow by a mine sweeper. She had a great hole in the under side of her fantail stern.

The destroyer collision occurred in inky darkness. All vessels had turned out their lights. The destroyers were weaving back and forth to shield the bigger vessels from submarines when the Lea rammed the Sicard.

Richard Chadwick, second class gunner's mate, of Blissfield, Mich., was killed aboard the Sicard; three enlisted men were hurt slightly and another was thrown over the side to suffer from submersion.

Disappears in Deep.

Lieut. Mathias B. Wyatt, 26, of San Diego, a native of South Carolina and 1929 graduate of the naval academy, was the victim of the plane crash, which took place 200 miles east of Hawaii early yesterday.

Wyatt, in one of eighteen fighting planes, had taken off the aircraft carrier Saratoga to ward off an "enemy" attack of submarines coming out from the islands. His single seat ship flew into the slipstream [currents caused by winds and propellers] of a companion plane. His ship plummeted down into water three miles deep. The destroyer MacLeish and a plane guard reached the spot one minute after the crash, but the plane sank without a trace.

GUARD WARSAW; NATION MOURNS FOR PILSUDSKI

Cabinet Picks New Minister of War.

BY DONALD DAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WARSAW, May 13 [Monday].—Marshal Josef Pilsudski, virtual dictator of Poland, died at 7:15 o'clock last night from cancer of the stomach.

The 67 year old marshal's death shocked the nation inasmuch as the nature of his ailment had been kept a secret by the government. The cabinet met in a special session to determine the Polish republic's political future and to deliberate the situation precipitated by the death of Europe's first post-war dictator.

Police Patrol Capital.

Extra police patroled the streets of Warsaw to deal with any internal disturbance which might arise from Pilsudski's death. Officers were ordered to carry tear bombs.

Word that the marshal had died rapidly spread through the capital. The rumors began to circulate at 9 p. m. when a reception for the French ambassador, who is leaving in a few days, was suddenly canceled.

Crowds began to gather at Belvedere palace and at 11 p. m. the news was made public. At 12:40 o'clock this morning the Warsaw radio station announced to the nation:

"Marshal Pilsudski is dead."

Family at Bedside.

The marshal's wife, Marie, and his two daughters, Wanda, 16, and Jadwiga, 14, were at the bedside at the end.

High officers of the Polish army arrived at Belvedere palace throughout the night to mourn at the bier of the warrior who held the post of minister of war. At 1 a. m. it was reported that the cabinet had appointed Gen. Edward Rydz Smigly inspector general of the army and Gen. Thadee Kasprzycki minister of war. Both men were close friends of Pilsudski.

The government has ordered national mourning. A bereavement message at the "loss of the greatest man in Poland's history" was read at all army posts this morning. Theaters and all amusement houses have been closed until further notice.

Col. Josef Beck, who has risen to the post of foreign minister from a position as Pilsudski's aide de camp, is being mentioned as the likely man to step into the marshal's shoes as Poland's "strong man." Other candidates are Alexander Prystor, former premier, and Premier Col. Walery Slawek. These three men were the closest confidants of the marshal.

Taken Ill with Grip.

A communique was issued by the government last week stating that Pilsudski was suffering from an attack of the grip. This was the first reference made regarding his state of health since 1931, when he was forced to take a vacation in Madeira.

Pilsudski was to have participated in a conference last week with Foreign Minister Pierre Laval of France relating to the war scare in Europe and particularly regarding the differences between Poland and France which grew out of the Franco-soviet security pact. But the marshal was too ill to join the discussions and Laval left for Moscow without having been able to see the statesman.

Pilsudski died on the anniversary of his coup in 1926, when he seized power after bloody street fighting in Warsaw. He and a small group of his former legionnaires virtually had ruled the nation ever since that time.

Aimed at Presidency.

In 1929 the marshal sent his soldiers into the lobbies of the parliament and forced its dissolution because he was disgusted with legislative bickerings. He was instrumental, too, in carrying out a recent constitutional reform which concentrated great power in the president.

It was generally believed Pilsudski intended to force the resignation of President Ignace Moscicki and assume the presidency.

ONE OF EUROPE'S LEADERS.

Marshal Josef Pilsudski, man of intrigue, astute politician, courageous, patriotic, honest in a concrete sense, but irascible and frequently unstable, was one of the outstanding figures on the European political stage. His life was colorful. From earliest childhood he dreamed of the independence of his country. Long before the war he schemed for the restoration of Polish liberty and suffered exile.

Under the tolerant Austrian rule he trained the Polish Galician youth in the use of firearms. In the great war, with an Austrian pledge of future

Polish independence, he raised a Polish legion to fight against Russia.

Later, in 1916, when Germany issued her famous manifesto proclaiming the quasi-independence of Poland and drafting her citizens into the armies of the central powers, he refused to coöperate any longer with the Germans and their allies. Then he was in the limelight as a prisoner in the fortress of Magdeburg, condemned to death, but saved by Austrian intervention; then as leader of a new born Poland, the commander in chief of her armies, throwing back the Red army of invasion that reached the gates of Warsaw and storming with his legions the city of Kief, in Russian territory.

Then came the accolade. He was created the sole marshal of Poland. No one before or since has received the honor. Then he became prime minister, following Paderewski, the famous pianist. There followed a period of partial eclipse, in which his energies were absorbed in military duties and the cultivation of a small estate in the country not far from Warsaw.

His return to the limelight was spectacular. In 1926 Poland, industrially and financially, was in a bad way. The political situation was disturbing. The president appointed ministry after ministry but they fell almost daily before the assaults of the sejm, until as a last resort Witos, leader of the right central peasant party, was called on to form a cabinet. The result was catastrophic.

Witos was Pilsudski's enemy, and from the moment of assuming office showed his antipathy to the nation's ranking officer in a practical form. He discharged many of Pilsudski's friends from the army headquarters staf.

Pilsudski Goes Into Hiding.

Pilsudski's reply was immediate and decisive. After a cleverly arranged attack on himself in his house in the country near the Vistula, and a "rescue" by a regiment stationed nearby, he marched with a small army on the Polish capital, captured the city after two days' fighting, and forced the abdication of the president, the prime minister and cabinet.

Poland was stunned. During the few days following the fall on May 14 of the Belvedere castle, in which the president and Witos had been besieged, Warsaw was flooded with rumors of civil war in other parts of the country, of armies marching on the city. Over the grave which held more than three hundred dead, Polish mothers, wives and sisters swore vengeance on the author of their bereavement, and Pilsudski took to hiding, but soon the storm cleared.

He returned and after an acrimonious debate in the sejm, was elected president of the republic. To the consternation of his friends, and the bewilderment of his opponents he refused to accept the post.

He Names a Puppet.

Pilsudski soon made his plans clear. He refused the presidency, but he gave the country a president of his own choosing, Ignace Moscicki, a man without political bias, a professor and business man of high integrity, but a puppet of Pilsudski. The marshal himself took the portfolio of war minister.

From that day to his death Pilsudski ruled as a dictator, riding roughshod over all opposition.

Marshal Pilsudski was born at Vilna Dec. 5, 1867. His parents were of aristocratic Lithuanian lineage. Pilsudski attended the University of Cracow, where he soon began to mix with socialistic circles. In 1888 he became involved in a plot against the czar of Russia and was deported to Siberia for four years. On his return he devoted himself body and soul to the Polish labor movement.

In 1901 Pilsudski was arrested a second time, but succeeded in escaping to Cracow, then still an Austrian possession. At the outbreak of the world war he enlisted under the Austrian command as leader of the first brigade of Polish legionaries engaged in the campaign of southern Poland.

In 1917 he was called to the provisional sejm, as a member of which he made an effort to unite all parties on a platform of Polish independence. Failing in this he resigned and, as he was considered the instigator of the refusal of the Polish legionaries to take the oath of allegiance to the central powers, he was arrested by the German military authorities of Poland and interned at Magdeburg.

Released after the collapse of the central powers, Pilsudski returned to Warsaw, where he was welcomed as a conquering hero.

FRANCE, RUSSIA SEEK TO EXTEND SECURITY PACT

Laval Speeds to Moscow to See Stalin.

MOSCOW, May 12.—(AP)—Pierre Laval, French foreign minister, and soviet leaders will discuss the possibility of broadening the Franco-soviet security pact to include other nations of eastern Europe, authorized quarters said tonight.

They did not express great optimism on the eve of Laval's arrival, in view of Germany's cold attitude toward a mutual assistance pact including the soviet union and of indications that Poland also was unfriendly to the idea.

Would Welcome Extension.

"So long as Germany and Poland object to collective security arrangements," a spokesman said, "the Franco-soviet pact is the most effective security guarantee obtainable, but we would welcome an extension of the system to other nations."

Asked whether the stafs of the French and soviet armies are drawing up plans for military coöperation in the case the security pact ever is called into force, the spokesman said he had no knowledge that anything definite had been done yet along such lines.

He added, however, "the mutual assistance pact means not only assistance but also preparation for it."

The official press said Laval's visit was to show the world the new pact is only the starting point of coöperation between the two countries.

To Discuss Nazi Arms.

The Journal De Moscou said Laval's conversations with Josef Stalin, soviet dictator, and Maxim Litvinov, commissar for foreign affairs, would be devoted principally to the international political situation [presumably German rearmament].

Most newspapers emphasized the growth of the Red army and soviet industry, which they said combined to create a formidable power pledged to the cause of European peace.

"There is no statesman in Europe so blind that he cannot recognize the fact that this peace is menaced," said the official Izvestia. "France and the soviet stand together, with guns at their feet, stretching out their hands to welcome coöperation with other countries and fight off the menace."

CZARNECKI HOLDS PILSUDSKI WAS FATHER OF NATION

Marshal Josef Pilsudski, who died yesterday, was regarded in modern Poland as George Washington was regarded in America at the close of the revolutionary war, according to Anthony Czarnecki, former collector of customs in Chicago.

"Marshal Pilsudski was the father of his country," said Mr. Czarnecki. "He devoted his life to making Poland independent. He was distinguished both as a soldier and a diplomat and, after the establishment of the republic, proved a stern foe to governmental excesses and mismanagement. The new Polish constitution is a monument to his labors. Under it Poland will have a strong and stable administration."

County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki said that in the death of the marshal Poland had lost "a great leader who will be sorely missed by his people."

Russia Executes Leader of Band of Child Criminals

ROSTOV-ON-DON, U. S. S. R., May 12.—(AP)—Alexander Kapusko, 22 year old organizer of a band of child criminals, was executed today a few hours after his trial. A group of minors was convicted with him of a series of thefts.

BURGLAR IS SLAIN BY POLICE AFTER THRILLING CHASE

Escapes with Wounds in Several Clashes.

Mrs. Freda Krueger identified the man as her son, Irwin H. Krueger, 27 years old, 5718 Wellington avenue. She said he was paroled last December from Joliet penitentiary after serving 2 years and 7 months of a burglary sentence of one year to life. She was unaware, she declared, of her son's recent activities.

The police believe he may have been the "party burglar" who has broken into many homes in the district in the last several months and has taken the purses of guests.

EUROPE WONDERS IF POLAND WILL CHANGE POLICY

LONDON, May 12.—(AP)—Marshal Josef Pilsudski's death raised the question today in official circles of Europe's capitals: "Whither Poland without its strong man and father?"

The general opinion appeared to be that there would be no immediate effect upon the international situation, but Poland's policy within the next few weeks was expected to show whether that nation's course will be altered. Officials in all capitals agreed that Pilsudski's death was a severe loss to Poland, for he was recognized generally as the man who saw the nation through its birth pangs.

Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler, saddened by the marshal's death, sent a telegram to the Polish president asserting he was "deeply moved" by the loss of "a great patriot who by his understanding and coöperation with Germany not only did a great service to both our countries, but also made a most valuable contribution to the pacification of Europe."

Paris and Moscow, equally interested with Germany in Poland's policies, were likewise shocked. In these three capitals, especially, officials wondered whether there would be any change now in Poland's policy in any one direction.

Montville, Conn., May 12.—(AP)—Daniel Lynnick, 41, the father of four children, beat his wife to death with a club today, authorities said, and then killed himself with a rifle.

GERMANY PLANS TO FORBID JEWS WED GENTILES

Nazi Healers' Leader Hits Medical Science.

BERLIN, May 12.—(AP)—Notice that Germany soon may forbid marriages between gentiles and Jews was given today by Julius Streicher, leading Nazi "Jew baiter," in an address at Nuremberg.

Opening the "Germanic Healers' exposition," Streicher announced important public health legislation was coming with "the first step the official branding of marriages between Aryans and non-Aryans as miscegenation."

"The next move will be to forbid marriages between Germans and Jews altogether," he declared.

Claims Girls Are Ruined.

Streicher charged that every year 100,000 young German girls are "ruined" through entering Jewish homes as servants.

The exposition, opened in connection with Germany's first "Healers' festival week," purports to show how nature healing can and should supplant medical science, which is considered to be under Jewish domination. Streicher is sponsoring the exposition.

Invitations said it would "unite all Germans having interest in the science of health, free from Jewish influences, born in German popular instinct and rooted in the blood and soil."

Streicher urges that scientific discoveries of Germany's leading medical men and the science of the past be wiped out and the remedies no longer applied, because "they are merely unpunished methods of Jewish robbery and murder, clothed in the mantle of exact science."

Supports Nature Healing.

"Thousands of German physicians and health practitioners," Streicher contended, "are healing patients in the natural manner without using even a trace of the ideas of these Jews."

Men whose medical researches and discoveries are particularly obnoxious to Streicher are Rudolf Virchow, cellular pathology; Robert Koch, tubercular antitoxin; August von Wasserman, Wasserman test; Paul Ehrlich, salvarsan; Emil von Behring, serum therapy, and Albert Neisser, gonococcus.

While Virchow, Koch, and Von Behring themselves were not Jews they either married Jewesses or had Jewish assistants. Thus so far as Streicher is concerned they are like Ehrlich, Wasserman, and Neisser, who were "only interested in weakening the gentile race with their discoveries and remedies."

Wasserman's blood test, he claims, was invented "because Jews need Christian blood for ritual purposes."

Nazi Slogan Alarms Jews in Palestine; Blame Arabs

AFULE, Palestine, May 13.—(AP)—Settlers in this Jewish colony were startled today by a train on the Haifa-Damascus Railway Line which was decorated with a huge swastika, on which was inscribed "Germany over all" in Arabic. Jewish settlers have noticed recently a frequent use of such slogans by hostile Arabs. They claim it is part of a campaign organized by German Nazis to foment trouble between Jews and Arabs in Palestine.

BOMB EXPLOSION INJURES THREE AT BELLEVILLE, ILL.

Belleville, Ill., May 12.—(AP)—Three special policemen of Granite City, Ill., were injured today by a dynamite bomb that exploded near an electric pole there in what officers believed another outbreak of vandalism in a southern Illinois utility strike. No property damage was caused by the blast.

Meanwhile electrical power to five communities near here failed when the safety switch of the Illinois Power and Light company's substation was disabled by an electrical storm. Regular employés of the company are on strike and the company said it was unable to make the necessary repairs.

John H. Mitchell, superintendent of the utility's southern group, addressed a letter to the Belleville chief of police, asking protection for men to repair the switch. No order was made, however.

Union Labor Puzzle.

St. Louis, Mo., May 12.—(AP)—Alleging brutality in dealing with strikers, they planned today for a mass demonstration next Saturday in behalf of the striking employés of the Laclede Gas Light company.

SENATE TO OPEN QUIZ ON COLLEGE RADICALS TODAY

Walgreen to Elaborate on U. of C. Charges.

A committee of the Illinois state senate this morning will begin hearings in its investigation of alleged radicalism in tax exempt and state supported educational institutions. Although the scope of the committee's authority includes virtually every school in the state it will begin with an inquiry into radical activities at the University of Chicago.

Charles R. Walgreen, head of the national chain of drug stores bearing his name, will be the first witness called by State Senator Richey V. Graham [Dem., Cicero] when the hearing is opened in the county building. Mr. Walgreen's action in withdrawing his niece, Miss Lucille Norton, from her classes at the university because of alleged "communistic influences" precipitated the present investigation.

Gathers "Radical" Information.

In addition to telling his own story of the effect of her college lectures upon Miss Norton, Mr. Walgreen will turn over to the committee information bearing on campus radicalism sent to him by patriotic organizations during the last month.

Harold F. Swift, president of the university board of trustees, and Robert Maynard Hutchins, youthful president of the university, also will appear at today's hearing. Laird Bell, a member of the board of trustees, will take part in the investigation as an unofficial counsel for the university.

The university, it was learned, has made extensive preparations for the presentation of its argument that although theories of radical governments are studied on the campus, radicalism is not advocated. Robert Morss Lovett, Maynard Krueger, Paul H. Douglas, and Frederick Schuman, radical members of the faculty, and Harry Gideonse, a liberal professor, are all prepared to testify before the committee.

Students Will Testify.

The university has also recruited a score of students from the classes of the so-called radical professors, who will testify that they have not been subjected to propaganda. Other students, listed as members of campus radical organizations and known to the police "red squad" as agitators, are also ready to declare that they had radical leanings before they reached the Midway.

The Student Lecture service, a campus organization, announced yesterday that Ambassador Alexander Troyanovsky of the soviet government had been forced to cancel his addresses scheduled for May 15 and 16 on the Midway. In his place Gov. Eugene Talmadge of Georgia will lecture May 20 on "Americanism vs. NRA-ism."

ANGRY WOMEN SMASH FIXTURES IN KANSAS CAFE

Medicine Lodge, Kas., May 12.—(AP)—The spirit of Carry Nation, hatchet wielding saloon smasher, walked anew today in her home town.

Mrs. J. D. Montgomery, 70, and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Frank Montgomery, swinging hammers, shattered glassware and fixtures in the depot café here last night.

Chief of Police Tom Kenney said the elder woman said that her sons, Frank Montgomery, 33, and Hal Montgomery, 35, had become intoxicated several times on liquor purchased at the café.

Kenney said he had advised "Doc" Egbert, 33, operator of the café, not to file charges against the women.

Intoxicating liquor still is illegal in the state, but since repeal of the eighteenth amendment beer of various degrees of potency has been sold generally.

LA GUARDIA WAVES PUBLIC POWER STICK OVER UTILITY AGAIN

New York, May 12.—[Special.]—Plans for a 45 million dollar municipal power plant, to sell current to all classes of consumers in direct competition with the Consolidated Gas system, were outlined today by Mayor F. H. La Guardia. He announced that he would ask the board of estimate to give him the authority to submit the plans to the federal government and seek a PWA loan.

The statement said plainly that the mayor was putting up to the Consolidated system the alternative of either giving consumers a really substantial rate cut, like the one the system gave to the city itself for municipal purposes, or facing the competition of municipal power.

The figures used by the mayor to support his argument for the construction of the plant showed that current could be sold by the city at 40 per cent less than the Consolidated system sells its power.

ROBBERS SPARE SICK BABY, BUT FINISH HOLDUP

Three robbers yesterday invaded the dry goods store of Samuel Katz at 1923 West 69th street and ordered Katz and Norbert Schmidt, 6200 South Albany avenue, a customer, into the living quarters at the rear of the store, where Mrs. Katz and a nurse were tending Howard, the 3 year old Katz child. "Please wait," begged Katz, "my baby is very sick. I don't care what happens to me, but let my wife go on taking care of him."

The bandits acquiesced, and herded the others into another room where they robbed Katz of $35 and Schmidt of $1.

Russia to Build Airships for Use in the Far East

MOSCOW, May 12.—(AP)—A program of construction of several small semi-rigid airships for use mainly in the far east was announced today by S. Khorkoff, head of the government airship construction department. They will be equipped so they can stay in the air for 50 hours without refueling.

BOY, 14, RUN DOWN AND SERIOUSLY INJURED BY AUTO

Albert Willard, 14 years old, 1800 West 14th street, was seriously injured yesterday afternoon when he was struck by an automobile while crossing the street in front of 1825 Hastings street. Miss Margaret Kenny, 21 years old, 2146 West 13th street, driver of the car, was not held by Marquette police, who investigated, when witnesses said she could not have avoided striking the youth.

The only death recorded in Chicago yesterday was that of Willie Shipp, 30 years old, colored, 4922 Indiana avenue, who died in St. Luke's hospital of injuries incurred when the auto he was driving at high speed crashed into a safety island at Balbo street and Erickson drive in Grant park. Three others were injured.

Including this death the motor traffic toll in Cook county since the first of the year stood at 329. Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 270 had been killed in traffic accidents in Chicago since Jan. 1 and 4,370 injured.

The man who was killed by a taxicab at Drexel boulevard and 55th street Saturday night was identified yesterday at William Reedy, 59 years old, janitor of a building at 5462 Ridgewood court.

LABOR LEADERS WOO UNION AID ON SALES TAX BILL

Attack Foes of Oft-Voted Boost for Relief.

An attempt to swing the legislative influence of Illinois trade unions in favor of the adoption of the Hopkins bill, which would increase the state sales tax from two to three per cent, was made yesterday by State Representative R. G. Soderstrom [Rep., Streator] and Victor A. Olander, president and secretary, respectively, of the Illinois Federation of Labor.

Harry L. Hopkins, federal relief administrator, has refused to allocate further relief funds to Illinois until the state guarantees the $3,000,000 monthly fixed by Hopkins as the state's share of the relief burden. Gov. Horner has insisted that the sales tax measure provides the only feasible means of obtaining the necessary revenue.

Olander, who is a member of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission, and Soderstrom are the authors of a bulletin distributed to every local union in the state, in which the Illinois Workers' alliance and the Illinois Chamber of Commerce are accused of a "strange partnership" in a joint campaign to prevent the enactment of relief legislation in Illinois."

Seen as Final Sales Tax Thrust.

The Soderstrom-Olander bulletin was regarded here and in Springfield as a last minute effort to force the Hopkins sales tax measure through the legislature tomorrow.

Although the Federation of Labor bulletin assailed both the conservative chamber of commerce and the radical Workers' alliance with equal emphasis, it was learned that the principal interest of the labor officials is to hold trade union members within their own organizations and keep them from deserting into the ranks of the radical groups in the present emergency. At the same time it was learned that the Hopkins bill is not approved in principle by the unions, but its adoption favored only to solve the present crisis.

The Workers' alliance, led by Frank Waugh McCullough of Chicago, participated in a "hunger march" on the capital last week and announced then that its members will return tomorrow to object to the passage of the sales tax increase.

Favor Unconstitutional Tax.

The alliance favors a state income tax, which has been pronounced unconstitutional in Illinois, instead of a sales tax increase as proposed in the Hopkins bill. The chamber of commerce is likewise opposed to the Hopkins bill, its legislative committee having claimed that a tightening of regulation on the auditing of merchants' books would eliminate "chiselers" and increase sales tax revenues without any necessary raising of the rate from 2 to 3 per cent.

"One organization calls itself 'radical' and the other wears the label of 'conservative,'" says the bulletin. "The fact is that both are reactionary and neither is showing any concern for the interests of the state and its people in the present emergency. Both are making a political football out of the miseries of more than a million men, women, and children."

When the house convenes tomorrow it will vote for the fourth time on the Hopkins bill. Under that body's unique rules of procedure a roll call may be halted [as has been done repeatedly] when it is apparent that a measure will be defeated. Last week the roll call was halted when it was obvious that the measure would poll only 89 of the 102 votes required for immediate effectiveness as an emergency measure.

Aim Blow at Horner Budget.

It was reported yesterday that the strategy of the Republican opposition to the state's submission to the New Deal relief heads will be an amendment which would continue the present two cent sales tax, but divert half of the revenue to relief for six months. The budget of Gov. Henry Horner, which has not been passed upon, would bear the brunt of the economies required to make up this deficiency in revenue.

With all except a skeleton force of the state relief commission's one time staf of 9,800 employés laid off and relief activities reduced to the distribution of final 6 day food orders to the state's 1,200,000 needy, hope for settlement of the relief crisis hinged on the vote tomorrow of the house of representatives on the sales tax. An extension of a minimum of relief until Wednesday night at the best until the end of the week—has been made possible through the release of $1,288,000 in relief funds earmarked for other purposes.

AIR MAIL 17 YEARS OLD ON WEDNESDAY; OPEN NEW BUILDING

Newark, N. J., May 13.—(AP)—It will be seventeen years on Wednesday, May 15, since Lieut. Torrey Webb roared away from Belmont Park, Long Island, in his army "Jenny" type plane on the first official government air mail run between New York and Washington.

Carrying 350 pounds of mail, Webb covered the distance between Belmont Park and Potomac Park in 2½ hours.

The seventeenth birthday of air mail will be celebrated at Newark airport Wednesday with the opening of the new $500,000 Administration building. City, state and federal officials will also take part in the day's program at that airport.

Amelia Earhart Putnam, famous woman flyer, is expected to dedicate a new amphibian plane. One of the original six army mail flyers, Lieut. Edwin W. Kilgore of Short Hills, N. J., also will take part in the program.

Old Flagship Olympia Carries Manila Battle Flag

Philadelphia, Pa., May 12.—(AP)—The flag that defied the Spanish in the battle of Manila bay flew from Admiral Dewey's old flagship, the Olympia, again today. The old veteran of the sea lay calm and quiet on the back channel at the Philadelphia Navy yard, but armed men marched her deck again in celebration of Dewey day.

Jobless Father Hangs Self Under Elevated Structure

Emil Greifelt, 67 years old, 2616 North Whipple street, committeed suicide yesterday afternoon by hanging himself beneath the Logan Square elevated structure at the rear of 2539 Linden avenue. His son, Walter Greifelt, told police his father had been employed as a laborer for the west parks until recently and that he knew of no reason why his father should take his life.

GEHLBACH ENDS TEST BEGUN BY FLYER COLLINS

New York, May 12.—(AP)—Lee Gehlbach, racing pilot, today finished the job started by the late Jimmy Collins.

LEE GEHLBACH.

Gehlbach concluded the hazardous test flights required by the navy in acceptance of a fighting plane. He took up a sister ship to the one which recently fell to pieces with Collins and put it through the rigorous routine of power dives and acrobatics.

The stubby single seater, with a full fighting load of guns and bombs, came through without harm. Gehlbach, after six hours in the air, put on his coat and went home.

Collins, stunt and test pilot, was killed after taking a ship up from Farmingdale airport, hurtling to earth at 450 miles an hour. A wing crumpled under the strain of the 10,000 foot power dive.

KILLED IN ELEVATOR SHAFT FALL.

William Meniman, 60 years old, 4239 Broadway, was killed yesterday morning when he fell six floors down the elevator shaft in the Linotype building, 531 Plymouth court, where he was a watchman.

WOMEN SCORN SERVANT JOBS; PREFER RELIEF

Offers Up to $15 a Week Coldly Rejected.

North shore housewives are discovering a pronounced shortage in domestic help because relief clients refuse to leave the dole and accept wages prevailing in this class of work, a survey of employment agencies disclosed yesterday. Similar complaints have been made by south shore families.

Content to draw their regular allotment of orders for food, clothing, and shelter, housemaids are reported to be refusing wages which in many instances range as high as $15 a week and carfare. The average weekly pay of such help, according to the agency heads, is about $10.

Could Find Places for 800.

In one case, that of the Lee Employment Agency of Evanston, Mrs. Geraldine Lee, the manager, said she has been unable to fill the 400 applications for domestic help now on file.

"In fact, if I could get them," said Mrs. Lee, "I could find places for 800 in this line of work. The great majority of applications are for white girls, but when I tell girls of the jobs they turn them down. They are all on relief, and they would rather stay there than accept money which, they insist, does not provide a living wage.

"For several days I have been on the telephone steadily trying to fill a call for a maid at $12 a week. But the girls say they are not interested."

Mrs. Zephyr Johnson, head of an employment agency in Wilmette, told a similar story. With a great demand for white girls in domestic employment, there is no one, she said, who wants to leave relief.

Relief Supervisor Denies Charges.

While most of the persons applying for such work through employment agencies are on relief in north shore and northwest suburbs, the agency heads reported, many are from Chicago.

The reports from the agencies brought a denial from Mrs. Corinne Buford, supervisor of the relief station at Evanston. Mrs. Buford said she had found few relief clients who would not be glad to take jobs at reasonable wages, although some married women on relief might wish not to leave their families to enter service as domestics.

Nineteen men on relief in Lake county who refused a job at 35 cents an hour on the Milwaukee railroad have until today to change their minds before facing prosecution for failure to support their families or for accepting relief when it is unnecessary.

State's Attorney Charles E. Mason notified all poormasters to report for prosecution any persons on relief who refuse proffered jobs.

AIRLINE PASSENGER TRAFIC IN CHICAGO REACHES NEW PEAK

During April, for the second consecutive month, arrivals and departures of passengers on scheduled airlines at Chicago airport surpassed all previous records. In that period 15,739 persons either began or ended flights over the nation's airways in this city.

In March, the best previous month in the history of scheduled airline passenger, express and mail operations at Chicago, 12,160 passengers started or ended air trips here. During that month a total of 45,945 pounds of express passed through the field.

United Air Lines yesterday commemorated nine years of scheduled air service between Chicago and Kansas City. The first flight was made on May 12, 1926, in a single motored plane. Yesterday Stewardess Edith Fee supervised the painting of nine chevrons on the propeller of a Boeing twin-motored plane at the Chicago airport as a symbol of the nine years' service in which planes of the line have flown 17,000,000 air miles.

Rescue Boat in Distress on Lake Off Wilmette

The 35 foot cabin cruiser Maravade, owned by A. S. Van Deusen of Wilmette, sent out distress signals last night after it became disabled three miles out in the lake off Wilmette. As the boat drifted shoreward a coast guard crew under command of Chief Boatswain's Mate John Clark went to the rescue and towed it safely into Wilmette harbor. Five persons were aboard. A broken fuel pump, it was reported, caused the engine of the boat to stall.

BIDWILL FACES EFFORT TO TAKE HIS SENATE SEAT

River Forest Mayor in the Contest for Post.

BY PERCY WOOD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., May 12.—[Special.]—The unseating of a Republican state senator, Arthur J. Bidwill of River Forest, will be recommended by the Democratic controled elections subcommittee this week, according to word circulating here. Accompanying the report was an alleged inside story of why Bidwill's scalp is being sought. And in this picture was placed Richard Nash, Democratic power in River Forest and brother of Patrick A. Nash, Cook county Democratic chairman.

Bidwill was declared elected from the Seventh senatorial district last November over his Democratic opponent, Charles F. Baumrucker, loop jeweler and mayor of River Forest. Unofficial returns gave Bidwill a lead of 779 votes over Baumrucker. This was cut to 149 by the canvassing board.

Contest on File.

Baumrucker filed a contest shortly after the legislature convened last January and a subcommittee headed by Senator Carl Behrman [Dem., Peoria] has had several hearings, some in Chicago.

The ruling party had more than a simple majority on the subcommittee. Besides Behrman, Democrats John Broderick, Patrick J. Carroll, and John M. Lee, all of Chicago, were named by Peter P. Kielminski [Dem., Chicago], chairman of the elections committee. The only Republican was Richard J. Barr of Joliet, dean of the senate.

Barr has notified the Republican caucus that the four Democrats on the subcommittee have signed a report declaring Baumrucker defeated Bidwill by 69 votes. Barr told the caucus this is an highly unjust conclusion, declaring that the committee allowed testimony to be given about several Baumrucker precincts, but refused the right to Bidwill to refute it by evidence and also denied the plea of his attorney, John F. Tyrrell of Chicago, that the ballot boxes be opened and a complete recount made as the Supreme court has ruled proper in other cases.

Refuses to Sign Report.

Barr refused to sign the report and has prepared a minority report which will be presented to Kielminski when the elections committee receives the subcommittee's findings Wednesday. Meantime, a Republican caucus Tuesday is expected to draft a report to accompany Barr's which will be ready for submission to the whole senate as the stand of the entire minority should the elections committee decide to concur in the subcommittee's report and put the matter before the senate on Wednesday.

A dramatic roll call will be had when the Democrats try for a vote on unseating Bidwill in favor of Baumrucker. The Republicans, under the direction of Earl B. Searcy of Springfield, floor leader, will battle for Bidwill and some of them may relate the political gossip concerning the contest which has been common talk on the senate floor for months, but has never come out in the open.

Friend of Nash.

This gossip, if related, would be to the general effect that Bidwill's friends have been uneasy ever since the opening of the session. They heard then that Baumrucker was a close friend of Richard Nash and that the latter's influence with his brother Pat, the county chairman, might be reflected in the contest.

The Republicans are expected to link Barr's charge that Bidwill was not allowed to introduce evidence which might be beneficial to him, with the Nash gossip. And Senator Bidwill will undoubtedly have something to say about it himself.

Joyce Faulkner, age 2, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Faulkner, 9944 Prospect avenue, makes friends with Gov. J. W. Troy of Alaska on his arrival in Chicago en route from Washington, D. C., to San Diego, Cal.

Plan Alaska Exhibit

Gov. John W. Troy of Alaska left Chicago yesterday by United Air Lines plane for San Diego, Cal., where he will plan an Alaskan exhibit for the world's fair there this summer. Gov. Troy arrived in the city Saturday from Washington, where he conferred with the President on many territorial problems, particularly the proposed International highway, which the government plans to construct from the Yukon to British Columbia, connecting there with the Pacific highway.

RICHBERG MEETS AUTO INDUSTRY LEADERS IN N. Y.

Vote at Toledo Tonight on Ending Strike.

New York, May 12.—[Special.]—Although he refused to comment tonight, Donald R. Richberg, administrator of the NRA, conferred with leading men of the automobile industry, presumably in an effort to end strikes that have kept 33,000 General Motors employés idle for the last two weeks. Alfred P. Sloan Jr., president of G. M. C., is in New York and it was reported Richberg had an appointment with him.

Indicative of the New Dealers' desire for early settlement of the labor controversy that threatens to tie up the entire automotive industry was the fact that Richberg flew here from Washington on the eve of a canvass at Toledo, O., when striking Chevrolet employés will decide whether or not to accept the company's terms and return to work.

Settlement Vote Tonight.

Toledo, O., May 12.—(AP)—A government supervised conference between executives and union representatives of the Toledo Chevrolet plant ended today. A peace proposal was drafted for presentation to the union membership.

The United Automobile Workers' Federal union, which called a strike in the transmission plant April 23, will vote to accept or reject the proposal at a special meeting. The strike forced approximately 33,000 General Motors employés out of work in various parts of the country.

Edward F. McGrady, assistant secretary of labor, emerged from the conference room and issued this statement:

F. J. Dillon, American Federation of Labor organizer, said he would commend the plan to every auto worker and union.

PUSH INQUIRY ON CAR THEFT CHASE ACCIDENT DEATH

Police last night were continuing their investigation of three youthful automobile thieves arrested Saturday night after a shooting in which a bystander, Frank Strechmuller, 26 years old, 2727 Cuyler avenue, Berwyn, was fatally wounded.

Strechmuller, who was the owner of a beauty parlor at 2747 South Ridgeland avenue, Berwyn, was shot as he walked with his wife, Helen, and two friends, toward a theater at 63d street and Lowe avenue. He accidentally stepped into the line of fire of Policemen James Doherty and Joseph Luther, detectives from the Englewood police station assigned to stolen automobile cases.

The policemen a few minutes earlier had discovered three youths tampering with an automobile belonging to Joseph Mikota, 1503 Wesley avenue, Berwyn, which had been parked in front of 6420 Lowe avenue. Both policemen fired several times when the three attempted to flee. The suspects were identified as George Mathys, 16 years old, 5518 Normal avenue; Richard Hewitt, 15 years old, 6414 Lowe avenue, and Robert Tucker, 16 years old, 7755 Loomis boulevard.

'TYPICAL MOTHER OF 1935' GIVEN A SILVER MEDAL

Elder Mrs. Roosevelt Does the Presenting.

New York, May 12.—(AP)—Mrs. James Roosevelt, mother of the President, presented a silver medal today to Mrs. Fletcher M. Johnson of Irvington, N. Y., selected by the Golden Rule foundation as the "typical American mother for 1935."

Mrs. Johnson, who formerly lived in Gainesville, Ga., accepted the medal "not for myself alone but for millions of American mothers who are making our land a great nation."

A small, slight woman in a lavender dress and black straw hat, Mrs. Johnson seemed unwearied by the round of church-going, picture-taking, and speech-making of her rôle. She smiled and said she was "enjoying it very much."

Charles V. Vickery, president of the foundation, said that in Mrs. Johnson's case the word "typical" should be changed to "ideal," since "the typical mother might require cocktails."

Mrs. Johnson was formerly dean of women at Wesleyan college, Macon, Ga. She is the mother of Hammond Johnson of Gainesville; Edward Johnson of Ocala, Fla.; Fletcher Johnson of Seneca, S. C., Mrs. William Dunbar of Augusta, Ga., Douglas Johnson and the late Mrs. Marion Gilchrist of Irvington, and she has 14 grandchildren.

Dedicate Church to Mothers.

Pittsburgh, Pa., May 12.—(AP)—A memorial to the mothers of the donors, the $4,000,000 East Liberty Presbyterian church, the gift of the late Richard B. Mellon and his wife, was formally dedicated today.

Before a congregation that filled the 1,750 pew seats and overflowed into the chapel and numerous rooms, Richard King Mellon, son of the donors and nephew of Andrew W. Mellon, accepted the hand wrought key from the architect and turned it over to the church building committee.

Honor War Mothers.

Washington, D. C., May 12.—[Special.]—Harry H. Woodring, assistant secretary of war, was the principal speaker at services held today for the American War Mothers in Arlington amphitheater.

"In these critical times," he said, "I can think of nothing so important as service. When I speak of service, I mean that which recognizes that a man is his brother's keeper; that he has obligations to his friends, his community, and mankind in general; that life is not all self. The foundation is usually his to lay, but the finished structure he rarely sees. Unselfish service exercised in its fullest sense would set at rest the problems of the world."

Gunman Refuses to Halt for Policeman and Is Shot

Louis Bosh, 18 years old, 254 West 46th street, gunman and alleged automobile thief, was wounded in the left arm and captured early today at 46th and Honore streets by Policeman John Leahy of the New City station. A few minutes earlier Bosh had fired his pistol at Joseph Kartola, 4454 South Wood street, when the latter ordered him to get away from the Kartola automobile. The car was parked in front of Kartola's home and the owner telephoned the police for help. Leahy pursued and shot at Bosh when he disobeyed an order to surrender.

MOTHER'S DAY MARKS 100TH BIRTHDAY FOR WOMAN IN ROBINSON

Robinson, Ill., May 12.—[Special.]—Mother's day held a greater meaning for "Aunt Mary" Ducommon who celebrated her 100th birthday yesterday at her farm home six miles south of here. She came to Illinois from Lancaster, Pa., at the age of 16 years in a covered wagon. A family dinner attended by two daughters and her only grandchild was held at noon and hundreds of friends and relatives visited her in the afternoon.

CITY'S MOTHERS GET TRADITIONAL TRIBUTES OF DAY

Chicago mothers yesterday received the traditional homage of Mother's day services in churches, clubs, and lodges. Numerous teas and musical programs with mothers as honor guests were given by young people's organizations throughout the city. As usual flowers played an important rôle in the tributes and special displays were arranged in the Garfield park, Lincoln park, and Washington park conservatories. Large crowds were reported in the conservatories from the 8 o'clock opening hour to closing time at 6 p. m. Old fashioned garden and window varieties were featured in the flower exhibits.

WIND WRECKS 30 KENTUCKY BARNS; HOUSES DAMAGED

Maysville, Ky., May 12.—(AP)—More than 30 barns were destroyed or unroofed, houses were damaged, and hundreds of trees blown down by a violent electrical and wind storm which swept Mason and Fleming counties late today.

The loss was estimated at $25,000, but was expected to go higher when crippled lines of communication to outlying rural communities are repaired.

Farmers also feared heavy damage to crops from hail and floods.

National Hospital Day Takes 5,000 to Hines

Five thousand visitors toured the grounds and buildings of the Edward Hines Jr. Memorial hospital yesterday as National Hospital day was observed there and in other hospitals of the city. Speakers of the day were Dr. W. E. Kendall, chief medical officer of the hospital, James P. Ringley, past commander of the Illinois department of American Legion, and Matt J. Murphy, commander of the Cook county council of the Legion. Col. Hugh Scott, commandant of the hospital, welcomed guests.

Illinois Socialists Change Party Name to Federated

Decatur, Ill., May 12.—(AP)—At a state convention, attended by several national leaders, the Socialists of Illinois today proposed a new policy in an effort to draw farmer, labor, and other discontented groups together to make their organization a third party contender. The state Illinois Socialists voted to discard the "Socialist" label and become a "federated party."

KING AND QUEEN RIDE THROUGH LONDON'S SLUMS

Poor Swarm Alongside Royal Limousine.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 12.—King George and Queen Mary this afternoon paid a surprise jubilee visit to the poverty stricken districts of east end London. Accompanied by their granddaughter, little Princess Elizabeth, they toured the narrow, congested streets of Chinatown, the Limehouse, Poplar, Shoreditch, Whitechapel, and Stepney. Everywhere they were accorded a riotous welcome.

Ragged and barefooted children swarmed alongside the royal limousine. Several attempted to jump on the running board, but were hauled off by flustered fathers and mothers, and soundly cuffed for their impudence.

Chinese Cheer the King.

Bland Chinese from the chop suey shops in Limehouse joined laborers, lascars, colored men from the docks and the unemployed on street corners to cheer the king and queen.

Princess Elizabeth became excited. She hopped from one side of the car to the other and called her grandparents' attention to the antics of the children.

Jubilee thanksgiving services were held throughout the country today. Addressing 5,000 Britons in an open air service at Aldershot David Lloyd George, war time prime minister, drew a contrast between the republican dictatorships abroad and the democratic monarchy of Great Britain.

Tribute to Monarchy.

"Today we are witnessing a strange spectacle of republican dictatorships stamping out freedom when a great monarchy is the shield and protector of freedom throughout a great empire which has been engaged in extending the boundaries of freedom from decade to decade," he said.

"Never since the days of King Arthur has there been a king who has devoted himself to the people more than King George. No republic is making such liberal provisions for its people as those undertaken by the state during King George's reign."

Two Pilots Die as Cuban Plane Crashes and Burns

HAVANA, May 12.—(AP)—A Cuban army plane crashed at San José de las Lajas, Havana province, and burned today, killing two pilots. The victims were Lieuts. Miguel Royo and Lucas Brihuelas, the latter considered one of the army's best.

DELAY MOVING CCC; WORK AT BLACK HAWK PARK MAY BE FINISHED

Rock Island, Ill., May 12.—[Special.]—Work on several uncompleted buildings in Black Hawk state park here, which it was feared would be left unfinished by CCC company No. 1674, which is to move to Camp Lake Decatur at Decatur, Ill., had a chance today of being carried through.

Because more time was needed to complete barracks at the new camp, the moving date was set back two weeks. The latest order is to move the camp on May 28.

W. Sam Bunker, superintendent of the camp, stated today that if good weather continued and the work is speeded, the structures now under construction may be finished. The floors have been poured in the museum and refectory buildings. The exteriors are practically finished.

CHICAGO BRITISH JOIN IN ST. JAMES JUBILEE SERVICE

Prayer and thanksgiving services commemorating the jubilee of King George V. were held yesterday at St. James Episcopal church, North Wabash avenue and Huron street, with consuls of 22 nations participating.

The service was patterned after the royal silver jubilee service held in St. Paul's cathedral in London last Monday. British and Canadian patriotic organizations were represented and both British and American color guards marched in the opening procession, following a concert in front of the church by the band of Post No. 61, Canadian Veterans. Dr. Duncan H. Browne, pastor, made the anniversary address. Lewis Bernays, British consul general, headed the consuls present.

Others participating included Charles G. Dawes, former ambassador to Great Britain; Maj. Gen. Frank R. McCoy, representing the United States army; Dr. Charles G. Goodspeed of the University of Chicago, and Dr. Frederick C. Grant, president of Seabury-Western seminary.

TAVERN THROATS STAY DRY; SILVER FOX HALTS BEER

John Tyskwic, owner and bartender of a tavern at 100 North 11th avenue, Melrose Park, added a new chapter to the literature of alcoholic zoölogy last night when he beheld a silver fox sitting on top of a barrel of beer.

The barrel was in John's cellar, which had been flooded by the rains yesterday morning. He had opened the cellar windows to let in some air, hoping that this would aid in evaporating the water.

Beer business was good and John Tyskwic went into the cellar to tap a barrel of beer that was well settled down in the deluge. When he approached it the silver fox snapped at him. No dogs or horses were handy to help him and John retreated to the bar upstairs.

"No beer," he informed the thirsty patrons. "You'll have to take highballs."

of Oahu Island precariously close to shore at high speed and in thick darkness the dreadnaughts steamed into Pearl Harbor this morning, with the flagship Pennsylvania at their head, to end the first phase of the ambitious operations.

Lines of army planes from Luke and Wheeler fields darted out and began a simulated search for submarines which the big ships were dodging.

Secrecy "Effective."

Naval officers, claiming they had been in ignorance of the fleet's whereabouts because of the stern censorship imposed by Admiral Reeves, said the secrecy had been one of the most important feats of naval operations in the history of peacetime maneuvers.

"Maneuvers heretofore," they said, "had been a sort of glorified publicity stunt. Everybody knew where the ships were and what they were doing. There was no real atmosphere of warfare. But believe us, we got it this time."

Wartime conditions prevailed at Pearl Harbor and adjacent Fort Kamehameha. Cameras were barred. Soldiers paced the beaches near the harbor mouth. A tugboat hired to take newsmen and photographers out to the fleet was warned to keep one and a half miles away.

It was expected, however, that several thousand officers and men would be given shore leave here and that the ships would put to sea again perhaps by Tuesday, after which the entire fleet might return here later this month and attempt mass docking in Pearl Harbor as an experiment.

Await "Next Phase."

Washington, D. C., May 12.—(AP)—Admiral William H. Standley, chief of naval operations, said today the 42 warships which arrived at Pearl Harbor today would remain there until "the next phase" of the maneuvers. Observers expected the climax of the six weeks of war games later in the month, when both Standley and Henry L. Roosevelt, assistant secretary of the navy, will be present.

Roosevelt, now on the west coast, will sail from San Diego on May 18 aboard the heavy cruiser Houston. Standley, who will leave Washington Tuesday night, will board the light cruiser Memphis at San Diego on May 23. Neither warship has participated in the maneuvers thus far.

NANKING'S WAR ON COMMUNISTS DRAINS TREASURY

Mounting Military Costs Cause Crisis in China.

BY JOHN POWELL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, May 12.—China's military expenditures, which amounted to about half the treasury's income in 1933, when the Nanking government for the first time balanced its budget, have increased so rapidly that a balanced budget has since been impossible to maintain, according to reports of the country's financial status.

Dr. H. H. Kung, finance minister, is scheduled to publish a financial statement for 1934 together with the present year's budget estimates this week. Hence, the exact figures are not yet available. Nevertheless, forecasts in Chinese papers indicate last year's deficit will probably be increased this year, largely due to the increased military expenditures resulting from the war against the communists hordes. This is reported to have absorbed approximately 375 million silver dollars, an increase of about 50 million silver dollars over the preceding year.

Income Also Increases.

The government's financial statement for last year shows increases in both income and expenditures of more than 100 million silver dollars over the preceding year. Both amounts total more than 800,000,000 silver dollars.

The increased expenditures were necessitated by governmental borrowing of approximately 180 million silver dollars, including 9 million silver dollars, proceeds from the cotton and wheat loan obtained from America.

As a result of the adverse balance, Kung has recommended a heavy reduction everywhere excepting in education and reconstruction. According to Chinese papers, a considerable portion of Kung's report will be devoted to the currency crisis arising from the American silver purchase policy.

The finance minister charged that the country's economic deterioration has been most pronounced in the last six months while foreign trade decreased between 13 and 18 per cent from the previous year's total. The value of governmental and industrial securities, as well as land values, shrunk from 10 to 15 per cent, causing widespread business failures and unemployment.

See Inflation on the Way.

Kung stated, however, that the country's financial situation is determined primarily by military and debt expenditures. Although not concerned with the finance ministry's reports, the local Japanese newspaper, the Mai Nichi, published an exhaustive survey of Nanking finances. It said that "inflation is already on the way to China, made inevitable by the further development of the American silver policy."

The Japanese paper declared that inflation of Chinese currency is inevitable as a means of restoring the stability of domestic bonds, commerce, and trade.

CAMPUS DEATH JURY DELIBERATING 51 HRS. LOCKED UP FOR NIGHT

San Jose, Cal., May 12.—(AP)—Weary jurors deliberating the fate of David A. Lamson as the alleged slayer of his pretty young wife were locked up for the night at 8:45 o'clock, apparently deadlocked. The jury had had the case fifty-one hours.

The request to be locked up for the night was taken to indicate there was no change in voting since members of the jury appeared before Superior Judge R. R. Syer at noon and asked to be discharged as unable to agree. Judge Syer ordered further deliberations.

Judge Syer so acted despite the statement of one member that it "would be impossible to change certain votes."

Lamson had been brought into the courtroom.

The jury received the case at 5:30 p. m. Friday. To the time it announced it had been unable to reach a verdict it had deliberated approximately fifteen hours. It was believed that should the jury disagree no third trial would be held.

Lamson is charged with beating Allene Thorpe Lamson, formerly of Lamar, Mo., to death with a piece of iron pipe on Memorial day of 1933 in their home on the campus of Stanford university.

FIVE CONVICTS SEIZE WEAPONS, ESCAPE PRISON

Frankfort, Ky., May 12.—(AP)—Locking guards in a vault and stealing submachine guns and other weapons from the arsenal, five convicts escaped from the state reformatory here today.

The convicts escaped through the main entrance of the reformatory after forcing Curtis Stemper, a guard, to relinquish the key. One slugged another guard, Robert Wells, with a pistol.

Police traced them toward Spring Station, in an adjoining county, where they abandoned the car in which they fled. From there the five continued in two other cars they forced motorists to surrender.

Baptizing Minister's Hand Slips and Convert Drowns

Houston, Tex., May 12.—(AP)—Wesley Carter, 26, colored, went to Buffalo bayou today to be baptized, but the minister's hand slipped and Carter drowned. Police said Carter was washed out of the grip of the Rev. Melvin Griffin of the colored Spiritualist temple and drawn into a whirlpool of the stream, which had risen and become swift after recent rains.

FEAR DISORDERS IN FILIPINO VOTE ON FREEDOM BILL

Search Trucks for Arms Outside Manila.

MANILA, P. I., May 13 [Monday].—(AP)—Continuing rumors of impending violence kept the Philippine constabulary on the jump today, the eve of the plebiscite in which Filipinos will go to the polls and accept or reject the American offer of independence.

Automobile trucks were halted on the outskirts of Manila and elsewhere and searched for arms. Public meetings were banned in Bulacan province, one of the scenes of disorder in the recent Sakdalista uprisings which resulted in 60 persons being slain. Interior Secretary Teofilo Sison announced all polling places would be guarded tomorrow.

Women's First Vote.

Observers said some of the 200,000 women registered for their first votes would remain away from the polls for fear of violence.

Although a light vote was predicted, authorities everywhere expressed confidence that the Filipinos would ballot overwhelmingly in favor of independence ten years hence and acceptance of a commonwealth constitution to serve as a foundation of government during the transitional period.

Out of a population of about 14,000,000 in the islands, the registration aggregated only 1,700,000. Most observers predicted about half the registrants would cast ballots.

Two Groups Opposed.

The only organized opposition to the commonwealth plan was expected from the Sakdalistas, who want immediate independence, but who reputedly can muster no more than 20,000 votes, and from the sub-province of Lanao on Mindanao island, inhabited largely by Moros, who are Mohammedans, who claim the commonwealth system would be unfair to them.

Acting Gov. Gen. Joseph R. Hayden visited Bulacan province and learned 90 persons, suspected of being Sakdalistas, had been arrested when found assembled in a cave. They were released when they proved they were members of a religious group and had gathered in the cave because public meetings were prohibited.

SPECIAL CELL FOR TED COLE MAKES EVERY MOVE LOUD

Oklahoma City, Okla., May 12.—(AP)—If Ted Cole saws out of the county jail now the escape itself will be broadcast.

Young Cole, held on federal charges, has made himself more or less of a nuisance through his attempts to escape. He now has a special cell with an outside cage of tool-proof metal and a loud speaker. The sound of his least movement will be amplified throughout the jail.

"If Cole turns over," said the man who installed the loud speaker, "it will make him sound like a steel barrel falling downstairs.

"If he sighs, that will sound like the wind in the woods. If he saws, that will sound like sawing."

He Promises to Peer in No More Elevator Shafts

Spokane, Wash., May 12.—(AP)—Milford Knapp, 21, made a vow in the hospital today. He poked his head into an elevator shaft in a warehouse just in time to have the slow freight elevator pin his neck against a gate. With one hand he reached inside for the button and shut off the current. But he couldn't reach the "up" button and remained trapped until fellow employés found him.

Two Mexicans Are Killed Over Politics; Others Hurt

JAP INFLUENCE IN SIAM GROWS; ALARMS BRITAIN

Imports Double; Political Ties Closer.

BANGKOK, Siam, May 12.—(AP)—Japanese influence has spread in Siam at a rate so alarming to western powers, it was learned today, that diplomatic representatives have made many inquiries at government offices.

The government denied officially that Siam was being swung intentionally into Tokio's orbit, but there appeared little doubt in the mind of the average Siamese that Japan now was Siam's "most favored nation."

Say Just "Close Friends."

Sir Josiah Crosby, British minister, has had several long conversations with Siamese officials and each time he has been assured no step toward closer political ties with Japan has been made or is contemplated.

Crosby was told Siam and Japan are close friends only geographically. Officials intimated Siam is just as eager as foreigners to keep this country independent.

But an intimate relationship between Siam and Japan is becoming more and more an established fact. Economically, commercially, and culturally the ties are being extended.

Rumor Special Treaty.

Siam's imports of Japanese goods have more than doubled during the last year. There are insistent reports Siam has signed some sort of special treaty with Japan.

Foreign quarters, disturbed by the signs of a closer understanding between Siam and Tokio, fear this nation may become a Japanese outpost.

Siam is so situated the British empire requires it be free and independent, under the benevolent influence of western nations. Should it become dominated by the Japanese, authorities said, British imperial policy would have to be revised.

DRAW STATE PLAN FOR CONGRESS ST. TRAFIC ARTERY

An Elevation in Part; Cost $21,260,000.

BY HAL FOUST.

The Illinois highway department has developed a tentative plan for the construction of a main trafic artery in Congress street such as was proposed in 1908 by the late Daniel H. Burnham and such as has since been advocated by business and civic groups immediately west and southwest of the loop. A copy of the report, sent by Gov. Horner, has been received by city officials.

The scheme calls for an elevated highway from Canal street over Clinton, Jefferson, Des Plaines and Halsted streets. Thereafter west to Columbus park, pavements would be at normal street level except where depressed to pass under trestles carrying north and south thoroughfares.

Cost Put at $21,260,000.

The entire improvement, seven miles long and including a new bridge over the Chicago river to utilize a vehicular passageway through the postoffice, is estimated to cost $21,260,000.

The state's proposal, prepared by Charles E. De Leuw, assistant chief highway engineer, calls for a right of way 200 feet wide. In the center would be two forty foot lanes for express purposes separated by a ten foot esplanade. On each side of the express lanes would be a twenty foot parkway and then a twenty foot pavement for serving abutting property.

Plan Grade Separations.

West of Halsted street, fourteen north and south thoroughfares, mainly street car carriers, would be provided with overhead grade separations, as follows: Racine avenue, Ashland avenue, Paulina street, Wood Damen avenue, Western avenue, street, Ogden avenue, Pulaski road, Sacramento boulevard, Kedzie avenue, Homan avenue, Cicero avenue, Independence boulevard and 5th avenue.

Thirty-five north and south streets would dead end at Congress street. North and south bound vehicular trafic would be detoured. Pedestrians would likewise have to detour or take their chances running through a continuous flow of east and west trafic.

At eight grade crossings between the river and Columbus park, pedestrians would receive what protection is afforded by trafic lights.

The grade crossings called for in the plans would be at Canal, Morgan and Loomis streets, at Oakley boulevard, and at California, Central Park, Kostner, Laramie and Central avenues. These crossings would be the only obstructions to continuous flow of trafic in the express lanes.

Financing Plan Unsettled.

No definite scheme for financing the project is proposed in the state's report, although it is intimated that Springfield considers joint use of city, county, and state funds with the possible assistance of federal money if the delays for condemnation would not preclude the job as a work relief project. The report recommends conferences between the three local governmental units to agree upon a budget.

Because of the active campaign in behalf of Congress street by those with direct personal interests, it is not unlikely that this will take precedence in construction over a west side elevated highway. With a measure of congestion relief for the west side from the surface development, the northwest side might be the first section of the city to receive an elevated highway. Gov. Horner last week directed State Highway Engineer Lieberman to prepare preliminary plans for such a structure.

OFFICIALS ACT TO KEEP EVANSTON SLAYER IN PRISON

Evanston officials last night were seeking to learn if they have any legal means of keeping Paul Asbury Porter in the Joliet penitentiary where he was sent in 1918 for the murder of Detective Sergeant James Shea. Porter's sentence of life imprisonment was commuted by Former Governor Emmerson on his last day in office to expire on Thursday of this week. He acted on the recommendation of the board of pardons and paroles.

"Mayor Bartlett has asked me to look up the records of the case," declared Corporation Counsel William Lister. "I helped prosecute Porter, and it's my recollection he was sent to an insane asylum after he pleaded guilty. Apparently he was later adjudged sane and sent to Joliet to serve his sentence. He should not be permitted to be at large."

At the time of Porter's commutation of sentence, Mayor Bartlett, Lister, and Chief of Police William O. Freeman urged no clemency. Porter, formerly of Mount Pleasant, Ia., was arrested in an Evanston clothing store while attempting to pass a bogus check. While attempting to escape he shot and killed Sergt. Shea.

LIBERTY LEAGUE BACKS EXTENSION OF NRA ONE YEAR

Says Longer Period Is Trick to Foil Court.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 12.—[Special.]—The American Liberty league, the nonpartisan organization created to curb radicalism and excesses in government, tonight declared itself for one year extension of the National Recovery administration and against the two year extension plan of the Roosevelt administration.

The league indorsed the resolution, introduced by Senator Bennett Champ Clark [Dem., Mo.], providing for extension of the NRA in its present form, until April 1, 1936, as against the two year extension bill of Senator Pat Harrison [Dem., Miss.]. The league declared the Clark resolution is the most feasible method of rescuing American business from a quicksand of burocracy and visionary experimentation.

Avoids Court Decision.

"Commendation is due to the senate finance committee, which voted out the resolution of Senator Clark rather than the administration bill of Senator Harrison," the league said. "The bill has all the earmarks of a tricky attempt to avoid a definite determination of the constitutional validity of the recovery act through a decision of the Supreme court.

"The shifting of the legal foundation of the NRA might permit its continuance, following an adverse decision, until new test cases could be advanced through successive steps to the highest court.

"The Clark resolution, aside from its advantages, is free from any attempt to prevent the courts of the nation from fulfilling their constitutional duty of passing upon the validity of the legislation."

Makes Test Certain.

The league lashed the administration for its effort to avoid an impending unfavorable decision in a recent case by dropping the proceedings.

"After more than two years of experimentation it is time to find out whether or not many of the projects and policies adopted can stand the test of constitutionality in the Supreme court," the league statement continued. "The Clark resolution makes such a test certain, while the administration makes it possible to harass the American people with unwaranted and unconstitutional burocratic interference for a considerable period in the future."

ROOSEVELT BACK TO FIND FLOOD OF BONUS WIRES

Takes Advisers on 2 Day Fishing Jaunt.

"confirm" some of the "doubtful" Patman voters in their ballots, however. Lewis, who voted for the Patman bill, said he was under "contract" because of campaign pledges to vote to override a veto but believed a veto would be sustained nevertheless.

He took the position that the expressions by these two high administration officials were designed to allay the fears of the banks of the country and thus prevent any contraction of credit.

Expect Vinson Bill to Revive.

Other Democratic senators said they had known right along of Jones' belief that the bonus should be disposed of at once as a political issue, and that officials high in the administration other than Eccles shared this opinion. Their dilemma, it was said, lay in the fact that another veterans' issue of equal political significance would immediately supplant the bonus, namely general pensions for veterans.

Regardless of the President's probable veto of the Patman bill or a sustaining vote by the senate, the bonus issue is expected to bob up again in the form of a revived Vinson bill, to pay the bonus with sound treasury dollars. Advocates of the Vinson measure believe they can pass that over a veto. Regardless of its recent defeat in the senate, they believe it is six to eight votes stronger than the Patman plan on a motion to override.

The Patman bonus bill, if it were to become law, would not permanently increase the volume of money in circulation, but would greatly enlarge bank deposits and would lay the basis for a huge expansion of credit on top of the already heavy foundations, according to bankers and economists.

Bankers pointed out that, under our banking system, there remains in circulation only as much currency and coin as is needed for the 10 per cent of the nation's business conducted in cash. Any surplus above this quickly is deposited in banks, which in turn carry the extra currency to the federal reserve banks, receiving therefor deposit credits, which provide them with reserves.

If 2 billion dollars of "greenbacks" were to be issued to veterans, as provided for in the Patman bill, the additional currency probably would remain outstanding only a short time. Some veterans would at once deposit their bonuses with banks, while others would spend the money and it would be deposited by the merchants who received it.

The first effect, therefore, would be an increase approaching 2 billion dollars in the total of bank deposits. The banks would find themselves with more "till money" on hand than was needed in the ordinary course of their business and deposit it with the federal reserve banks.

GETS SALES TAX LIENS AGAINST 250 MERCHANTS

New York, May 12.—[Special.]—Controler Frank Taylor announced today he had ordered warants to be issued against 250 shopkeepers who have failed to pay the sales tax they collected from the public. These warants have the effect of court judgments and become a lien against the property of the merchant or shopkeeper.

They are for the tax due, plus the statutory penalties and the cost of executing the warants. The controler did not make public the names of the 250 persons named in the warants. He stated that they were persons who had filed reports of the sums due, but "either neglected or wilfully failed to pay the sales tax they collected from the public."

Spanish War Vets Back Patman Bonus Measure

Members of the Ex-Soldiers' league and the 8th Army Corps association, made up of veterans of the Spanish-American war and of the occupation of the Pacific islands, have endorsed the Patman bonus bill, according to George S. Geis, past national president of both organizations, which have headquarters at 127 North Dearborn street. Geis predicted yesterday a coalition of former soldiers, farmers and workers under Father Coughlin and Senator Huey Long to defeat President Roosevelt if he vetoes the Patman bill.

No, gentlemen, The WELLINGTON INSTITUTE did not grow this head of hair on the bald head.

Good head of hair. Bald. Hair restored?

To claim that we did, would be to challenge your intelligence. It is a trick picture, made to show the possibilities of trick pictures.

We believe that modern scalp treatment, properly given, is so splendid in its results in saving the hair and restoring the scalp to its fullest hair growing possibilities, that silly exaggeration or misrepresentation is not necessary in order to interest men in having it taken care of. It would not appeal to us as good ethics or even good business.

For twelve years our service has appealed to the conservative business man as highly satisfactory in saving the hair and restoring the scalp to its natural hair growing health.

Without doubt many have been kept from taking treatment because of seeing unjustified claims of miraculous hair production. As a matter of good judgment, however, thoughtful men are proving that baldness and shabby hair are on their way out through preventive treatment. It is no joke to find your hair thinning. It is demanding attention as much as do decaying teeth.

To Save Your Hair You Should Take Treatment for

FALLING HAIR, DANDRUFF, ITCHING SCALP, DRY OR OILY HAIR

We Will Begin Saving Your Hair at Our Own Expense

It will be our pleasure to give you, immediately upon presentation of this announcement, an exhaustive scientific examination of your hair and scalp. Its condition will be explained in fullest detail.

Then if you wish we will have you take our

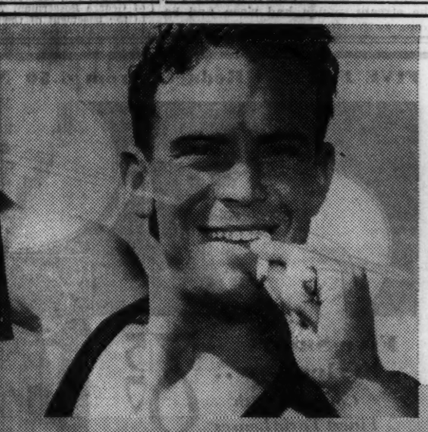
ATHLETES SAY:
"THEY DON'T GET YOUR WIND!"



© 1935, R. J. Reynolds Tob. Co.

HAROLD ("DUTCH") SMITH, Olympic Diving Champion, has smoked Camels for nine years—smoked Camels even before he took up diving. Among his team-mates on the American Olympic squad who are also Camel fans are: Leo Sexton, Helene Madison, Jim Bausch, Bill Miller, Josephine McKim, and Georgia Coleman.

Read below what leading sports champions say about Camels

With the preference of star athletes overwhelmingly for one cigarette, that cigarette has to be exceptionally mild! Its name is well known to you—Camel. Here's what an Olympic champion diver, Harold ("Dutch") Smith, says about Camels: "I've found a great deal of pleasure in Camels. They never interfere with my wind." Rip Collins, of the St. Louis Cardinals, says: "Here's the best proof I know that Camels are mild: I can smoke them steadily, and they never get my wind."

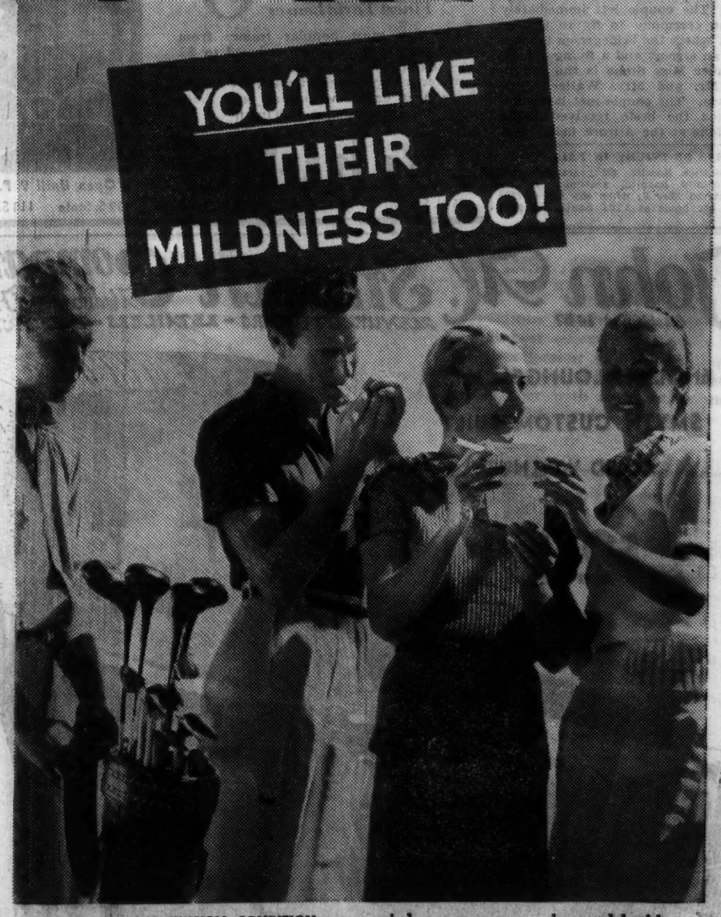
Rowland Dufton, squash star of the New York A. C., says: "Squash is a game that requires A1 condition for tournament play. I've found that Camels are so mild I can smoke all I want, and they never upset my nerves or get my wind. That's what I call real mildness!"

Dick Shelton, world-champion steer dogger, says: "I must be sure the cigarettes I smoke are mild. Camels are very mild—don't get my wind." And those two brilliant golfers, Denny Shute and Helen Hicks, have come to the same conclusion—"Camels do not get my wind."

How this mildness is important to you too!

Camel smokers can smoke more—and enjoy smoking more, knowing that sports champions have found Camels so mild that they never jangle their nerves or get their wind.

YOU'LL LIKE THEIR MILDNESS TOO!



YOUR OWN PHYSICAL CONDITION—your wind...your energy...the good health of your nerves—is important to you too. So remember this: Camels are so mild you can smoke all you want. Athletes say Camels never get their wind or nerves.

SO MILD! YOU CAN SMOKE ALL YOU WANT!

SALE OF ARMY SURPLUS GOODS UNDER INQUIRY

House Committee Now Acts in Secret.

Washington, D. C., May 12.—(AP)—The house military committee was disclosed today to have resumed quietly—behind closed doors—its investigation of war department business tactics.

Chairman John J. McSwain [Dem., S. C.] confirmed that fact. He spoke of some "startling revelations" that might develop from evidence thus far obtained.

A special counsel giving full time to the investigation has been scrutinizing the affairs of Joseph Silverman Jr., of New York, a dealer in army surpluses. Contracts in which he was involved were investigated in a District of Columbia grand jury inquiry last year.

Gives Evidence to Committee.

After five weeks of study, the jury declined to return any indictments. It then handed over a transcript of the testimony to the military committee.

The present inquiry, McSwain said, involves not only Silverman but also two of his kinsmen and several army officers.

The exact course of the new search was concealed. It was learned, however, that W. Frank James, the committee's counsel, recently had a truck and two trunks filled with records brought to Washington.

Silverman himself then was called before a small group of members. McSwain said he might be asked to testify again shortly.

Woodring Bars Silverman.

The grand jury investigation carried the name of Harry H. Woodring, assistant secretary of war, onto the front pages as the most prominent witness. Woodring barred Silverman from the department during the course of the proceedings.

Silverman was reported to have told the grand jury he had a two way contract to sell back 700,000 suits of underwear to the war department at the price he paid for them. In return, he said, he received assurance he would be permitted to buy other excess supplies for which the army had no use. The underwear deal, he said, would have saved the government $700,000.

Secretary Rebukes Colonel.

The military committee took up an investigation of war department expenditures under orders from the house. It was as a result of that inquiry that Secretary Dern recently delivered a stinging message of censure to Col. Joseph I. McMullen of Washington for having private business relations with parties interested in war department business affairs.

News of The Tribune Experimental Farm By Frank Ridgway

Data on Plantings.

May, 12, 1935.

WITH measuring tape, stakes, and markers test plots have been laid out at THE TRIBUNE Experimental farm, two miles west and one mile south of Wheaton. In these testplots are to grow rare and exotic crops. Some of the crops already have been started and Carl Henderson, farm manager, and Dr. Earl Sieveking, the expert of Bloomington, Ill., decided Friday on the planting dates of the remaining crops to be tested.

A color map appeared in the graphic section of THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE yesterday, announcing the 1935 experimental crop plans at the Wheaton farm. The test fields will be known as A and B. Herewith are listed the numbers of the plots, the crops to be grown, and the planting dates of the plants to be tested this season in field A:

1. Corn—Illinois hybrid No. 13 for silage. This corn made an excellent showing at THE TRIBUNE Yorkville farm last year. To be planted between May 15 and 20.

2. Corn—Illinois hybrid No. 368 for grain. To be planted May 15 to 20.

3. Soy bean—Sousei O. Saya variety for green vegetable. To be planted May 20 to 25.

4. Soy bean—Cayuga variety or strain for beans or hay. To be planted May 20 to 25.

5. Flax—J. W. S. variety for fiber. Planted in open on May 8.

6. Flax—Bison, wilt resistant variety, for seed. Planted May 8.

7. Cow peas—Whippoorwill variety. To be planted last week in May.

8. Cow peas—Ramshorn variety. To be planted last week in May.

9. Sugar cane—Some of the nodes or joints of stalks were started early in the greenhouse and will be transplanted about May 25 to open plots. On the same date full length stalks will be planted in furrows in the open plots.

10. Atlas Sorgo—For grain, fodder or silage. To be planted last of May.

11. Lespedeza—Corean [Korean] strain, an annual. Planted in open May 8. Plants up.

12. Lespedeza—Harbin, early strain of Corean, an annual. Planted in open May 8. Plants up.

13. Lespedeza—Sericea No. 0473, perennial strain. Planted in open May 8. Plants not yet up.

14. Peanuts—Spanish, earliest variety. To be planted last of May.

15. Tobacco—Two Kentucky and two Wisconsin types. Some of the seed started on April 26 in greenhouse; another planting to be made on patch where brush has been burnt off. Plants in the greenhouse to be set in open about the first of June.

16. Cotton—Misdel No. 4 variety. Seeds started in hotbeds April 26. To be transplanted to open field about June 1.

17. Hops—Crown roots to be planted Monday.

Rice—Caloro variety. To be planted soon.

Hemp—Fiber strain. To be planted soon.

The crops and planting dates for field B are listed:

Pyrethrum—Seeds from Japan and Persia started early in green house and later transferred to cold frames. Plants to be set in open soon.

Safflower—Seeds to be planted in open field about the last week in May.

Crotolaria—No. 04277 [incana] for forage and soil building. To be planted last of May.

Crotolaria—No. 25053 [juncea] for soil building and fiber. To be planted last of May.

Corn—Rainbow, special strain for decorative crop. To be planted May 15 to 20.

Mr. Henderson advises farmers, crop experts, college students, school children and others who are following these tests to save the color map from yesterday's Tribune and to make note of the planting dates for convenient reference.

SUPREME COURT MAY RULE TODAY ON FARM DEBTS

Washington, D. C., May 12.—(AP)—A decision potentially affecting 12 billion dollars in farm debts and further illuminating the Supreme court's attitude toward various New Deal proposals is expected tomorrow from the high court.

It will say whether or not the Frazier-Lemke farm mortgage moratorium act is constitutional—whether the "due process" guarantee of the basic law is violated by an inforced reduction in the amount of a debt.

The court already has held valid a state law with some points of similarity, dropping to do so into the familiar 5 to 4 alignment which has come to be expected when issues involving the perennial liberal versus conservative viewpoint are up for decision.

The federal statute in question enables a farmer to prevent by court action foreclosure of a mortgage on his property for a period of five years. Meanwhile he pays a rental fee and is given an opportunity to discharge the debt in full upon payment of the farm's appraised value.

POWER PROJECT AT LOCKPORT IS 60% FINISHED

Work on the $700,000 Lockport power plant, rehabilitation project of the Chicago Sanitary district is 60 per cent completed and installation of the two new turbines included in the program will be made before July 15, it was announced yesterday by Horace P. Ramey, assistant chief engineer for the district.

The project, planned to modernize the 28 year old plant, was begun in November, 1934, with the aid of $230,000 in PWA funds. It is expected to have the new units in partial operation this year and operating at full capacity in 1936.

Under a Supreme court decision, the lake diversion must be reduced to an average 1,500 cubic feet of water a second, in contrast to the previous average of 6,500 cubic feet a second flowing through the drainage canal.

The new hydro-electric units are equipped with 10,000 horse power turbines and electric generators. The seven original units in the plant each had a 6,000 horse power turbine. Five of the old units will be retained to work along with the new ones.

"With the 6,500 cubic foot flow, the old plant was able to generate 130,000,000 kilowatt hours of electricity per year," said Mr. Ramey. "The reduced flow in 1939 would cut the power of the old plant to 42,000,000 kilowatt hours per year, but the new plant will then be capable of 60,000,000 kilowatt hours."

The plant, located on the drainage canal two miles south of Lockport, generates electric power for the use of the Sanitary district and sells the city of Chicago approximately two-thirds of the electricity used in street lighting.

"The Newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and lead public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."—Chicago Tribune.

MR. HOPKINS' TRIUMPH OVER THE DESTITUTE.

Mr. Hopkins' triumph over Illinois will soon be fully attested by the cries of the victims. The federal relief dictator knows that hunger often compels surrender. If it is at work within the besieger need only sit without and wait. Mr. Hopkins is sitting and waiting in Washington until distress has become so acute that he'll have his way.

So long as the federal relief director is sustained by President Roosevelt he has no responsibilities to any one. He is not a cabinet officer. He is a personal appointee. He has no constituents. He can do as he pleases. Elected representatives of the people can be turned from his door and are.

Gov. Horner has endeavored to keep in line with the Roosevelt administration. The Democratic party is in control in Springfield as it is in Washington. Mr. Horner has done what the New Deal has asked him to do. When the states were told to pass their own NRA laws the Illinois governor put one through the legislature, although the legislation may have been obnoxious to his own legal sense. It is almost fatal to oppose Washington orders. The stubborn governor or stubborn state is cut off.

Although there has been no resistance in Illinois there is always a chill in the reception Gov. Horner gets in the federal capital and frequently there are rebuffs. When he asked for consideration for the state's needy the door was shut in his face. The governor is in an embarrassing position. The 2 cent tax provided revenue for relief for six months and then was diverted to general state purposes, taking the place of the state levy on property. The Democratic state administration can make the political argument that it abolished state taxes. Meanwhile the New Deal did not abolish poverty, although it said it would.

The tax on purchases is a nuisance to many people. Two pennies go here and four there. Two per cent is added to every bill. People who count their pennies do not like the tax, which, having been first levied for relief, is now being used to pay state expenses. The governor could not give it up if he desired this year. The current tax bills do not include the state tax levy. Mr. Horner has been obliged to tell the legislature to levy an additional nuisance tax. Serious mistakes have been made and the political yarn is all snarled.

Contrary to Mr. Hopkins' opinion, common to the snubocracy, the Illinois legislature is not a mere shipping department, receiving and dispatching bundles as per instructions. It still exists as a representative assembly in which there may be differences of opinion. The relief dictator will have none of this. He could accept the relief act as effective July 1 but he will not. He could give Illinois federal allotment and allow the state to make up the deficit in its own way. He will not.

He dictates for the pleasure of it. The autocrat must have his fun. Destitute people in this state are cut off from relief, although the money waits in Washington. Hunger is expected to make the state submit. The New Deal has given Mr. Hopkins the power and he tells the state to come to terms or starve. He probably hasn't enough political intelligence to perceive what the reckoning will be.

WHY NOT FOR OUR COMMUTERS?

On Jan. 23 we added a sixth plank to THE TRIBUNE platform for Chicago, "Introduce Suburban Service Appropriate to This Century." Other than a few acknowledgments of slight improvements, the topic has not since had our attention principally because we were awaiting the announcement of the spring time tables that are usually made effective with the change of daylight saving time. These have now appeared and although running time has been improved to the extent of three or five minutes in a few cases, they contain the same old medicine. There has been no substantial improvement either in the frequency of schedules or speeds. It seems obvious that some radical changes must be made in both power and equipment before Chicago suburbanites will get twentieth century accommodation. Steam has gone as far as it can be forced in short haul multiple stop schedules.

We have a definite recommendation for consideration by the railways. In a recent issue of THE TRIBUNE will be found a description of a double ended, streamlined, Diesel driven suburban unit constructed by the Goodyear-Zeppelin corporation for service between Boston, Mass., and Providence, R. I. This train is capable of covering the distance between these terminals, equal to forty-three and a quarter miles, in forty-four minutes, including one intermediate stop. Also it has the necessary acceleration—"pickup"—to give virtually mile a minute service with additional stops.

If railroads offering service to Chicago's suburbanites really have the development of the districts they serve at heart they will immediately investigate the possibilities offered by this new flexible unit. Will they permit it to be said that a Bostonian is offered better service to the neighboring city of Providence than a Chicagoan can secure to and from his home in Lake Forest?

PARTISANSHIP AND THE JUDICIARY.

Party voting has automatically defeated many of our judges who had served the law and the community loyally and deserved reelection by their integrity and judicial qualifications. In political landslides or in elections in which a party organization has possessed exceptional advantages and resources only the greatest effort on the part of the bar, the press, and civic associations has been able to save judges in some instances and too often failed.

This danger now reappears in the coming judicial election at which several Republican judges who have every claim to approval by voters regardless of party affiliation may be sacrificed. For example, there are Judge William H. McSurely and Judge Oscar Hebel, who because of their judicial qualities were designated by the Supreme court for service in the Appellate court, an honor and responsibility which attracts little attention from laymen. The recent judgment of the bar primary gives a better test of their quality, Judge McSurely heading the list with 1,005 votes for his reelection and only 35 opposed, while Judge Hebel was near the top with 995 votes for his retention and only 49 against.

The situation ought not only to stir responsible citizens to their duty and interest in the election but also the responsible leaders of the party organizations. Coalition, although it has been criticized, is the most practical method, under our present faulty system, of insuring the reelection of worthy incumbents. The Democratic organization may be inclined to abuse its present strength, as it seems to be in regard to the permanent registration bills, but we suggest that in spite of some deplorable judicial sacrifices in the past, the community has known how to defeat and punish efforts to turn the judiciary into a mere party organ, even by a party organization enjoying a temporary popularity and all the political advantages now possessed by the present Democracy. Big Bill thought he could take over the judiciary to make it a slave of his purposes, but with the aid of responsible Democrats and Republicans and the aroused spirit of the community that attempt to destroy the independence and integrity of our courts was severely rebuked. Nothing in the career of misgovernment of the Thompson régime did so much to break it as its attempt to debauch the courts.

We are not charging that local Democratic leaders are ready to repeat that sinister and foolish experiment. But we offer it as a reminder that the responsible citizenship of the county expects them to take action for the retention of judges who have proved their high character and earned the respect and confidence of the community.

WHAT, NO FAIRYLAND?

The chain letters which started in Denver are flowing into Chicago in increasing numbers and the postoffice inspectors are unfeelingly engaged in knocking their fairyland of geometrical progression down about the writers' ears.

Typical of their indifference to sweetness and light was the inspector who took pencil and paper and figured out that if the 15,625 people who contributed dimes to reward the writer of the first letters in the chain of fives were all similarly rewarded it would be necessary to collect dimes from 244,149,625 people, about twice the population of the United States. Therefore they have concluded that the chain letter writers are guilty both of conducting a lottery and of using the mails to defraud.

This may be very logical, but it is certainly not in accordance with the principles of the more abundant life as they have been unfolded to us over the radio at our fireside. The postoffice inspectors are caught kicking in the slats of Utopia merely because they believe the machinery for attaining it won't work. By the standards of New Deal criticism they are, ipso facto, tories, slingers of dead cats, and self-appointed spokesmen who misrepresent the sentiments of the class for whom they presume to speak.

Furthermore, if Genial Jim Farley doesn't act quickly to stamp out this heresy that noble intentions are no excuse for impracticality, we won't have a brain truster left in Washington. If the postoffice inspectors are going after chain letter writers merely because of the latters' misplaced faith in the law of progression, what, given free rein, could they do to Henry Wallace for seeking to promote plenty in the land by killing the little pigs, or to Hugh Johnson and Donald Richberg for trying to revive prosperity by shutting down factories, or to Henry Morgenthau for attempting the Lord knows what by buying silver for twice what it's worth, or to Dr. Townsend, or Huey Long?

In fact, contemplation of what could be accomplished if their logic were applied unstintingly to the present political scene leaves us almost as optimistic as the chain letter writers.

Editorial of the Day

CITY PLAY SPACE.

[New York Times.]

Our biggest cities have roughly one acre of public park or playground for every hundred people. Chicago makes the best showing, with Cleveland, Philadelphia, and New York close behind. The table has been compiled by Frederic Rex of Chicago and sent out by the Associated Press. At the other end are Baltimore with less than one-fifth of an acre, and Detroit, St. Louis, Buffalo, and San Francisco doing not much better. One might understand how Detroit grew so fast that she could not keep up on recreation space, but in the case of the other towns it is a puzzle or a pity.

An acre is about eighteen city lots of 2,500 square feet. One hundred persons are something less than twenty-five families. This would mean that in our big metropolitan areas the play space or breathing space is about three-fourths of a building lot to the family. It is as if each family had a back yard seventy-five feet long and twenty-five feet wide all to itself.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

Call It Calvary

(From Legends of Illinois.)

By Rachel Mack Wilson.

Tall Washburn Woodcock brushed his sandy hair
Back from his sunburned forehead, dropped the reins
Upon the team that labored long and well
To draw his wagons from Connecticut . . .
To prairie lands in the new Illinois.
Beside Woodcock upon the covered seat
Sat Troxel Granger, both brown cheeks a-bulge
With weak tobacco, for he chewed the same
Great hunk each day, protecting it at night
In a rawhide pouch beside his valued gun
With vinegar and salt he used for drink.
"Yep, Wash . . ." he said, squinting his little eyes,
"I reckon this here is the promised land!
As sure as the sun sets yonder in the sky
Them mares is droppin' on thar tails. The gulls
Is wheelin' high. Looks like thar's food about.
They ain't a-flyin' high unless. Don't give 'em aint!
Hand me them lines."

Then Troxel pulled the iron brake
Upon the wagon's side. The sturdy wheels
Gritted upon small rocks and flotsam wood
Ground deep in sand among the wave-cast stones.

Then Titus Lovett, following behind
In the second wagon of the Prairie Train,
Drew up dead short. His wife, Patience, inside,
Fell with the churn and box of powdered shot
Over the wooden step on to the beach;
The spider and the footed colander
Fell with her . . . with the box of shining knives
And knitting needles from Great Britain's store.

"All hands a-doot!" cried Woodcock, whip in hand;
"We're close to Illinois now, and men!
We're goin' to cut into this timber here
And get camped up before the fall o' night.
We'll try this promised soil and see
If it's enough to whet land appetite . . .
Measure for fields and sow New England seed."

An eagle soared above with spreading wings,
Dropping a feather down where Woodcock stood.
His bride, Rebecca, like a slim young fawn,
Came to his side and looked beseechingly
Beyond his certain gaze. They faced the west
For a silent moment in the falling dusk.
"Washburn, my husband, are you sure this is
The land of which we've dreamed . . . the ultimate?
Am I to raise my sons beside a lake . . .
And run with daughters on a golden strand?"

Before he answered others circled round,
Tired, travel-worn, and restless, for it was
A long two months out from Connecticut.
Dark Caleb Kent, six feet in deerskin boots—
A young surveyor with a dreamer's eye
Looked at Rebecca . . . waited for her words
As one awaits a rainbow after storm.
But she was quiet as the silent sky.
The others questioned Woodcock's judgment and
Some were dissatisfied, perhaps homesick.
Old Titus Lovett whispered to his wife:
"Patience! Just looky there at Eve Le Roy!
She's come along as perty ornament . . .
A-shakin' out her hoopskirts for effect
And lookin' longin' at the minister."

Then Sarah Granger, Troxel's half-sick wife,
Who all the way had lain in the wagon bed,
Said: "Thank the living God we've found a place!
My heart won't last the night out. Where's the rye?
A little moistenin' of the throat gives ease."
Within two days tall poplar trees were felled,
And drooping willow; giants of gnarled oak
Gave bark for huts, as did the useful elm.
They worked like beavers through the summer months
Near what was later to be city ground . . .
Though not one seemed to feel conviction
That this would be his permanent abode.
Men became sullen, hunted game alone;
The women sighed, and Eve Le Roy was sad.
And in each heart was brooding restlessness.
Then when Rebecca's son was born and died,
After a winter dark with suffering,
They felled a towering pine . . . a giant tree,
And Washburn carved a coffin with his ax . . .
Buried his son upon a high green hill.
He went alone except for Gideon,
The only preacher in the new country . . .
For grief, he said, needs no companion.

And as they walked back to the clearing lot
They spoke of life and its uncertainties.
"Now tell me this. Do you know why the great
Just Being that we call our God should snuff
A saplin' life like that one on the hill
To leave an ornery cuss like me alive?
There's something more that we had ought to know."
"Undoubtedly," said Gideon. "I know this:
That life and death are somehow parallel."
But silent Woodcock brooded many weeks,
And when Rebecca had got strong again
Her husband, still the spokesman for the group,
Called them together in a calm, clear way,
Suggested that they migrate farther west.

And straightway there was born activity,
For all agreed.

And when the leaves began
To dream of scarlet, forget emerald,
Wagons were packed and they set out again
To set a trail to the Mississippi shore—
To cut through time and drive through destiny.
And Woodcock said, now all-adventurous:
"We're on our way, men, to a right new land
Where rivers meet like two arms of a cross.
So . . . name your wagons, boys. What's yours, Granger?
This one will be 'Frontier' . . . mebbe 'Desire.'"
But Timber Troxel said beneath his breath:
"The Preacher wants to call it 'Calvary.'"

WARTS.

WARTS have long been viewed with disdain by writers of prose and of poetry. Their irregular, unsightly appearance was associated with ill health by Dickens, and in the prologue to "The Canterbury Tales" Chaucer, in describing the miller, says: "He hade a wrte, and there on stood a toft of heryes!" The poet Skelton, in referring to a certain "beauty," says:

"Dame Nature hath her lent
A wart upon her cheke."

Both the appearance and the disappearance of warts are a bit mysterious. When we examine a wart, however, we find that its structure can be readily understood. For some reason, probably an unknown stimulus, certain cells of the skin [called prickle cells] in specific areas increase in size and in number. As growth proceeds there is a piling up of these cells with the formation of a tiny mound on the skin. It is as though some force from beneath had pushed up the outer layers of the skin. As a rule these mounds are richly supplied with capillaries, and they will bleed when cut or injured. When examined with a hand lens many of them will be noted to have a raspberry appearance. It not infrequently happens as a part of the process that there is a downward growth into lower skin layers of certain cells that give the appearance of roots. Of course warts do not have true roots, but the cell growths in this respect are deceiving.

The ordinary seborrheic wart is of quite a different type. This is a rather flat, brown elevation of the skin and is found on the trunk, the back, and the chest of individuals usually past middle age.

What causes warts? As youngsters we were told that we must not handle "hop toads," as to do so would cause warts to develop wherever we touched the skin of the toad. In spite of this precaution many of us had warts. It is now known that warts are infectious and that they can be inoculated. A few years ago Wiley and Kingery ground up material from ordinary warts, and after filtration injected the solution into the skin of several volunteers. Four weeks later this procedure was followed by the development of flat, wartlike projections at the sites of the inoculations. In two of the cases the warts became rough and horny, resembling typical common warts. When examined under the microscope the lesions could not then be distinguished from growths that appeared spontaneously. The inference is that some toxin, probably a filterable virus, stimulates the growth of the prickle cells. One often sees on the hand a chain of warts that have apparently followed a scratch.

Many persons still believe that warts can be charmed away, and enough remedies have been proposed which, if recorded, would fill a sizable folio. One "cure" calls for the persistent daily use of large doses of epsom salts for three weeks. A patient who had been given this prescription replied that he preferred to retain his warts.

Ordinarily the cautious application of nitric acid [the surrounding skin being protected by vaseline] is a satisfactory method of removal. When used with skill the scar remaining will be negligible. The electric needle, electric cautery, and zinc ionization have also been used with success. X-rays and radium have been of value where warty areas are extensive, particularly in the region of the finger nails. Seborrheic or senile warts generally yield to the electric needle. If skilfully employed little discomfort is experienced and the cosmetic result is satisfactory. The use of some remedies may be followed by infection, and caution must be observed in applying strong chemicals to these growths.

Every physician who has made an attempt to relieve warts understands clearly the puzzle that attends their existence. If they can be protected from irritation a considerable proportion will disappear spontaneously following a change of climate or of diet, or a rise in the general body resistance.

MILK AND MEAT.

C. B. sends a clipping from a columnist who states that milk should not be taken with meat as in the rules laid down by Moses.

REPLY:

Milk with meals is a time honored custom and is a sound procedure. It has been shown, however, that too much fluid with meals slows down the emptying time of the stomach. If one drinks a glass of milk or water and then a cup of tea or coffee with a meal it may total more fluid than can be handled with proper digestion.

A great deal of food misinformation is abroad in the land. A few years ago some one gave wide publicity to the statement that starches [sugars] and meats [proteins] should not be taken at the same meal. This is a doctrin that has no scientific basis and is utterly absurd.

SWEATS IN SLEEP.

H. C. writes: What would cause excessive sweating during sleep in a man 25 years old whose heart and lungs are in good condition?

REPLY:

Excessive sweating [hyperidrosis] occurs in the presence of many diseases, such as malaria, influenza, exophthalmic goiter, locomotor ataxia, chronic alcoholism, hysteria, peripheral neuritis, herpes zoster, and various diseases of the nervous system. The symptom is quite common also in those who have a rapid heart.

Other than some obvious disease condition, the symptom is often associated with a nervous manifestation. It is due to overactivity of the sweat glands brought on by some irritation of the sympathetic nervous system.

DIATHERMY.

M. P. writes: Is diathermy good to use for arthritis?

REPLY:

In the hands of a competent physician it is valuable in certain cases, as it supplies heat.

RE-ENTRY PERMIT.

Chicago, May 9.—[Friend of the People.]—I entered the United States in April, 1924, as a visitor with six months' visa. My wife, whom I married in 1931, came from Europe in the same year with an emigrant's visa. We have a baby 5 years old who was born in Chicago. This spring my wife is going back to Europe and is taking the baby with her. I would like to know whether she and the baby can get back to America without quota and what papers she and the baby need to leave the United States and to come back. Is the baby a citizen of the United States, and is there any hope for me to be naturalized? F. O.

The wife should apply for a foreign passport from the appropriate consul. She may also apply for a permit to re-enter the United States. An application therefor may be obtained at this office, room 718, New Postoffice building.

The child born here is a citizen by birth. Unless the child is included in the mother's foreign passport, an American passport for the child should be obtained. In any event, it is advisable to take along the child's birth certificate.

As to the writer, it does not appear that he is in a position to apply for naturalization under existing legislation.

FRED J. SCHLOTFELDT,
Dist. Dir. of Immigration and Naturalization, Chicago district.

TAXES.

Decatur, Ill., May 9.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My mother holds a mortgage note for $700 which draws $42 interest a year. When she can get the interest the personal property tax on this is nearly one-third of the interest. 1. Is there any way to change that or get the heavy tax relieved? 2. Do they look up in the recorder's office and tax the mortgages accordingly? 3. If one just didn't pay it could they add that tax to the real estate tax and force payment? She is a widow of very small income and it is a hardship to her. 4. Do building and loan associations, insurance companies, and banks pay such taxes? W. B.

1. Local attorneys can advise you to better advantage than we can.
2. If, by mortgage, you mean the common form of trust deed, that is usually used as a substitute for a mortgage, then we do not see how the collector could ascertain from the recorder's office the name of the owner.
3. It would be collected separately.
4. Illinois corporations are subject to a capital stock tax as to the excess of the value of their stock above the value of their assets. The theory is that the value of the tangible assets is covered by the personal property tax on the stock in the hands of the stockholders.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

TERMS OF WILL.

Macomb, Ill., May 9.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My father recently died leaving a will. Although I have not seen it, I am presumably appointed executor. The will, I understand, is deposited at the county courthouse. 1. Would this be deposited in the county clerk's or circuit clerk's office? 2. Am I entitled to examine it there? 3. Must more than one of the heirs be present when it is opened? I understand that all property, including real estate and personal property, is left to my mother during her lifetime and then divided between the children. 4. Since he owed no one and has no accounts due him, is it necessary to employ a lawyer? 5. Would it make any difference regarding title to property if this matter was not brought to court, or is that required? 6. Please list my duties if I am appointed executor. 7. How long after filing of will until I could be released from that duty? J. M.

1. In the office of the clerk of the County court.
2. Yes.
3. No. The statute makes no provision for the opening of a will.
4. The necessity of probate depends on the nature of the assets, who has possession of them, etc. If probate is necessary, you are in a better position to estimate your capacity for handling the matter than we are.
5. See 4.
6. A complete answer would be of undue length.
7. One year.

Some kinds of music improve digestion and some hinder it, according to federal scientists at Washington, D. C. Tests have indicated that jaz music definitly slows up digestion in many people and that soft music of the light classic type is soothing to the nervous system and an aid to good digestion. [Let's hope that the radio managers consult the scientists soon!]

VOX POP, THE OLD BIGOT.

Chicago, May 9.—I have been reading THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE since about 1876. I am not practicing law, so you cannot get even with me.

During all that time your paper has led the field as a narrow-minded, bigoted, and nasty partisan paper. Unfairness should be your middle name. Your cartoons and vicious editorials have made you hated. Ask any disinterested person for their private opinion of your paper, and the air in their immediate vicinity becomes blue.

Your Voice of the People is like the vinegar on the sponge which was handed to Christ, sop. That column is not open to the views of the people unless those views are in harmony with your own bigoted policies.

I am enclosing an article for that column. Ninety per cent of the people should be and are interested in the subject matter it contains. I will authorize you to re-edit it, rephrase it, omit anything you see fit. But it is your duty to the public to call their attention to this attempt to deprive them of the things that their forefathers fought for.

Your paper for the constitution! Rubbish, bunk.

You can leave off my name. If that is objectionable, use initials. I am not seeking publicity. Hope never to see my name in print again.

ROBERT E. CANTWELL SR.

P. S.: You always get your man. Like you got that innocent man, Brothers. You should change that to "We always get some man."

THE NEW CRIMINAL CODE.

The constitution of Illinois is the only one in the whole galaxy of states that requires an affidavit by the charging person before a warant can be issued for an arrest. The purpose is to prevent illegal arrests and punish the person for perjury who maliciously causes the arrest of another. What is an affidavit? It is a statement of facts, made with that particularity that if false, perjury can be predicated upon it. One of the things proposed by the new criminal code [sponsored and recommended by the Bar association] is the right to arrest without filing an affidavit or even an information, based upon information and belief. This would practically repeal the false imprisonment law. It would also place judicial power in the hands of policemen.

Another section would abolish the necessity of proving venue. It would be in conflict with the constitutional provision forbidding excessive bail, and make it impossible for any but the rich and wealthy to give bail. It would violate the constitution by compelling persons to give evidence against themselves. If a person made an honest mistake [say, in identification] and later changed his testimony, that person could be imprisoned in the penitentiary for not less than one nor more than fifteen years. It would give a judge the right to select a lawyer for the accused. It would not give any lawyer time to prepare his case. Suppose a judge was given the power to say to a person what doctor should operate upon that person. Speedy trials would be abolished. A person could be indefinitly kept under a charge even if the prosecutor had not one scintilla of evidence. It could prevent the selection of a fair and impartial jury. It would repeal all the standard rules of evidence, thus repealing all that a common law lawyer knew about the rules governing the admittance of evidence. It would compel a lawyer to disclose his defense, and give opportunity to scare and intimidate his witnesses.

There are 570 sections and 272 pages, most of which would be contrary to the constitution. The Bar association committee called no practicing lawyers who would be familiar with criminal practice before them, nor sought the views of any, but prosecutors and others sharing their views. On this committee there was but one lawyer familiar with criminal procedure. The committee refused to make public his minority report. Our constitution says, "A frequent recurrence to first principles is necessary to protect and guard our liberties." Shades of Story, Mills, Wing, Moran and others, awake and unwrap your grave cerements. ROBERT E. CANTWELL SR.

BUSES TO CICERO.

Cicero, Ill., May 8.—Wish to thank you for the editorial you ran on April 26 in regard to the street car tracks running through Cicero on Roosevelt road. Many of my patrons—neighbors on Roosevelt road and Cicero avenue—have called my attention to the editorial and have stated that possibly when THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE notices this condition to the extent of an editorial that something would be done. CHRIST SELIMOS

THE AUTHOR.

Chicago, May 10.—In the Voice of the People on May 7, 1935, I noticed a statement contradicting some one who had previously written that he thought the expression about "man coming into the world against his will," etc., originted in 1918. If I am not mistaken the following verse is a translation from Omar Khayyam's works, 800 years old:

"If it had been in my power to come
I would not have come.
If it were in my power to go
I would not go.
And best of all lots, if in this wrld of clay,
I would have neither come no gone,
Nor been at all." XAVERA NIGLE.

OUR SECRET AMBITION

REPORTS COUNT TO WED HUTTON GIRL TOMORROW

Reno, Nev., May 12.—[Special.]—A source close to Princess Barbara Hutton Mdivani, Woolworth five and ten cent heiress, today said he understood she will marry Count Kurt Haugvtz-Reventlow of Denmark on Tuesda.

The informant, who refused to permit use of his name, declined to comment further on the growing reports that the princess will remarry immediately after her divorce from the polo playing Prince Alexis Mdivani of Georgia.

The divorce is expected to be granted tomorrow, immediately after Barbara's complaint, alleging cruelty, is filed here.

Princess Remains Silent.

The princess herself remained aloof and silent concerning reports the count is speeding to Reno. No callers were admitted today to the house where she is living with her stepmother, Mrs. Franklyn Hutton.

Her father, whose private railroad car is on the tracks here, was in seclusion at his hotel, his room guarded by a privately hired policeman.

The count's apparent efforts to shroud his movements in secrecy gave strength to the reports he is coming here to wed the heiress. He was reported to have left New York aboard the Broadway Limited, bound for Reno.

Expect Speedy Divorce.

If the usual Reno divorce procedure is followed, the princess and her attorney, accompanied by at least one residence witness, will appear in district court here immediately after the complaint is filed tomorrow.

It is expected the divorce will be granted in secret, with the complaint ordered sealed and the hearing conducted behind closed doors.

Prince Alexis is not expected to contest the suit, with the exception of filing a general denial of the charges. No testimony is expected to be offered in his behalf.

CAPTURE THREE KIDNAP ROBBERS WITH A VICTIM

Three men, believed to have been responsible for many recent kidnaping-robberies, were arrested by the police after a chase yesterday morning. In the capture the police rescued Cyrillo Decueninik, 1440 Jackson boulevard, their latest victim. The prisoners are James Mulvey, 1748 West 14th place; Irwin Spangliegar, 28 years old, 1404 West 14th street, and John Sheehan, 24, of 1258 South Ashland avenue. The three, none of whom was armed, got into Dequeninik's automobile when he stopped for a trafic signal at Ogden avenue and Washington boulevard. With Mulvey at the wheel the machine careened at a high speed to Ashland avenue and Madison street where police in a squad car saw it and pursued it. Two motorcycle policemen joined the chase and helped in the capture. Mulvey is on parole from the Pontiac reformatory where he was sentenced for automobile theft.

Burglars Loot Apartment of Attorney A. D. Welton Jr.

Burglars "jimmied" the front door of the apartment of Arthur D. Welton Jr., an attorney at 43 East Bellevue place, yesterday afternoon, and stole clothing, jewelry, and silverware valued at $800, he reported to the police. The Weltons were accompanying friends to a departing train at the time.

The tax buyers are given certificates of tax sale. These certificates are negotiable and might change hands many times because in normal times, being well secured and usually bearing high rates of interest, they are considered a good investment.

Money Held for Buyer.

"The tax buyers sell their certificates as a broker would sell any security," Mr. Ryan explained. "Maybe the purchaser will also be the mortgage holder on the particular property. Or maybe he is a person who wishes to own a certain piece of property and hopes to get it cheaper through tax sale.

"When the delinquent owner or other interested party pays the past due taxes with accrued interest and penalties the holder of the sale certificate is entitled to collect his money with interest from the county clerk. If the certificate were in the hands of the professional tax buyer this would, of course, be done promptly.

"But probably the certificate has been sold, maybe to several successive purchasers. Possibly the final purchaser dies and his heirs do not know the certificate exists. At any rate, through some slip or other, many certificates are not presented for redemption, and the resultant fund in the hands of the clerk has been growing over the years."

Insists He Suggested Audit.

Mr. Sweitzer reiterated his former statement that it was he who suggested to Mr. Flynn that the accounts of the office be audited.

"I have made the statement that if any shortage is found I would make it good personally," he said, "and I mean that. Not that I am wealthy or able to furnish any large amount myself. I said that in the confidence that nothing much could be wrong without my knowing it and I certainly know of nothing wrong. But in the improbable event that any of my assistants were responsible for any shortage I would take the responsibility and raise the money."

The treasurer set at rest reports that he had been called into conference by the executive committee of the Democratic party or that he was no longer in good standing with the organization because of the appointments he has made.

"I haven't seen Mr. Nash [Patrick A. Nash, chairman of the Democratic county committee] in more than a month and of course I haven't seen Mayor Kelly who has been out of the city for a month. I have sat in on no Democratic conferences or in any caucus or meeting that could be construed as having me 'on the carpet.' There is no enmity, political or personal, between County Clerk Flynn and myself."

Attorney John L. McInerney, representing Clerk Flynn said yesterday that he will not complete his examination of the audit until tomorrow.

COUNTY FINANCE REPORT FOR TWO MONTHS ISSUED

Clayton F. Smith, president of the county board, issued yesterday a report of the county's finances for the two months of March and April.

The report, audited by County Auditor Lee Howard, places the county's total indebtedness, including outstanding bonds and current obligations, at $65,636,175 or a reduction of $147,348 since Feb. 28. Cash on hand is listed at $964,929.

The county's debts are listed in the report as follows:

Bonds maturing after April 30	$33,391,500
Defaulted bonds and interest	8,320,787
Outstanding tax warants for the years 1930 to 1935	14,317,476
Unpaid bills	2,469,778
Court judgments	1,613,333
Pay rolls	523,301
Total	$65,636,175

Anticipated uncollected taxes due the county for the years 1930 to 1935 are set at $12,926,546.

The report shows that during the two month period the county collected $6,434,560 in taxes, fees, and the sale of warants while the county officials spent $5,436,936, leaving a balance of $947,574.

In the report, Mr. Smith points out that despite the bonded indebtedness, the county's present financial condition is good.

SEES HER FIANCE KILLED BY CRANK AS ENGINE KICKS

Albert Morton Jr., 25 years old, 1524 Keeney avenue, Des Plaines, was to have been married next Wednesday. But death intervened early yesterday in a freak accident in the filling station at Oakton street and River road in the suburb, where he is attendant. Morton's parents and his fiancée, Miss Marie Prochaska, 23 years old, were in his automobile at the gas station. The self-starter failed to work and Morton cranked the motor by hand. It backfired, spinning the crank handle through the roof of his mouth, penetrating the brain. Morton died in the Lutheran Memorial hospital.

"No, I don't carry life insurance—
I own it!"

"YESSIR, those words get me madder'n a wet hen. Carry insurance. Carry your Aunt Minnie.

"I don't 'carry' the clothes in the closet or the food in the pantry. I own 'em!

"And I own my life insurance. It's money I've saved—and it's mine. The insurance company is just taking awfully good care of it for me—and for millions of other smart people in this country.

"That money is going to send Buster and Betsy Ann to college.

"It's going to take care of their mother and them, too, if anything happens to me.

"And if nothing happens to me, it's going to take care of both the wife and me after the kids are married and on their own.

"Carry insurance—shucks! That sounds like carrying a load, when what those blessed old policies have done is to lift the biggest load off me that man has to carry—the load of uncertainty.

"No sir, I don't carry insurance. But I OWN a sizeable piece of it—thank heaven."

Nancy Harris Is Engaged to Dudley Palmer

Betrothal Is Announced at Family Dinner.

BY JUDITH CASS.

INTERESTING and pleasant news which was told first at a family dinner party last night is being revealed today by Mr. and Mrs. Alan H. Harris Jr. Last night in their home at 826 Lincoln avenue, Winnetka, they announced the engagement of their daughter, Nancy, to Dudley Russell Palmer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Chapin Palmer of Winnetka.

The announcement does not come as a great surprise to the closest friends of Miss Harris and Mr. Palmer, for ever since he left the University of Michigan a few months ago he has been Miss Harris' most devoted beau.

Mr. and Mrs. Harris moved here from Sewickley, Pa., four years ago. Their attractive daughter, who was graduated from Sarah Lawrence college last year, attended Baldwin school in Bryn Mawr, Pa. She was presented to society at a tea at home on Christmas day, 1933. Mr. Palmer's sister, Miss Anne Palmer, was a debutante of the same season.

Before entering the University of Michigan, where he was a member of Psi Upsilon fraternity, Mr. Palmer was graduated from the North Shore Country Day school in Winnetka.

No plans have been made for the wedding, but it is likely that it will not take place until next spring.

City's Society Women Busy With Gardens.

Every suburban dweller gets excited about her garden at this time of year, but so do those urban ladies who have the imagination and energy to convert wee backyards into bits of beauty that are appreciated by every member of the family when summer is upon us. As a rule husbands rather belittle their wives' efforts at city garden making until a hot southern breeze hits the town and then they find it very pleasant to sit in a garden, be it ever so little, in negligee attire and enjoy cool drinks. Feminine gardeners find more than an esthetic pleasure in their gardens for, as every one knows, there is nothing so good for the figure as the bending one does when working in a garden. Come to think of it, though, none of the socialites we know who have city gardens are in need of any reducing exercises. Certainly not Mrs. John R. Winterbotham Jr., nor Mrs. Philip Maher, each of whom has a charming garden back of her house.

Mrs. Winterbotham has been busy for several weeks setting out plants and giving the little fountain child a new coat of paint in the garden she has made at the rear of 1238 North State street, and so has Mrs. Maher been working ever since the frost has been out of the ground in her garden at the rear of 44 Cedar street. She has not been painting her fountain, however, for it is a new and lovely one—a woman's head with water spouting out of the plume of her Empress Eugénie hat.

Two doors north the Kellogg Fairbanks have a delightful little garden in which the daughter of the family, Miss Janet, works every morning in the spring. Up at Butternuts, the Fairbanks' Lake Geneva home, there are spacious gardens, but we suspect that Miss Fairbank really gets more pleasure out of the tiny city plot in which she digs and plants and weeds than the ones at Lake Geneva which are cared for by gardeners. The Fairbanks will be opening Butternuts the last of this month, but they keep open the town house all summer, too, for those members of the family who do not find commuting convenient.

Alfred P. Shaws Grow Flowers, Too.

The Alfred P. Shaws also have a garden at the rear of their residence at 1524 Dearborn parkway. It is a real city garden with no grass, just gravel, but it has a great charm nevertheless, with its little marble fountain and pool and its dignified poplar trees.

Poplar trees and also evergreens grow in the terrace garden of the George Woodruffs, who have the penthouse atop 1500 Lake Shore drive. They are planted in four feet of earth

A NEW way of earning her living was evolved by a Chicago girl who was left jobless when the firm with which she had been employed closed down a week or so ago. She had to earn money immediately so she decided to try selling sandwiches and home made coffee to gas station attendants within a three mile radius of her home. She interested a girl friend in the neighborhood in the idea, and they started out. They find they can make a profit of $2 a day each. They make the trip on three gallons of gasoline a day.

The only fruit tree on the street, the blossom-laden boughs are a surprise and delight to Scott street residents or visitors. Yesterday morning Suzanne, the dark eyed and youthful Mme. "It moves one so," she exclaimed. "It is so unexpected a sight on this city street." And le bel arbre served as subject for a little chat in French conversation, as well as giving joy to all who see it.

Mayor Kelly Swaps Smart Cracks with Greats of Movies

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

Hollywood, Cal., May 12.—[Special.]—After chaffing his host, L. B. Mayer, head of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio, about the latter's having served as Republican state chairman in California, and offering the movies a new berth with good treatment, near Chicago, if the movies really care to move, Mayor Kelly of Chicago, sat back at a formal dinner-dance party on Greta Garbo's set of "Anna Karenina" and listened in on an evening of such spirited public smart cracking as is rarely staged here.

Louis Mayer, who introduced Mayor Kelly, Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City, Mayor Frank Shaw of Los Angeles, and some other notables, started the chuckles by presenting to the visiting mayors gold enameled metal ash trays, in the form of sitting lions, which are the emblem of the studio.

"They are covered with as much gold as the law permits," Mayer explained.

Jack Benny was called on and noted that "Chicago happens to be a suburb of my home town, Waukegan. If the movies are to move to that vicinity, why not Waukegan, where they could film 'Trader Horn' right on the middle of the main street, and they wouldn't even interfere with trafic?"

"They have 800,000 votes in a Chicago election," Will Rogers said, patting Mayor Kelly on the shoulder, "and this bird gets 700,000 of them. Don't make any mistake about this fellow, folks, you're looking at one of the big men in this country. He certainly has things sewed up in Illinois."

Good Morning!

Generous admixtures of punch and comedy make "Shadow of Doubt" the sort of mystery drama that an audience can enjoy with all its collective heart.

The murder of a certain wealthy ne'er-do-well furnishes the picture with its motive power. Constance Collier, in perfectly grand form, provides the oil that makes the laughter wheels go 'round. She is seen as an opulent eccentric who leaves the mansion where she's been a recluse for twenty years, to show a lot of detectives where they get off and discover the solution for the problem that's been irking her beloved nephew and the girl he loves. Other acting's all aces.

The action is speedy, situations clever and dialog pat. If you spot the winner before you're supposed to—you're better guessers than I am, Gunga Dins!

Movie Experts Set to Work Studying Television's Effects

Hollywood, Cal., May 12.—(AP)—The Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences announced today a committee has been organized to study the possible effect of television development on the films.

Many of the producers were unprepared when the talking pictures came. Then they lost hundreds of thousands of dollars in hurried experimenting and development. They expect to be ready to meet whatever situation and demands television brings.

The committee, headed by Carl Dreher, chief sound engineer of RKO, with N. M. La Porte, director of research for Paramount, as one of his chief aids, plans a month of investigation in the east and here.

Linen Lingerie Is Stylish for Summer Wear

The Colors Are White, Blue and Pink.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Cool new underthings as smart and as easy to wear as anything in silk or chiffon appear and then disappear almost as fast as sales people can wrap or box them. Linen lingerie in white linen, blue, or pink, are simply knockout new pieces to add to your wardrobe.

You can buy luscious looking linen nightgowns either severely tailored or the new winners trimmed with Irish crochet lace. Demure collars that fit high around the neckline are edged with dyed lace in the pink or blue, or you can choose the white with white. The tailored nightgowns trimmed effectively with contrasting bands of coral linen, a coral embroidered inset that looks like a trick monogram in front and a belt sash with ends of the coral linen.

The linen is of excellent quality and, of course, goes to the tub better than almost any other material. Slips in tailored styles or trimmed with the Irish crochet with French panties to match are another find in cool white. One slip is practically backless and untrimmed, but made on slim tailored lines. The other is higher and trimmed with the crochet lace bands.

Some other tub finds are the flippant new cotton pajamas that are probably the most abbreviated affairs in the shops. They are made in one piece with short, short sleeves, and the trousers sharply cut off high above the knees. Some wag has dubbed them "naughty nighties," but don't let that stop you from appreciating what supercool and comfortable things they can and will be for the sultry summer sleeping hours. Besides that they are slick exercise numbers, and can even be worn for day suits for that early morning tennis match.

Plaids, checks, and smart dotted cottons are available, with some more pastel floral patterns for the models that will be used for sleeping purposes only. The low price tags are almost unbelievable.

Fashion photograph. . . . cool cotton in the movie wardrobes is illustrated with this crisp dark organdy evening ensemble of wide skirted dress and fitted mess jacket top. The sleeves are puffed at the elbow and the lapels are of contrasting white. The tiny pattern of the printed organdy is twinkling white stars. A rough straw white hat is trimmed with a navy ribbon and a cluster of field flowers.

ADVERTISE IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

THE SLEEPING CHILD

By Alice Grant Rosman.

SYNOPSIS.

Miss Fell scents romance when she sees Miles Buchanan meet Eleanor Chevening, returning from London, at the Fendon railway station. Miles has been forced through adversity to shut up most of the Priory, his inherited home. The girls of the Chevening family of Fendon Edge are pursuing careers, Pauline having had a play produced and now working on a period piece. Eleanor is studying medicine. Jenny, the youngest, runs a smart hat shop in Knightsbridge and gets engaged and disengaged now and then. Audrey, an orphaned second cousin, with a talent for design, has for 15 years been as a daughter to Anne and George Chevening, the girls' parents. Pauline uses Audrey's skill for her theater. The Cheveningz have a small flat in London for the use of any of the family going to and fro. It is Audrey, however, and not Eleanor, who claims Miles' romantic interest. Miles and Geoffrey Burton are partners in a stock breeding venture. Albert King, wealthy newcomer to Fendon, wants to buy the ruins of an ancient monastery on the Priory grounds. Audrey and Miles become engaged. Anne Chevening had been in love with Audrey's father, Hector Chevening. Her parents had broken up the romance and persuaded her to marry his cousin. Later Hector, a victim of the war and penniless, had brought his wife and child to visit the Chevenings, at George's invitation. Anne still loved Hector and knew he still loved her. Shortly after they left Hector shot his wife and himself. Neighbors had heard them quarrel. Audrey was in the next room, apparently asleep. No one ever spoke to her of the tragedy. Anne loves Audrey as her own child, but her sense of guilt is a barrier between them. George Chevening makes Audrey a gift of a thousand pounds. Miles' aunt, Miss Dorset, doubles the amount. Miles and Audrey have lunch with her.

INSTALMENT XIX.

TELLING THE TOWN.

At this moment luncheon was announced, and no mere simple family meal, at that, they found, but a celebration, from oysters to champagne, Pol Roger, of course, in compliment to the other Pol which had come in at twenty to one. Miles had to be told of that triumph, and the Borgia reminding her of Italy, Miss Dorset was for a moment sixty years away, spending a winter at the Embassy in Rome with her dear friend, Frances Jerningham.

"You know Italy?" she asked her visitors politely, and then, seeing her mistake and covering it with a pitying smile: "But of course not, and so much the better. You shall go there for your honeymoon. The very place for it. Not Rome, I think; not Venice, either—the lakes. Yes, certainly the lakes," said Miss Dorset, beaming. "Blue skies and white villas mirrored in blue water. Ah, you shall see."

"You know, Eliza, you are a bit of a poet in your way when you let yourself go," said Miles, "but what a poor lot the men must have been in your day not to have carried you off. Why did you never marry?"

"It was considered good manners to wait until you were asked," Miss Dorset informed him frostily.

"O no, you can't pull that one on us. We simply don't believe you. And I suppose if the truth were known," said Miles, grinning, "you didn't intend that we should. Own up!"

"Did you expect me to look conscious and coy at my age?" inquired his aunt, suavely. "When a woman remains single, men, I have noticed, invariably believe that her hand has never been asked in marriage. I was simply obliging you. As for the other women"—she looked at Audrey—"unless they dislike her, they think she has suffered and buried her heart in some man's grave," finished Miss Dorset in a hollow voice.

"Mr. Buchanan's fiancee, Mary," said Miss Dorset—thus telling the town.

Her audience shouted with laughter.

"I object to being regarded as a monstrosity," she continued, "and I consider your question highly impertinent. Still, we must put it down to your condition of mind—a privileged occasion, to quote a regal phrase. And that being the case, I may as well admit that should we go into the matter carefully, it would transpire that some of these poor men you mention did what they could. I might indeed at one time have had one of the white villas overlooking the lake, a marble palace, and what not. A charming creature," said Miss Dorset, dreamily, "as handsome as Donatello's St. George. I have always favored the statue for that reason. There is quite a marked resemblance. However, he was a staunch Catholic, and it is not in me to confess my sins to any man, so there it is. Marble palaces, I dare say, are a little cold, moreover. Still, Italians are delightful creatures, if a thought operatic. You will see."

It was all arranged, she seemed to think. They must go to Italy for their honeymoon, a very proper arrangement. The laughter of her guests, the fascinated eyes of the girl as she talked, had not been lost upon her; they were enjoying her luncheon and her conversation, and she was pleased with them; pleased with herself for having dazzled and surprised them, too. "I'll double it!"—a neat phrase, and she chuckled inwardly as she recalled it. She would see her lawyer and get the matter settled at once, which was more than poor dull George Chevening with his thousand pounds would do for a month of Sundays, if she knew anything. Too slow for words; no fire. Well, she would give him a lead, stir him up.

"You like my room?" she demanded, suddenly aware of Audrey's wandering glance. "Miles, of course, furnished the place for me." The lie was bland and experimental, and she watched its effect with malicious interest, but the girl's surprise was too genuine for disbelief.

"Did he really? But I think it's perfect," she exclaimed.

"Well enough. He treated me handsomely, I'll say that for him," returned the old lady, meeting her nephew's insinuating grin with a cool stare. "And, after all, what should I do at my age with the trash that passes for furniture in these days? Dentist's chairs, nothing more nor less; tables that would be excellent, no doubt, in an operating theater. Nauseous upholstery. Terrible!"

"Never mind, Eliza, you must have seen worse in your time, after all," said Miles.

"Plush and tassels," agreed Audrey, "and all the bedrooms in petticoats; cabbages on the wallpaper and carpets."

They presumed to chaff her, did they? Never mind. Miles had kept his own counsel, had not given her away about the furniture, and the girl, now she knew, showed no disposition to look indignant, wanting it back. All to the good. A reasonable and intelligent creature, unlikely to stir up family feeling. One could put up with her.

The meal proceeded merrily, coffee was served, and in due course a maid summoned to accompany Miss Chevening upstairs for her coat and hat.

"Mr. Buchanan's fiancée, Mary. You may inform the kitchen," said Miss Dorset, graciously, thus bestowing official sanction upon the affair, and incidentally, of course, telling the town.

"I'll see to your money," she told Miles briskly. "No doubt you've an overdraft, though nothing would induce you to come to me and say so frankly. You'd rather beggar the girl and save your pride. There's not much of her, is there? She won't cost you a fortune in clothes, for they wear next to nothing nowadays, so the newspapers inform me. Most indelicate illustrations they print, too—cami-knickers," finished Miss Dorset, with a shudder.

"All of which in plain English means 'I like the girl and thank me if you dare,' eh, Eliza, you trump?" said Miles.

"Trump! . . . I'll double it . . . yes. That was rather neat, if I say it myself," she said.

"I'm going to take you home with me so that you can see for yourself what I'm letting you in for," announced Miles, driving in a determined manner past Fendon Edge instead of in at the gates, after the luncheon with Miss Dorset.

"There's no need to pretend you're a pirate chief," said Audrey, cheerfully. "It's a lovely house and we're getting richer and richer and the champagne has gone to our heads. I feel like the people in the advertisments, willing to go anywhere and do anything."

"Danger no obstacle," finished Miles.

If he wanted to see her living presence in his house, she was no less content to go with him for reasons of her own. His curtains had been much in her mind. She wanted to make him new ones for at least some of the windows, and to hang them secretly—her first gift to him. For this she would need the collusion of Mrs. Miggs, and presently she asked him:

"Have you told old Miggs?"

"No, I haven't. Why can't we put up a notice on the hall door or somewhere and let it go at that? Or call a public meeting?"

"Never mind. We'll both tell her, because, after all, she's got to live with me, and I'm hopelessly untidy and make a lot of work. We'd better get her used to the idea," said Audrey.

Fear Cramps Child's Normal Development

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Of all the cramping, limiting, weakening emotions there is none that does more harm than fear.

This especially is true with young children. As a child grows older, often a hardihood, a certain type of courage will help him through, protect him, even make him able to fend for himself—though this is not always true.

Fear of people is a type that should never be inspired and often can be overcome.

A nurse took her small charge to the park. Every time they neared a policeman he moved closer to her. "We'll stop this," she thought.

"What bright buttons that 'cop' has on his uniform," she said. "I suppose he has a little boy at home just like you. I wonder if he lets him play with his big stick and whirl it around. It has a funny name—that stick. They call it a 'billy'."

All the time she was walking the little boy closer to the officer.

"Let's go speak to him. And when we get there you put out your hand and say, 'Good morning, officer.'"

It worked. No more fears of policemen. Her little boy—the one she took care of—feared no one.

Don't—whoever you are who may have power over a child, whether you're parent, nurse, or teacher—put fear into the heart of any young thing of any age.

CONQUERING CONTRACT

By P. HAL SIMS

A SLIGHT MISCONCEPTION IN THE SCORE.

Both sides are game in with 120 points. The Conservatives have 230 points above the line, and are plus 1,400 points on the last two rubbers. The Aggressives have 60 points above the line, and 60 points on their second game. South [Mrs. Conservative] dealt today's hand, and passed.

West and North also passed, and East [Mr. Aggressive] opened the bidding with one club. To his horror he was passed out. When his wife laid down her hand he gazed at her with a look of stunned incredulity. Realizing with some strange instinct that something was wrong, Mrs. Aggressive took another look at the score.

"Do you mean to say we have 60 on score?" she gasped. "I thought we had 80. Mr. Conservative makes all his sixes look like eights."

There was nothing more to be said. East thought of giving a short treatise on the advantage of keeping the bidding open with one no trump on West's type of hand, even if they should have had 80 on the game, but the whole rubber was now bitter ashes in his mouth.

South opened the deuce of spades and East remarked with forced lightness, "Well, I guess I'm just playing around with this hand." The queen, king and ace followed on the trick. The ace of hearts was led, followed by the two spot, and East finessed the nine spot on the board, which held. "So you don't want the trick?" remarked East brightly. Mr. Conservative made some light reply, and South added, "We don't care how many tricks you take," whereupon East gave his partner an accusing look.

The eight of clubs from dummy was permitted to go through and when South played the deuce East snapped suspiciously, "What's going on here, anyway?"

He continued with the four of clubs, taking the ten finesse [South discarded a diamond], and then led the ten of diamonds. When South played the six spot, the king was played from dummy, and clubs were finessed a third time. South discarded another diamond. The ace of clubs drew North's last trump and at this point East began to take a faint interest in the hand. He played the ace of diamonds and when the queen fell continued with a small diamond to dummy. The nine spot held the trick. The three of diamonds and the king of hearts gave the two necessary spade discards and the six of clubs was the thirteenth trick.

"A grand slam, and we only bid one!" said East heavily.

"Don't harp on it!" replied West, defensively. "I told you once about the score. And if you hadn't been so funny when you were playing the hand you would have never made even a small slam."

"If you'd bid the small slam," interposed South, "I would have kept my diamonds."

"Is that so?" retorted East. "Why didn't you?"

The Aggressives added 20 points to their game score, bringing the total up to 80 points—a fact that West will probably remember. They now have, in addition, 180 points above the line.

and in spite of being so high in the air that it was feared they would not thrive, they have grown beautifully and healthily. The flowers are planted against the building, else they wouldn't grow, and right now the Woodruffs and their friends are enjoying a lovely collection of spring blossoms when the sun is warm enough to tempt any one to go out on the terrace.

Mrs. Harold Stark Busy with Planting.

Half a block south of the Woodruffs' terrace garden there is a similar one, although no large trees are growing in it. It is Mrs. Harold Stark's garden at 1430 Lake Shore drive and every morning now she is out there, planting petunias, or rose bushes, or those brilliant blue Chinese morning glories that do not close their petals until about 4 in the afternoon. Mrs. Walter R. Kirk, who occupied Mrs. Stark's apartment when Mrs. Stark, formerly Mrs. Howard Cunningham, was abroad, had nothing but white flowers on the terrace last year, but Mrs. Stark is restoring color this spring.

The Henry B. Babsons, who have the Ernest H. Noyes' penthouse atop 1242 Lake Shore drive, confine their gardening activities on the terrace to window boxes, but they have one of the loveliest terraces in the city, just the same. The Bowman C. Lingles also put their flowers in window boxes on the terrace of their penthouse on the Ambassador East, and it, too, is a delightful place on pleasant spring days and evenings. The Lingles are planning to spend Memorial day at their country place near Traverse City, Mich., and a bit later in the season they will go there to spend the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey McCormick, Mrs. Walter B. Wolf, Mr. and Mrs. Adlai E. Stevenson, Mr. and Mrs. Hermon Dunlap Smith, Alfred MacArthur, Mr. and Mrs. Louis C. Sudler, and Lincoln Torrey are going to make up a motor caravan that will set out next Friday on a tour of central and southern Illinois. All of them directors of the Illinois Children's Home and Aid society, they are going for the purpose of better acquainting themselves with the society's work throughout the state.

Week-End Brings News of Four Engagements.

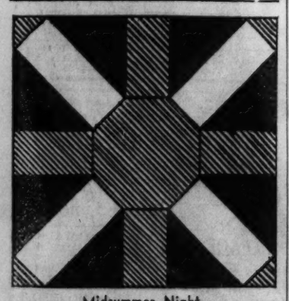
Four engagements were announced over the week-end, three at teas Saturday afternoon and one at a dinner Saturday night. At the Skokie Country club Saturday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Harry G. Horder, who have a home at 91 Beach road, Glencoe, announced the engagement of their daughter, Jane Margaret, to Richard Sidney Yager, son of Charles M. Yager of Oak Park. Miss Horder will be graduated from the Chicago Academy of Fine Arts in June. Mr. Yager was graduated there in 1932. The wedding will take place next fall.

Saturday afternoon in her home at 460 Locust road, Winnetka, Mrs. J. Russell Goetz announced the engagement of her daughter, Dorothy, to Robert Brashears of Wilmette and Los Angeles, son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Brashears of Wilmette. Although no wedding date has been set, Mr. Brashears and his bride-to-be will live in California.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank William Read of Lake Forest announced their daughter Elizabeth's engagement to Philip C. Allen at a dinner Saturday night in their home on Illinois road. Miss Read is a graduate of Wellesley college and Mr. Allen, who is a son of Mrs. Charles R. Dean of Wilmette, is a graduate of Lake Forest college.

At the same time Miss Horder and Miss Goetz were receiving felicitations and their fiancés congratulations Saturday afternoon, another bride-to-be surprised her friends at her parents' home where over the tea cups her engagement was announced. She is Miss Jeannette Rising, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip A. Rising of 2311 Lincoln street, Evanston, and her fiancé is Joseph M. Lumpkin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett J. Lumpkin of Sherman avenue, Evanston. Miss Rising, who attended De Pauw university, is now a student at the National College of Education in Evanston. She is a member of the Kappa Alpha Theta sorority. Mr. Lumpkin was graduated from De Pauw last year, a member of Phi Gamma Delta fraternity.

Romantic Title Crowns Block New in Quilt Realm



Midsummer Night.

BY NANCY CABOT.

Quite a romantic title has been bestowed on this simple pieced block—"Midsummer Night." It is a new block in the quilt realm, and was created in southern Missouri. Two solid colors and white are the most favored combination in that section of the country, but a combination of prints would be quite as effective. Set together, block to block, it forms a design other than the original "Midsummer Night."

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices: One South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower.

Canned Salmon of Five Kinds Tempts Palate

BY MARY MEADE.

Five general types of salmon are offered to the shopper, as well as several sizes of cans to suit her needs.

1. Chinook, spring, or king salmon; suitable for salads and uncooked dishes.
2. Red, sockeye, or blueback salmon; used to best advantage uncooked or in salads.
3. Coho, medium red, or silver salmon; may be used for either cooked or uncooked dishes.
4. Pink, or humpback, salmon; best used for sandwiches, chowders, and cooked dishes.
5. Chum, calico, or Keta salmon; used for cooked dishes.

Just to prove our point about each of the different types being well adapted to particular uses we collected these sample suggestions for three types:

Salmon Cocktail.

1 8 ounce can Chinook salmon
4 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
8 tablespoons tomato catsup
2 or 3 drops tabasco sauce
Dash cayenne, salt, sugar
1 lemon

Flake the salmon, place a heaping tablespoonful into each chilled cocktail glass. Cover with a sauce made of the other ingredients and serve with a section of lemon.

Salmon and Asparagus.

Lay cooked asparagus tips, either fresh or canned, in the bottom of a buttered, shallow casserole. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and cover with the flaked contents of a pound can of Coho salmon. Cover with a cup of thick sour cream [or white sauce], salt lightly, and bake in a moderate oven until hot and slightly browned.

Mexican Salmon Stuffed Onions.

6 large white onions
1 cup flaked pink salmon
1 tablespoon melted butter
1 tablespoon chopped green pepper
1 slightly beaten egg
Flour

Boil the whole onions until almost tender. Remove the centers. Mix the flaked salmon with the chopped centers, green pepper, butter, and season to taste. Fill the onion cups with this mixture. Dredge each stuffed onion with flour, dip in egg, and again in flour. Fry in deep fat [390 degrees F.] until golden brown and serve with hot tomato sauce.

Changing Hair Tone Enhances Total Beauty

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

A woman can't change the shape of her nose or the color of her eyes, but she certainly has power to change the course of her beauty career by the hair route.

I have a case in mind of a woman in the eartly thirties who has made in the early thirties who has made her hair a perfectly gorgeous asset. It wasn't beautiful originally.

The other night at a dinner party, around that table of beautifully groomed heads, this woman's hair stood out as a great achievement in sparkling color and tone. Yet, she uses a rinse on it to brighten the former drab tints, but a rinse that did not change the whole character of the hair. It was dressed with rare beauty, simply, with just as little wave as could be managed. The kind of wave, I mean, that really looks natural. The head was shaped and outlined so that five years, at least, were taken off her age.

The expert who did this thinning of the hair and shaping it is a master in giving women a head outline that smartens the appearance.

However, it was the grand, polished look of that hair of hers that had me hypnotized. It simply shone under the tall candles. And no great trick here, at all. Any woman with a good hairbrush could do just as much for her hair. This woman times herself by the clock, and morning and night it's a ten minute rite of brushing that head until there's that exhilarating sensation that is bound to give hair a beautiful, polished appearance.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

It isn't only during the winter months that we need think about the magic creams and lotions that beautify our hands. Any woman smart enough to realize what well tended hands mean uses of some sort of an emollient all the year round.

And it's been made easy for all women to have nice hands. We've hundreds of perfectly slick beautifiers that we can use in a jiffy. One of the newest is a creamy lotion, delicate in texture and in fragrance that's inexpensive and effective.

One woman of our acquaintance, whose hands are poetic principally because they're so well tended, has a system we might all follow. She's one of those modern wonder women. She works and keeps house, too. She has three bottles of this hand lotion. One is in a drawer of her desk, the second reposes on the shelf above her kitchen sink, and the third is in her bathroom cabinet. Applying the lotion is as automatic as drying her hands after washing.

This lotion is a good one for summer use; it is fairly light and not at all sticky. It's marvelously efficient, though, when it comes to replenishing the natural lubrication stolen by immersion in water, constant exposure and all other drying elements. Used daily it will keep the hands soft and smooth.

ELEANOR NANGLE.

(For information about this hand lotion call Eleanor Nangle, Superior 0100.)

Self-Effacing Wife Spoils Her Husband and Gets Contempt

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"My husband," the woman writes, "has worked hard and I have, also, keeping up all household expenses, clothing myself, the child, and my husband for years. If entertainment was to be provided I stayed home, buying tickets for them to go."

When will women ever learn that the superdevotional act simply does not pay; that nothing but contempt arises out of the effort to appear the always sacrificial end of the partnership?

Our experience is that often it is not so much the desire to remain at home and make the financial sacrifice for the other's pleasure as it is a concession to the easier way of life. It's easier to remain behind for a certain type woman who does not want to go to the pains of getting herself fixed up to go out.

Wives should know that men hate the position in which the sacrificial wife puts them. It's simply an important part of their psychological makeup that they be permitted the privilege or the illusion of provider, whether it is entertainment or buying the groceries.

Abbey Players Rich and Mellow in "Look at the Heffernans"

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

The Abbey Theater company of Dublin marked its last day in Chicago for a year or two by acting, in the Blackstone Saturday afternoon, the comedy called "Look at the Heffernans," which drama critics and other first nighters missed at the opening of this brief return engagement because of attendance on "Mary of Scotland." This piece, written by Brinsley MacNamara, one of the up and coming young authors of the Irish Free State, is in the vein of Lennox Robinson, but does not approach the effectiveness of the latter's "Whiteheaded Boy" and "Far Off Hills."

The wiles of a widow dressmaker, seeking to promote trade in wedding garments, and the reaction thereto of a pair of crusty, cagy male Heffernans who, in village opinion, ought to get married, form the basis of the story, which is weak of structure and overburdened with chatter. Irish comedy inherits from Lady Gregory's improvisations a lack of plot sense; it is brilliant in character study but slack in the organization of narrative. "Look at the Heffernans" is typical of these qualities.

The performance placed Michael J. Dolan, senior member of the Abbey company and head of its school of acting in Dublin, in yoke with Barry Fitzgerald, its first comedian. They were the two Heffernans in the center of the picture, and they gave rich and mellow character studies.

The company has moved eastward and will conclude its nine month tour, which has ranged from New York to San Francisco, in Boston late this month.

A visit to the University of Chicago at the week-end, to see the Blackfriars perform their thirty-first annual musical show, called "In Brains We Trust," provided me with more laughs than the recently departed "Life Begins at 8:40." Mine were the uncritical guffaws of an old alum., watching the lads commit lese majesty and ridicule all the campus gods, and not to be charged up against my regular aile seat record. Nevertheless, the production impressed me as setting a new record in something or other—probably in fantastic impertinence.

The much discussed and cartooned Brain Trust was the chief demon in this rampage of burlesque, but more recent matters of interest to seats of learning also came into the picture. For example, the Walgreen incident, which provided many brisk japes. The climax of comment on this affair came when a harrowed dean read an alleged letter from the mythical president of the second largest chain of drug stores in the country, as follows:

"I am entering three nieces and a nephew in your university—for the sole purpose of withdrawing them."

"In Brains We Trust" will be repeated in Mandel hall next Friday and Saturday nights.

Kenwood Social Service.

The Kenwood Social Service club will meet at 2:30 today in the home of Mrs. May N. Griffin at 1315 East 50th street.

World Traveler Gives Good Advice TO FAT FOLKS

John Lethaby of Portland, Oreg., writes: "Have known Kruschen Salts for years in England, Africa, Brazil. I weighed 190, chest 40, waist 42. After 6 weeks with Kruschen am 165, chest 42, waist 36. It gives me pep and vigor and has kept me young."

Mr. Lethaby got rid of ugly fat safely with Kruschen—so have thousands of others. YOU can, too, if you'll only have a will of your own and not listen to gossipers who tell you silly untruths because they don't want you to become youthfully slender.

Kruschen can't harm you—it's a health treatment—let one jar (lasts 4 weeks and costs but a trifle) take 12 lbs. off you or money back. Just take a half teaspoonful in a glass of hot water every morning (tastes fine with juice of half lemon added).

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Boston, Mass., May 12.—Lon Warneke, pitching in infinitely better form than he has shown previously this year and swinging his bat for four singles, led the Cubs to a 4 to 1 victory over the Boston Braves today. His gratifying performance enabled the Chicagoans to sweep the three game series with the team that beat them a dozen times last season. The contest, in which Warneke drove in the first and last runs, boosted Lon's personal record to four victories as compared with one defeat.

As frequently happens when Warneke is pitching, Gabby Hartnett lent a lot of assistance to the Cub cause. Gabby singled and later scored on the second of Warneke's four singles for the first run of the game in the fifth. In the last half of the fifth Gabby prevented the Braves from getting better than a tie, when he picked Wally Berger off third. Runners were on third and second with none out at the time, and since Lee followed with a single, the value of this maneuver was apparent. In the sixth Gabby singled again to drive in what proved to be the winning run.

One Dozen Hits.

The Cubs made a dozen hits [a total of 30 for yesterday's and today's games] and as a consequence felt right pert as they moved onto Brooklyn for a set with the Dodgers, whom they very much want to beat.

Aside from their poor showing in last Wednesday's doubleheader in New York, the Cubs are doing right well. Today's decision gave them a record of nine victories in their last 12 games, which is very much a pennant pace.

The Cubs started out as if they were bent on duplicating yesterday's mammoth first inning, but something happened to the big idea before it could blossom into so much as one run. Galan walked and stopped at second

WHITE SOX GET LEFTY FISCHER, TIGER PITCHER

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

After holding out for several weeks Mickey Cochrane, who manages the Detroit Tigers, league champions, tired of having the White Sox block his waiver requests on Charles William Carl Fischer, a southpaw pitcher. Yesterday Cochrane told the south side officials they could have the man.

CARL FISCHER.

Announcement of the transfer of Fischer was made by J. Louis Comiskey, White Sox owner, after he had viewed his baseball premises and decided that the Sabbath affair between his boys and the Athletics couldn't be played. The outfield was submerged as the result of the all night downpour.

Fischer is supposed to reach his new workshop today, but ball players, when traded, suddenly discover they have a vast amount of important business to dispose of. Manager Jim Dykes, making allowances for left-handers, will be satisfied if his new employé arrives in time to go east with the Sox Wednesday.

Fischer is a pretty good baseball traveler and now is about to draw pay from his fourth American league club. The Washington Senators purchased him from Newark in 1930 and in 1932 traded him to St. Louis, which club afterward passed him on to Detroit. He won 6 while losing 4 with the Tigers last season. His best season was 1931, when he captured 13 and lost 9 for Washington. Most of this work was as a relief man. He was born at Medina, N. Y., Nov. 5, 1905.

If Comiskey park comes up out of the mud before 3 o'clock this afternoon Ted Lyons will be put to work against the Athletics, who probably will start Merritt [Sugar] Cain. The A's also are billed as visitors tomorrow and Wednesday, after which the Sox will hit the trail for two weeks of labor in the four eastern parks.

No announcement has been made about reducing the Sox squad to 23 before the May 15 deadline.

Talking It Over

BY ARCH WARD.

WHEN Joe Vance, White Sox pitcher, was a school boy he loved to regale his friends with tales about his skill as a skunk catcher. . . .

This finally earned him the nickname of "Skunk Skinner." . . . Some years later he was participating in a professional football game in Brooklyn and in a silent moment a voice from the stand boomed: "Hey, Skunk Skinner!" . . . Vance, who was calling signals that day, took time out and remarked to his team mates: "Boys, there's a fellow from Devine, Tex., in the park." . . . Joe Jacobs, who managed Max Schmeling into the world heavyweight championship, now is handling Tony Galento, the Orange, N. J., boy who Jack Dempsey said a year ago was headed for the title. . . . He had sounded out the country's leading conferences about sending a representative team to Yankee Stadium in June to play for the national collegiate title. . . . The Louis-Carnera fight, which is scheduled for Yankee Stadium June 25, interfered with Coakley's plans. . . . Vernon George Washington, new White Sox outfielder, is a quiet fellow, but when he was in the Texas league, where they travel by bus, he never failed to take a seat near the driver and spend the nights singing honky tonk ditties. . . .

About the only reason any one could pick Braddock to lift Baer's crown is the fact that no champion ever has successfully defended his title in the Long Island bowl. . . . That will be the scene of the Baer-Braddock bout. . . .

NATIONAL OPEN GOLF TRYOUT IS POSTPONED WEEK

One hundred and thirty-four eager young men, professionals and amateurs, who had visions of swinging their clubs over the No. 1 and No. 3 courses of the Medinah Country club today in the Chicago district trials for the national open golf championship, are going to have to wait until next Monday to do their swinging.

TOMMY ARMOUR.

The local qualifying rounds, scheduled for today along with 24 other golf centers throughout the country, were postponed last night when Medinah officials, following a survey of courses drenched by yesterday morning's early morning cloudburst, decided that it would be unfair to ask players of championship yearnings to go over the thoroughly saturated greensward of the big west side club in their quest for the 14 places alloted to the Chicago district.

Sandy Armour, brother of Tommy, the club's star, reported that the 12th green and the thirteenth tee on the No. 3 course were buried under water brought by the early morning cloudburst. On several holes of the No. 1 course, it was found almost impossible to play a ball from the fairways.

The local battle is by far the most interesting of the 25 preliminaries for more reasons than one. Out of a national field of 1,087, Chicago led with 135, and consequently was granted more qualifying places than any other district—fourteen. Added to this is the fact that a number of the game's leading stars, who had failed to score among the first thirty and ties in last year's open at Philadelphia, are being forced to go through the regular 36 hole qualifying round this year in order to win places at Oakmont.

Among those who will have to go to work is Tom Armour, who won the open in 1927, the last time it was played at Oakmont. Armour, who suffered a wrenched knee in practice last Wednesday, with water on that member developing, had improved considerably last night.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

OMAHA.

JUST a chip off the old block, this Omaha! The son of Gallant Fox, winner of the Kentucky Derby, repeated in the Preakness just as his daddy did in 1930. Not only that, but he won easily by 6 lengths in 1:58 2-5, 2 1-5 seconds faster than Gallant Fox in taking the same event from Crack Brigade by ¾ length.

Had Jocky Smoky Saunders elected to press his mount the stake record of 1:58 1-5 set by High Quest last year and Gallant Knight's track record of 1:58, set in 1932, easily might have been eclipsed. It is conceivable that Discovery's American time mark of 1:55 for the distance, 1 3-16 miles, established last season, might have been in jeopardy with keener competition.

Horses highly regarded before the Derby that finished behind Omaha at Louisville were still farther behind at Pimlico. There is nothing which he has faced in these two stakes which threatens his future supremacy on their showings to date.

In one respect only is Omaha behind Gallant Fox. That is in respect to earnings, pointed out in a previous discussion last week. Gallant Fox earned $50,725 in the Kentucky Derby, $51,925 in the Preakness. Omaha's net in the two races was $39,525 and $25,325, respectively. Stake values had not felt the force of depression in 1930. That is something Omaha cannot control.

This chestnut colt's next engagement normally will be the Belmont stakes June 8, which Gallant Fox also won, establishing a so-called triple crown. After that, if Omaha again triumphs, one wonder whether Owner William Woodward, New York bank president, will elect to keep his brilliant performer in the east for the Dwyer at Aqueduct or send him west for the American Derby at Washington Park in June.

The American Derby is far more attractive financially than the Dwyer. One might think there was only one choice. However, Owner Woodward is chairman of the Jocky Club of New York. Aqueduct is a Jocky club track. Sentiment might sway the decision. Gallant Fox did not run at Washington Park, but the American Derby then was not so well established as now.

Another question looms. Gallant Fox was retired to stud service after his sensational 3 year old form which yielded $308,275, the highest amount ever earned by any horse in one year. Mr. Woodward is a member of the syndicate which controled the services of Sir Gallahad III. He is the owner of Gallant Fox, still a young stallion. Might not Omaha's retirement well be postponed if his present success continues? Santa Anita's handicap with a $100,000 added is a juicy plum for next February. It yielded to F. M. Alger Jr., owner of Azucar, the sum of $108,400. There is no reason to think it will not approximate that amount in 1936.

I cannot sleep—I listen to the roar
Of traffic in the street beyond my door.
Tall buildings hide the stars that I would see,
And there's no lure in city ways for me.

FIGHTERS AND FANS MEET AT GARFIELD PARK

More Thousands View Parade.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Chicago gave Italy's amateur boxing champions a tremendous cheer last night. A vast throng—conservative estimates by police officials were 120,000—jammed Garfield park, south of Madison street, in front of the reconstructed bandstand despite the threatening weather following early morning rains. These thousands, entertained for more than an hour until the arrival of the parade, stayed to hear and see the sons of Italy, who on the evening of May 22 will oppose the champions of Chicagoland in the fifth international matches at the Stadium.

The throng came early. Thousands more lined Madison street from Cicero avenue to the park, occasionally over ran police lines to pour into the street and all with a single purpose of getting a glimpse of Italy's boxers.

Complete 5,000 Mile Trip.

It was a good natured crowd, amenable to the requests of police and marshals, a crowd that was intensely interested in the boys who yesterday morning had completed a 5,000 mile journey to Chicago, capital of United States amateur boxing.

The parade, prelude to the park reception, was handled with precision. Headed by the 132d regiment of the National Guard, with a dozen bands and drum corps blaring martial music, the guests of the evening were escorted through the heart of the west side. Italians predominated in the parade and in the crowd, which was natural, but the hospitable west side, a score of nationalities, turned out to cheer the visitors.

The plans of George J. Spatuzza, chairman of the reception committee, and Richard M. Lenihan, chairman of the committee on arrangements, were carried to completion without a slip. That the several thousand of marchers were gathered together efficiently also was due to the zealous activity of William Harley, chief marshal, and his assistants, Carl Stockholm, Paul Marinangeli, and Julian T. Fitzgerald.

Sons of Italy Largest Unit.

The Order of Sons of Italy, with delegations from Rockford, Kankakee, Chicago Heights, and Blue Island, was the largest unit in the parade.

John Pane Gasser, noted opera singer, opened the fête at the park by singing the national anthems of America and Italy. Brief addresses by civic and sports leaders stressed the wholehearted welcome of Chicago to these European lads, none of whom speaks the language of their hosts.

Avery Brundage, chairman of the United States Olympic committee, stressed the sportsmanship of Italian teams and predicted that the Italian boxers would uphold the ideals which again have made the Italian nation a strength in the family of nations.

Pay Tributes to Visitors.

Bishop Bernard J. Sheil, director of the Catholic Youth organization; Thomas J. Courtney, state's attorney; Joseph Triner, chairman of the Illinois athletic commission; George Donoghue, president of the central association of the A. A. U.; John Behr, coach of the Chicago Golden Gloves team, and Arch Ward, sports editor of THE TRIBUNE, followed with sincere tributes to the members of both boxing teams.

WEALTHY TURF FOLLOWERS PLAN HOMEWOOD CLUB

May Build Clubhouse Later.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Organization of a new turf club will begin this week when numerous prominent Chicagoans will be invited to become members of the Washington Park Jocky club.

This club will represent the social side of the early summer season at the Homewood course, which several months ago came into the possession of a group of wealthy Chicagoans.

Clubrooms and a section of reserved boxes near the finish line at Washington Park will house the new organization. The club is to be fashioned after the Post and Paddock club at Arlington, the Tulf and Field club at Belmont, and the Los Angeles Turf club at Santa Anita. Eventually it may have its own clubhouse, just as the Turf and Field club at Belmont and the Post and Paddock at Arlington have.

Seek Life Members.

Among the charter members of the organization are Sheldon Clark, Charles E. McCulloch, Frank W. Bering, Philip D. Block, Britton I. Budd, John Hertz, H. G. Crowder, Warren Wright, Edward D'Ancona, John E. Hughes, Patrick H. Joyce, Albert J. Horan, Patrick A. Nash, Richard J. Nash, W. E. Schmidt, Leonard S. Florsheim, Harry H. Lobdell, M. J. Spiegel, and John P. Harding.

Invitations to become life members of the club will be in the mails today, and with Washington Park ready to offer some of the finest racing of the year in America at its meeting opening on May 25, it is likely the new club will become the most popular rendezvous at the Homewood course.

With Washington Park rapidly filling with horses coming from all the metropolitan racing centers, there is little left for the new owners of the track to do until time to sound boots and saddles.

Aurora Derby Attracts Stars.

In the meantime the Fox Valley Jocky club spring meeting hits the half way mark today with the regulars at the track looking forward to the $10,000 Aurora Derby to be run the $10,000 Aurora Derby, to be run on the final day of the meeting, May 24.

From Kentucky to the Aurora Derby will come Roman Soldier and Whiskolo, second and third place winners in the Kentucky Derby, and from Maryland, Canada, New York, and California will come other 3 year olds. Omaha is eligible, but present plans call for his next start to be in the Belmont stakes, so if he passes up the $10,000 Aurora event it no doubt will make for a larger field there and will make the Aurora race a more wide open affair.

HITCHCOCK, POLO STAR, RETURNS TO ACTION IN EAST

Old Estbury, N. Y., May 12.—[Special.]—For the first time since he was injured in the East-West test matches last August, Tommy Hitchcock Jr., for thirteen years a ten goal player, participated in a polo contest today as the Meadow Brook club's 1935 season opened officially.

In his first game as a nine goal player since he last held that ranking in 1921, Hitchcock was on one of the losing sides and fell in one of two spills which occurred. He confined his efforts chiefly to the defensive and was not a conspicuous figure on attack.

Feeding the ball to teammates from his No. 3 position and breaking up the opposition's offense were Hitchcock's principal activities as the Blues lost to the Whites, 11 to 8.

N. U. GOLF TEAM AND MICHIGAN TO MEET TODAY

Having handed the powerful Notre Dame golf squad its first defeat in 21 matches Saturday, the Northwestern university golf team today meets the University of Michigan, national intercollegiate and Big Ten champion.

Capt. Bill Flynn of the Purple dropped a ten foot putt in Saturday's encounter with the Irish to win 2½ out of a possible three points in his match with Cole and give the Wildcats an 11½ to 9½ triumph. Notre Dame had not been beaten in three years.

The same foursome which represented Northwestern in Saturday's match—Capt. Flynn, Bob Brown, Tom Saelli, and Burt Gookin—will oppose Johnny Fisher, Woody Malloy, Charles Kocsis, and Capt. Clarence Markham of the Wolverines.

Track Fit for Canoes; Auto Races Postponed

Four inches of water on the track caused postponement yesterday of the opening of the outdoor automobile racing season at North avenue and River road. The event will be held June 9.

120,000 Turn Out to Greet Italian Boxers

Mayor Kelly, extended the city's official greetings.

Official greetings to the boxers were voiced by Dr. Guiseppi Castruccio, Italian consul in Chicago.

Horner Sends Greeting.

Gov. Henry Horner, unable to be present last night because of a previous engagement, telegraphed his felicitations. Gov. Horner congratulated the boys on "being selected as representatives of a great nation in amateur boxing contests" and conveyed his "hearty greetings to our visitors." He concluded, "May you have a successful meeting worthy of your efforts and the occasion."

The series of speeches were interspersed with songs by the Men's chorus of the Lawson Y. M. C. A and the Chicago Civic Choral society. Armin Hand's band provided music from the stand below the platform on which the boxers and speakers were seated.

Boxers Are Introduced.

Climax of the evening's program came when Arch Ward introduced each of the Italian boxers and the coaches. Trainer Rolando Galletti replied to the addresses of welcome. His remarks, of course, were made in Italian.

The Italian team arrived early yesterday morning. Despite a steady drizzle, which at times became a driving downpour, several hundred Italians and other well wishers of the European invaders were present to shout their greetings.

The conclusion of the long journey from Rome was welcomed by the lithe, husky Italians, by far the most imposing group of boxers in the series of five international Golden Gloves matches. Having reached New York last Thursday, visited Manhattan, Washington, and places of interest adjacent to the capital, the boys and their trainers were glad to settle into the routine of preparations for the assault which they believe will result in the first European conquest of Chicago boxers.

Medinah Club Headquarters.

They paused in Union station, after leaving the Liberty Limited on which they had made the trip from Washington, only long enough to reply to greetings and pose for photographers. Then the boys were taken by their police escort to waiting cars and to the Medinah club, their headquarters for the training period. After church services the boys returned to the club for luncheon and whiled away the afternoon waiting for the evening reception.

Zeke Bonura, White Sox first baseman, was among the visitors to the Italian headquarters. Zeke went over big with the boxers who had heard of his prowess and already knew that he was Chicago's baseball hero of the year.

When the Liberty Limited reached Englewood yesterday morning representatives of various organizations which have coöperated in plans for receptions to the boxers boarded the train. George J. Spatuzza, president of the Order of Sons of Italy and chairman of the reception committee, was first to extend the city's greetings. Judge Francis Borelli and Richard M. Lenihan of the Garfield Park Business Men's association, also met the boys en route from Englewood to Union station.

Police Earn Praise.

Credit for the handling of last night's crowd should be given to the Chicago Park police, under the command of Capt. Roger Shanahan, and the city police directed by Supervising Capt. John Stege and Capt. John Ryan and Lieut. S. B. Moss of the Filmore station.

While the Italian boys were getting acquainted the Chicago boxers put in a busy afternoon training at the Illinois Athletic club. Arrival of the Italians impressed the Chicagoans with the necessity of getting ready for the impending tests. The happy atmosphere of the training camp changed to a more serious note and the lads who a month ago whipped the New York Golden Glovers indicated that they would be ready to add another conquest to their 1935 achievements.

Fishers Can Get Real Sport in Missouri

BY BOB BECKER.

Fishermen who habitually travel north for their annual fishing jaunts can get pleasant surprises by reversing the order a bit and taking a trail to the southwest into Missouri this summer and autumn.

Anglers who have fished the area around Lake Taneycomo and the Lake of the Ozarks, and have made float trips down some of the clear-water rivers in southwestern Missouri, are loud in their praises of the Missouri waters for both bait rod and fly rod fishing.

Vernon Bennett, a game warden of Branson, Mo., has written us to the effect that fishing conditions in southwestern Missouri should be exceptionally good this season. They have had plenty of high water in the area.

500 Miles from Chicago.

The distance from Chicago to Lake Taneycomo, which is in the center of this fishing area, is approximately 500 miles. Lake Taneycomo itself is one attraction. It is about 25 miles long and from two to three miles wide, and is especially recommended for bass fishing. The towns of Branson, Hollister, and Rockaway Beach are on the shores of the lake. Resorts and hotels are available at all three towns, and there are plenty of camp sites on both sides of the lake.

The largest lake in Missouri is the Lake of the Ozarks, a rambling, stringlike body of water which covers approximately 54,000 acres. W. G. Noble state game warden of Camden county, in which a part of the lake is located, stated recently that the lake affords good fishing for bass, panfish, and wall-eyed pike. This lake is about 70 miles north of Lake Taneycomo. There are a number of towns located on its shores, including Linn Creek, Gravois

PIRATES HELD TO 4 HITS; GIANTS TRIUMPH, 3 TO 1

Pass with Bases Full Costs Parmelee Shutout.

New York, May 12.—(AP)—Roy Parmelee continued to pitch in unbeatable form today, limiting the Pirates to four hits while the Giants won a 3 to 1 victory in the series final before 19,692. The league leaders took the series, 3 to 1.

It was Parmelee's fourth straight victory after he opened the season's pitching campaign by participating in a tie game and his fourth successive low hit game. In his four winning efforts the big right hander has allowed only 17 hits. He lost his chance for his first shutout today by passing Pinch Hitter Red Lucas with the bases full in the eighth inning.

WARNEKE SCORES FOURTH VICTORY; CUBS WIN, 4 TO 1

on Herman's line single to right. After failing in an attempt to sacrifice, Klein popped to Mallon. Lindstrom lined to Lee and Brandt tossed out Cuyler. Warneke made short work of the Braves in their half, Urbanski popped to Herman, Mallon fouled to Hartnett and Ruth was called out on strikes.

Gabby Starts Something.

Hartnett started the fifth with a line single to center, the fourth hit off Brandt. Gabby advanced on Jurges' sacrifice and scored on Warneke's second hit, another single to center. Galan walked. Herman singled to right, but Warneke was out at the plate, Lee to Spohrer, because he didn't think it was necessary to slide. Galan pulled up at third and Herman stopped at second on the play. Mallon threw out Klein.

Berger, the 13th batsman for the Braves, led off the home fifth with the first walk off Warneke. Moore then socked his and the Braves' second hit, a double to center, Berger stopping at third. Berger was caught off third on a snap throw, Hartnett to Lindstrom. Lee singled to right center, scoring Moore with the tying run. Whitney fanned for the second time and Spohrer lined to Cuyler.

Lindstrom became the fifth Chicago leadoff man to reach the base when he led off the sixth with a single to left. Cuyler, attempting to sacrifice forced Lindstrom. Cuyler was called out on an attempted steal, but the decision was reversed and an error was charged when Urbanski dropped the ball. Ki went to third on Cavarretta's fly to Lee and scored on Hartnett's second single. Jurges flied to Lee.

Lon Gets Another.

Warneke opened the seventh with his third successive single. Galan sacrificed to stretch his record of no times at bat over four trips to the plate. Herman walked, but Klein fouled to Whitney and Lindstrom popped to Mallon.

After Berger had fanned to start the home seventh, Moore knocked his third and the Braves' fifth hit, a single to center. Lee then became Warneke's sixth strike out victim and Whitney forced Moore.

Cuyler walked to start the eighth. Cavarretta missed a third strike and Hartnett went out on a long fly to Mowry in the left hand corner. Cuyler then stole second and scored on Jurges' clean single to left. Warneke got his fourth straight hit, a single to left, and Jurges scored. Galan struck out to end the inning.

Dodgers Lead Majors with Four Victories

New York, May 12.—(AP)—Two teams which had the pitching, the Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Giants, and one which made its hits count for runs, the Washington Senators, turned in the standout performances in the major leagues during the last week.

Only these three could show any big balance on the winning side as the fourth week of the campaign wound up today in one of the closest battles for weekly honors so far this year. The Dodgers won all four games the weather man let them play. The Giants scored five victories and lost one game, while the Senators topped the American league with three triumphs and one defeat.

Those Giant Pitchers Can Pitch.

Brooklyn's pitchers, in four games, yielded eight runs, while the Giants' opponents scored only eight times in six contests, collecting 29 hits off Parmelee, Castleman, Hubbell, Schumacher, and Fitzsimmons.

It was great pitching that carried the Giants through, as they scored only 19 runs. The Dodgers did better with 23.

Browns Do a Bit of Slugging.

The Browns, who split six games and crept past the Athletics out of the American league cellar, had 66 hits, five more than the Phillies.

The week's records of games won and lost, runs, hits, errors, opponents' runs, and home runs follow:

America Wins Davis Matches from Chinese

MEXICO CITY, May 12.—(AP)—The United States swept its Davis cup tennis series with China today as Donald Budge, Oakland, Cal., and Bryan M. Grant, Atlanta, captured the final two singles matches.

Playing out the full five match schedule despite the fact that the series had been clinched yesterday, Budge whipped Guy Cheng, 6-4, 6-2, 6-1, and Grant defeated Sin Kie Kho, 6-1, 6-4, 6-3, to make the final score 5 to 0.

Face Mexico This Week.

By their victory the Americans qualified to face Mexico this week in the American zone final, the winner to meet the European zone finalists in the interzone finals abroad.

Better acclimated and more accustomed to the way the ball behaves in the high altitude here, Budge and Grant had less trouble with their Chinese rivals today than they had in the opening singles matches Friday, when each was carried to four sets. They led all the way and neither Cheng nor Kho had a chance at any stage.

Budge, Mako to Go Abroad.

Walter L. Pate, nonplaying captain of the United States team, announced after the matches that Budge and Mako, the doubles combination which scored the clinching victory yesterday, definitly would go abroad to compete in the Wimbledon singles and doubles championships and possibly will play Davis cup doubles in the event the United States gets past Mexico, as is expected, this week.

$5,500,000 CHECKS TO END NAVAL OIL LEASE CASE

Los Angeles, Cal., May 12.—[Special.]—Echoes of the naval oil reserve leases scandal of the Harding administration will be heard at Los Angeles Federal Reserve bank Monday. Then three checks totaling $5,500,000 will be paid to the government to settle claims growing out of the leases.

The checks will settle the government's original $9,000,000 claim for crude oil taken out of leases E G and I in the naval oil reserve district by the old E. L. Doheny company, known as Pan-American. W. C. McDuffie, receiver in equity for Richfield Oil Company of California, successor to the old Pan-American Petroleum company, will present the checks to United States Attorney Pierson Hall and J. R. Layng, special assistant attorney general in the oil litigation.

The payment will be made when Hall has received telephone notice from San Francisco that the order of United States District Judge W. P. James, authorizing acceptance of the $5,500,000 in adjustment of the $9,000,000 claim, has been filed in the federal Circuit Court of Appeals and the government's appeal dismissed.

When that transaction is over, there will be another deal. In that representatives of Harry F. Sinclair's oil interests will pay to Receiver McDuffie $4,100,000 as the purchase price of the Richfield company's New York holdings.

News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

There seems to be a growing vogue for Jewish dialecticians on the air. Sam Hearn, who is the "Schlepperman" of Jack Benny's show is credited with starting a trend that has spread to other comedy programs. Louis Sorin plays the part of the guy whom Walter O'Keefe chooses to call "MacGillicuddy" on the CBS caravan show. You'll find one, too, on Phil Baker's hour. His real name is Artie Auerbach, a photographer on the New York Daily News. Baker's show, incidentally, will move back to Chicago for a few weeks beginning May 24.

There's also a Yiddish stooge on Joe Cook's Circus Night program. Ted Bergman is the chap who does the part. And soon, it's reported, Al Jolson will add such a character to his Saturday night revue. Patsy Flick is slated for the assignment.

Cornelia Otis Skinner, noted actress and monologist, will make her bow on an NBC sponsored series at 8 o'clock Sunday, June 2. She will take the place of Walter Winchell for the summer months.

Horacio Zito and his orchestra are coming from the Waldorf Astoria to the Continental room of the Stevens hotel here, with a CBS wire, on May 24. They will succeed Keith Beecher, who has been in the room since it opened last November. . . . Singin' Sam will launch a new series of programs over CBS beginning at 6:30 tomorrow evening. He will also continue his sponsored Friday evening series over the Mutual Broadcasting system, including W-G-N. . . . "The Great Waltz" in which Marion Claire, wife of Henry Weber, W-G-N musical director, starred all year will be presented in tabloid form over the Mutual chain from 9 to 10 next Sunday evening.

A report from Hollywood says that Jane Froman is "bored" with Hollywood and will be back on the air before the summer is over. . . . Anna May Wong, Chinese movie star, has become an important radio actress in London. She was heard Saturday on one of those relays in connection with the king's jubilee. . . . Don Bestor, on a hunch, played a horse at a California track the other day called "Spats." The winning nag was named "Maestro." But Ben Bernie wasn't on it.

An address by Walter Pitkin, who wrote "Life Begins at Forty" before alumni of Sigma Delta Chi, collegiate journalistic fraternity, will be broadcast from 12:45 to 1 p. m. today by WAAF from the Palmer house. Dr. Pitkin's subject will be "We Are Turning the Corner — but Which One?"

Frank Parker's eight year old niece has announced that her favorite singer is Bing Crosby. Parker has turned her over to his press agent. . . . Jim Tully, the robustious author of Hollywood, is reported about ready to sign a radio contract with Jean Grombach, Max Baer's radio mentor. . . . Joe Penner's next picture will be titled "Joe College." That is to start with!

Hollywood Will Bury Bobby, Movie Cat, Today

CHICAGO WHEAT MARKET CLOSER TO WORLD LEVEL

PricesSagHere,Hold Steady Abroad.

Closer approximation of Chicago wheat prices to world levels was accomplished last week as values here fell about three cents a bushel while principal foreign markets held steady. Trading was exceedingly dull all week and except for the government's crop report, which produced wide divergence of opinion over the possible outcome, the period was devoid of feature.

At the same time apprehension that an acute scarcity of corn is not only to prevail this month but also in July began to haunt the grain trade. With Chicago May contracts calling for delivery of around 9,000,000 bushels still remaining to be settled this month, the limited stocks available tend strongly to make speculators who are "short" corn subject to jitters of varying intensity. This was pointedly reflected in the action of the May delivery, which declined only a cent a bushel net for the week. Deferred new crop futures fell from 2 to 3 cents.

Corn Receipts Still Small.

Adding to the tension is the fact that current premiums on cash corn over futures for immediate delivery have not brought any noticeable enlargement of receipts from domestic rural sources, while farm feeding outlets continue profitable, as live stock prices are relatively high.

Despite heavy profit taking May corn is holding within a few cents of the highest levels of the season. Industries and processors who want actual corn are long the future and will make all efforts to secure delivery because supplies later in the season may be even harder to obtain. Furthermore, wet weather has prevailed to an unusual extent over the corn belt with resultant conspicuous delay to the new crop.

The approach of the new crop winter wheat harvest is offsetting to a considerable extent the fact that United States reserve supplies are decreasing rapidly. However, mills are said to be buying both futures and cash wheat at terminal markets because of prospects that the hard winter wheat harvest this year will be small east of the Rockies.

Spring Wheat Outlook Better.

The outlook for the spring wheat crop has taken a definite turn for the better because of excellent rains in both the United States and Canada. Seeding has been delayed, but this is not a serious factor until after June 1.

Many hopeful observers are now talking of a crop in this country of 225 million bushels, although these are mere guesses as weather vicissitudes must still be faced and much can happen in either direction before the harvest crews enter the fields.

The range of principal futures in the Chicago market last week follows:

WHEAT.

	High.	Low.	May 11.	May 4.
May	$ .97⅛	$ .93⅛	$ .93¼	$ .96
July	.97⅛	.93⅜	.93⅞	.96¼

Season's range—May, 95¾-53 cents; July, 80½-54½ cents; September, 76½-55½ cents.

Oats Future Contracts Widen.

Shortage of current supplies of oats in contrast with the favorable outlook for the new crop has resulted in a further widening in the premium for May over July and September contracts by 3 cents a bushel. May oats are now 9 cents above July and 11 cents above September. As farm supplies of hay are small, oats must supply major feeding requirements on farms during the period of heavy spring work when consumption is large.

United Air Lines Places Large Gasoline Contract

W. A. Patterson, president of United Air Lines, yesterday announced signing of a contract for approximately 8,500,000 gallons of gasoline as a year's requirements of fuel for its fleet of fifty-five twin engined transport planes, flying approximately 15 million miles annually. The contract, placed with the Standard Oil companies of Indiana and California, is believed by company officials to be the largest ever made by an air line for a year's fuel supply.

Western Roads to Make Sharp Cuts in Travel Fares

Taylor, chairman of the Western Association of Railway Executives. The reductions will apply equally to first class, tourist and day coach rates. The first class rates are reduced approximately 33 per cent, Mr. Taylor stated.

Chicago Area Has 5.5% of Wage Earners

The Chicago metropolitan area has 5.5 per cent of the industrial wage earners of the United States and produces approximately 6.65 per cent of the nation's factory made goods, the Association of Commerce announced last night. Calculations are based on the current announcement of the United States department of commerce of final findings in the biennial census of manufacturers for 1933, conducted locally in cooperation with the Association of Commerce.

Products turned out by 332,862 workers were valued for sales purposes at $2,186,230,352. This showed an addition of $1,014,555,223 during manufacture, costs of materials, containers, fuel, electric energy, and other costs amounting to $1,171,675,130. Of the latter $341,563,596 was in wages.

Six Counties Included.

The computation includes in the Chicago industrial area the Illinois counties of Cook, Du Page, Lake, Kane, and Will, in addition to a part of Lake county in Indiana. No concerns with less than $5,000 yearly output were considered, nor were salaried or white collar employés included in the number of workers. The number of establishments shown is 8,316.

The Illinois portion of the district accounted for 8,104 factories, 296,320 wage earners, and $299,967,901 of the wages. The total cost of manufacture is shown at $960,262,677 and the value of products at $1,865,287,551 for an addition of $905,024,874 in the course of manufacture.

Cook County Tops List.

Cook county alone had 7,682 of the establishments, 274,342 of the workers, and accounted for $280,081,093 of the wages. The value of its products was $1,752,799,778 for an appreciation of $845,043,395 in manufacture from the $907,756,383 cost of materials, wages, fuel, etc.

Analysis of the district's industrial activity showed 153 major industrial groups and 502 others. Far ahead in number were the producers of bread and bakery products with 1,361 plants and combined yearly output of $31,513,412.

ELECTRIC SALES IN STATE GAIN; FIRST IN 4 YEARS

The first improvement in four years in Illinois electric sales was shown during 1934, accordig to a preliminary analysis covering the years 1933 and 1934, prepared by Paul J. Raver, chief of the section of rates and research of the Illinois commerce commission. Mr. Raver's survey is based upon reports received from eighteen large companies out of a total of forty-three rendering electric service in Illinois.

The report showed that on the basis of the operation of the eighteen companies the total sales of electricity to ultimate consumers during 1934 was $133,433,000, as compared with $128,893,000 in 1933. The number of ultimate consumers served by the eighteen reporting companies during 1934 increased by 2.23 per cent. The average rate per kilowatt hour was reduced from 2.54 cents to 2.45 cents.

Wieboldt Stores Sales Increase 4.15 Per Cent

Net sales of Wieboldt Stores, Inc., during the three months ended April 27, totaled $4,693,674, an increase of $187,121 or 4.15 per cent over the $4,506,553 for the corresponding period of last year, the company has just announced. Elmer F. Wieboldt, president, said that profits for the quarter were considered as satisfactory.

STEEL OUTPUT RISES DESPITE AUTO LETDOWN

Production Last Wk. at 44½ Per Cent.

Despite a sharp decline in automobile output last week, the rate of steel mill operations gained ½ point to 44½ per cent, reversing the recent trend, says the magazine Steel. The slight improvement was attributed to recent awards of government projects. In Chicago the rate was 1½ points higher at 52½ per cent.

Total automobile assemblies for the week were 87,000, compared with 110,000 in the preceding week, and were the lowest since the week ended March 9. Output at General Motors plants was off about 18,000 units and at the Ford Motor company plants was about 5,000 lower. Releases by Chevrolet to manufacturers of materials and parts with instructions to hold them ready for immediate shipment indicate that the company not only expects to resume production soon but also intends to recoup some of its loss, the journal says.

Less Trouble in Steel Plants.

Little change was noted in the labor situation as it pertained to iron and steel, with those industries unhampered by labor difficulties operations at a fairly steady rate, the review continues. Tin plate mills increased production 5 points to 80 per cent and tractor plants are working on the heaviest schedules since 1929.

"Steel makers are confronted with one of the most difficult price problems since they adopted a code—what to do May 21 for the third quarter," the journal says. "Penalized by freight surcharges, affecting as many as five tons of raw materials for one ton of finished steel products, they feel they would be justified in at least a moderate increase."

Many Projects in Offing.

The first allotment of $400,000,000 from the works relief money for highways and grade crossings tends to promote early action on many projects, says the magazine.

Besides the rise in operations at Chicago last week, there were gains of 16 points to 46 per cent in New England, 3 points to 30 per cent in Buffalo, and 2 points to 81 per cent at Wheeling. Pittsburgh was off 1 point at 36 per cent, Cleveland 3 points to 51 per cent, and eastern Pennsylvania ½ point to 28 per cent. Youngstown was unchanged at 50, Detroit at 82, and Birmingham at 54½ per cent.

World Bank Closes Fifth Year; Will Pay Dividend

BASEL, Switzerland, May 12.—(AP)—The Bank for International Settlements will close its fifth year tomorrow by declaring a 6 per cent dividend and electing a non-American president for the first time. Leon Frasier of New York, who became the bank's second president and maintained its dividend paying record despite the depression, before leaving for the United States said there were still numerous difficulties to international stabilization of money.

Dr. Leonardus Anthonius Trip, president of the Bank of the Netherlands, will be elected president of the international bank at the annual meeting of the board of directors tomorrow.

PAN-AMERICAN AIRWAYS PROFIT SHOWS INCREASE

New York, May 12.—[Special.]—An increase in its international air passenger and express business last year to the largest volume in its history enabled the Pan-American Airways corporation to make a net profit of $1,064,471, or $1.68 a share, against $898,000, or $1.42 a share, in 1933, according to the annual report, issued today by J. T. Trippe, president. Total revenues were $3,642,568 and expenses were $8,578,097.

"During 1934," Mr. Trippe said, "important progress was made in preparations for early establishment of trans-Pacific and trans-Atlantic air services a project upon which Pan-American has been working for four years."

Pan-American's efficiency, as determined by the postoffice department, was more than 99 per cent last year, Mr. Trippe said. United States air mail was carried to countries served by the system without the loss of a single letter, he added.

ABOUT 80 PER CENT OF LIBERTY BONDS NOW EXCHANGED

Washington, May 12.—[Special.]—About 80 per cent of the outstanding first Liberty bonds have been exchanged for the treasury's offering of 2⅞ per cent 1955-1960 bonds and Treasury notes of 1⅝ per cent of five year maturity.

Exchanges amounted to $1,541,000,000, Secretary Morgenthau announced yesterday. Outstanding firsts Liberties at the time of the conversion offer totaled about $1,933,000,000.

Morgenthau said that subscriptions aggregating $678,000,000 had been received up to the close of business Saturday for the 2⅞ per cent Treasury bonds of 1955-1960, offered only in exchange for first Liberty loan bonds of any series. With $863,000,000 of the first Liberty loan bonds exchanged for Treasury notes of series A-1940, the total of firsts exchanged to date is approximately $1,541,000,000, or about 80 per cent of the outstanding first Liberty loan.

BURLINGTON TO START TWICE A DAY ZEPHYR TRIPS TO TWIN CITIES

The Twin Zephyrs of the Burlington road on June 2 will start a twice a day service between Chicago and St. Paul-Minneapolis, Albert Cotsworth Jr., pasenger trafic manager, announced yesterday. Each of the streamlined Diesel powered trains will make a round trip daily, so as to provide a morning and afternoon departure from Chicago and the Twin Cities. The added service is being given because of the inability to carry all the persons desiring to ride on the trains under their present schedule.

One of the Zephyrs will leave Chicage at 8 a. m. standard time [9 a. m. daylight saving time], and reach St. Paul at 2:30 p. m. and Minneapolis at 3 p. m. It will leave Minneapolis at 4 p. m. on the trip back to Chicago. The other Zephyr will leave Minneapolis at 8 a. m., St. Paul at 8:30 a. m., and arrive at Chicago at 3 p. m. With only an hour to turn around the second Zephyr will start back for the Twin Cities at 4 p. m., [5 p. m. daylight saving time], reaching St. Paul at 10:29 p. m. and Minneapolis at 10:59 p. m.

The new service will mean that each of the Zephyrs will travel 882 miles a day.

Mr. Cotsworth said that in the first three weeks of their service the Zephyrs, which have a seating capacity of eighty-eight passengers, have carried a total og 3,539 passengers, or an average of eight-five passengers each way daily. He added that 887 applications for seats could not be filled.

As a result of the new Zephyr service, the departure of the Black Hawk will be set back to 9 p. m. daylight saving time, but the train will be speeded up by ninety minutes so that it will arrive in the Twin Cities at the same time as now. The Burlington's steam day train, the Mississippi Riverview, will be converted into a local train for the accommodation of passengers to and from intermediate stations.

RECEIVERSHIP OF 8 NATIONAL BANKS CLOSED

Controler of the Currency J. F. T. O'Connor yesterday announced the closing of receiverships of eight insolvent national banks during March, leaving the number at 1,539. In making the announcement the controler stated a new policy; monthly reports on receivership closing to be made from now on. For two years monthly statements of opening of conservatorship banks have been made, but the last of these occurred in February. Receiverships terminated in April will be given out as soon as available, O'Connor said.

Four of the receiverships ended in March showed full payment to depositors and creditors, plus interest for the latter, in the First National of Beason, Ill.; First National of Ansonia, O.; Kosse [Tex.] National, and Farmers National of Trafalgar, Ind.

Life Insurance Week to Open in City Today

The third annual observance of "Life Insurance week" throughout the United States will have its Chicago opening this morning with a breakfast at Hotel Sherman. Col. C. B. Robbins, manager and general counsel of the American Life convention, will be the speaker. Approximately 1,500 life underwriters are expected to attend the affair.

Lynn S. Broaddus, chairman of the Chicago committee, said messages of "winning both ways" and "assuring your future" will be carried to the public in an educational campaign which will utilize newspaper advertising, posters, radio talks, speeches before civic groups.

Smith to Make Radio Talk.

A high spot of the week's observance will be a radio address Wednesday evening by Alfred E. Smith, director of the New York Life Insurance company and former governor of New York, who will speak on "The Human Side of Life Insurance."

Life insurance, asserted Mr. Broaddus, should be regarded as something more than a contract between the individual and his company. The last five years have proved it to be "one of the greatest stabilizers among the nation's assets," he said.

Custodians of People's Money.

Life insurance companies also have demonstrated again their worthiness as custodians of people's money, he said, waranting their message: "The sooner you plan your future, the better your future will be."

This year's observance also will take on the character of a celebration of the 1934 record, which showed substantial increases in volume of new business written for the first time since the beginning of the depression.

STOCKS CLIMB AS BONUS BILL WINS SENATE

Inflation Chances Increase Trade.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 12.—Passage by the senate of the Patman soldier bonus bill, with its provision for adding some $2,000,000,000 in "printing press" money to the nation's circulating currency, touched off a fresh surge of inflationary sentiment in stock exchange circles last week and average share prices were bid up to the highest level of the year, to date.

THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S index of fifty representative issues reached $90.66 in yesterday's trading on the exchange as compared with its 1935 low of $77.92 recorded on March 1. It was the third successive "high" to be chalked up on the new move, the first having been achieved on Thursday, when the "average" topped for the first time the year's previous price peak reached in February, a peak from which there had been a subsequent decline of 11¾ points and a recovery of 12¾.

A Half Point Rise.

On Friday the "average" was boosted nearly a point additionally and yesterday's buying sent it up still another half point to wind up the week at $90.49.

The rally which got under way on Wednesday, with a rather sharp up-

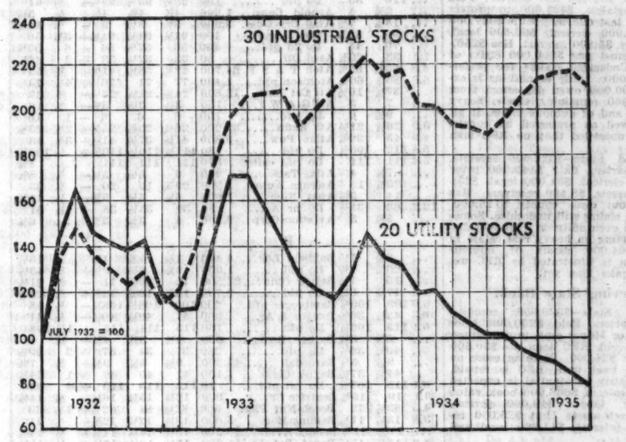
THE TRUTH

About Prices of Utility Stocks



Source: Dow-Jones.

BY July 1932 the depression had touched bottom, and had dragged with it the prices of both utility and industrial securities. But since that time there has been substantial recovery. Prices of 30 industrial stocks have risen more than 100%.

Utility stocks, however, have failed utterly to enjoy any recovery, and instead were 20% lower last March than they were at the depth of the depression in 1932. These figures are based upon the Dow-Jones averages, which have long been regarded as authoritative by financial and other business men.

Utility stocks began their present steep decline shortly after the Tennessee Valley Authority Act was passed in 1933. Since then electric and gas utility companies have been refused a share in the recovery that is being enjoyed by other industries, even though they helped to make that recovery possible by paying $300,000,000 in taxes in 1934.

They have been loaded with an excessive burden of taxation. Their rates have been forced down, depriving them of revenue. The government has encouraged municipalities to build power plants and has itself fostered huge power projects, to drive existing companies out of business. The fall in prices of utility securities, while the prices of other securities were rising, is the result.

OPPOSE WHEELER-RAYBURN BILL

Now comes the Wheeler-Rayburn Bill, whose purpose is to complete the ruin of utility investors to which government attacks have so contributed. The bill will wipe out practically all utility holding companies, and put about 91% of all local electric companies under stifling bureaucratic control from Washington. All utility investors, utility customers, and taxpayers generally should protest to their Senators and Representatives against this unnecessary destruction of property. Insist that your Congressmen assure you they will vote against this bill.

An Elderly Couple Write a Letter to Their Senator

DEAR SIR:

I am writing you to vigorously protest against the proposed legislation of the Public Utility Act of 1935, which will wreck private investments, in addition to allowing the domination of the electrical industry by political agencies.

We are an elderly couple, well-advanced in years, my husband at this very moment is too critically ill to sign this letter. We have struggled all our lives, denied ourselves many things, so we would not become a burden to the public in our last years.

What few small investments we have left are public utility stocks, and if these are swept away by this vicious legislation, we have only two choices left us, one is a dole from the Government and the other is suicide.

The small investor as usual will be the one to suffer if the proposed bill is passed and put into effect.

As American citizens, we ask you to please tell us what possible reason can there be for supporting this bill, and ask you to please do everything in your power to prevent its passage.

Very truly yours,

East Lansdowne, Pa.

FINISH REPORTS ON CLOSED BANKS FOR 1ST QUARTER

Only One of 12 Makes Any Additional Refund.

State Auditor Edward J. Barrett last night issued March 31 statements of condition on the final twelve of 142 closed Cook county banks under his supervision.

A first payment of 15 per cent to depositors of the Woodlawn Trust and Savings bank was the only further return last quarter in this group. The Universal State, West City Trust and Savings, and West Town State banks, however, are preparing to pay amounts ranging from 10 to 20 per cent in the next 30 days or six weeks. The Universal and West City are among the five in this group which have restored nothing to depositors to date.

Another bank in this category, the West Lawn Trust and Savings bank, has made application for a Reconstruction Finance corporation loan and hopes to pay an initial dividend by fall. Four of the twelve owe on borrowed money, three being for RFC dividend loans.

Analysis of Banks' Condition.

Details of liquidation, together with prospects for future payments to depositors, are shown in the sketches below. Estimates are based on the auditor's figures and judgments of persons close to the affairs of the respective banks. Figures used apply to entire receivership unless otherwise stated.

Universal State—$420,500 receipts, $20,000 last quarter. Paid $240,000 prior claims, $60,000 to protect assets [$9,000 last quarter] with $25,000 recovered, $28,000 clerical, $17,500 legal, $5,000 receivers, $3,800 interest. Ready last quarter to pay 5 per cent on $732,000 due depositors from $66,000 cash, all except $10,000 of which is free, but waited for RFC approval of $155,000 loan. Expects to pay 20 per cent in June, and more is indicated on sale of $751,000 remaining assets after RFC is repaid, despite losses to date of $227,000, or 33 per cent, on sale of best assets.

West Central State—$321,000 receipts, little recently. Paid $61,000 prior claims and $171,000, or 45 per cent, to depositors. Only a little more is indicated from sale of $309,000 remaining slow or worthless assets. $52,000 clerical, $22,000 legal, $20,000 to protect assets, $12,500 receivers.

West City Trust-Savings.

West City Trust and Savings—$235,000 receipts, $14,500 last quarter. Paid $131,500 prior claims, $33,000 to protect assets [$26,000 returned], $25,500 clerical, $11,700 legal, $4,100 receivers. Has $24,000 cash and RFC has approved $69,000 loan, but only 12½ per cent will be available in a month on $325,000 owed to depositors after cleaning up tax and other claims. Fair further returns are indicated, after RFC is paid, from sale of remaining assets on books at $590,000.

West Englewood Trust and Savings—$1,416,000 receipts, $59,000 last quarter. Paid $500,400 prior claims, $427,000 to protect assets [$38,500 last quarter] with $347,000 recovered, $109,000 clerical, $96,400 legal, $26,500 receivers, $5,800 interest. Has $250,000 cash, but must pay $200,000 claim of Cook county. Undecided claims for preference total $825,000. Little or nothing is expected for $3,200,000 owed depositors from sale of $5,030,000 remaining assets, heavy with real estate and of dubious value, if all claims are allowed as preferred by courts. Situation is so unsettled that no RFC loan possible.

West Highland State—$322,000 receipts, $22,000 last quarter. Paid $149,000 prior claims, $40,500 clerical, $31,000 legal, $25,000 to protect assets, $8,400 receivers. Has $67,000 cash, but owes county $116,000. Small preference claims still undecided. Something is expected eventually on $840,000 due depositors, depending on heavy real estate in remaining $1,464,000 assets of dubious value. Situation is illustrated by RFC unwillingness to make loan yet.

West Irving State Bank.

West Irving State—$320,000 receipts, $6,500 last quarter. Paid $200,000 prior claims, $25,000, or 10 per cent, to depositors, and $13,000 to cut RFC loan to $90,500 balance. Cash is $24,000. Nothing more on deposits can be paid until RFC is repaid, but something fairly substantial is expected eventually from sale of $606,000 book value assets remaining. Costs: $19,000 clerical, $15,500 to protect assets [but $25,000 returns], $12,000 interest, $11,000 legal and receivers.

West Lawn Trust and Savings—$85,000 receipts, little lately. Paid $37,600 prior claims, $17,000 clerical, $8,000 to protect assets, $11,000 legal and receivers. Cash of $11,000 includes $4,000 free toward first dividend. Asking RFC loan of $40,000 in hope of paying 10 to 15 per cent of $231,000 due depositors by fall. Possibly may pay something more eventually from sale of $529,000 remaining assets, largely of dubious value or worthless.

West Side Trust and Savings—$2,781,000 receipts, $193,500 last quarter. Paid $1,270,000 prior claims and $327,000, or 14 per cent, to depositors. Repaid $169,000 [$150,000 last quarter] to RFC. Balance of $1,031,500 must be paid before anything goes to depositors, indicating a long wait. Something more is expected, however, in sale of $5,383,000 remaining assets. Pending settlement of $420,000 claims for preference, 14 per cent was paid on them also, but cash of $332,000 is held in reserve. Advanced $449,000 to protect assets [$50,000 last quarter] with $375,000 recovered. Costs: $87,000 clerical, $61,000 interest, $42,600 legal.

West Town State Bank.

West Town State—$2,701,000 receipts, $89,500 last quarter. Paid $775,000 prior claims and $832,300, or 30 per cent, on deposits. Has $149,700 free cash and RFC loan approved for $430,000. This would indicate at least 15 per cent, with deductions may cut to 10 per cent of what depositors receive in next month or so. Has poured out $738,000 to protect assets [only $194,000 recovered], but half of outlay is for title to bank building, sale of which is expected to net a substantial sum to depositors. Good final payout is indicated. Costs: $96,000 clerical, $57,000 legal, and $22,000 receivers. Reserved $28,600 cash.

Westwood State—$44,000 receipts, little lately. Paid $22,800 prior claims, $11,000 costs, and $6,500, or 15 per cent, depositors. Has $4,000 reserved cash. With a favorable break on real estate, bank may net as much more for depositors from $72,500 overvalued remaining assets after payment of $13,000 old bills, plus interest.

Wiersema State—$568,000 receipts, $20,500 last quarter. Paid $176,000 prior claims and $178,000, or 20 per cent, on deposits. At least as much more is indicated for depositors with any luck on real estate and loans in $985,000 remaining book value assets. Claims covered by $26,000 reserved cash. Has $6,000 free cash. Advanced $94,500 to protect assets, with $86,000 recovered. Costs: $50,500 clerical, $28,700 legal, $6,700 receivers.

Woodlawn Trust-Savings.

Woodlawn Trust and Savings—$1,362,000 receipts, $232,000 last quarter including $213,000 from RFC. Paid $664,000 prior claims, and $300,000, or 15 per cent, on deposits last quarter [$45,000 not taken yet]. Advanced $208,000 to protect assets, with $169,000 recovered. Costs: $72,000 clerical, $49,000 legal, $12,000 receivers, $5,000 interest. Has $52,000 cash. Some further payment to depositors is expected after RFC is repaid, regardless of outcome of $449,000 postal savings claim pending. Remaining assets on books carried at $3,146,000.

William L. O'Connell is receiver for all twelve of these banks.

Wages of Steel Workers Show 22 Per Cent Increase

New York, May 12.—(AP)—Average weekly earnings of wage earners in the steel industry in the first quarter of 1935 were 22 per cent higher than during a similiar period last year, the American Iron and Steel institute announced today. Steel employés paid on an hourly, piece work, or tonnage basis received an average of $22.54 a week, compared with $18.46 in the corresponding period of 1934, the report said.

HELP WANTED—MEN.

Y-O-U-R O-W-N
B-U-S-I-N-E-S-S

Would you be interested in starting in business for yourself without one cent of investment on your part?

Well, that is exactly what we have done for many men in this territory.

These men were previous storekeepers, doctors, lawyers, shop workers, mechanics, etc., and are now earning and receiving in net profit as much as $50 for a single day.

We are an old line, nationally known manufacturer of electrical units that defy competition and for which there is a constant, increasing demand.

Now, here are our requirements—you must be under 50, preferably married, honest, reliable, present a neat appearance and possess at least a grammar school education.

At this time we will only interview men living on the South Side of Chicago, northern Indiana or northeastern Illinois.

Every man answering this advertisement will be given a confidential interview and if selected will be trained at our expense in our methods, which are successful.

There are no strings attached to this offer, as we even pay rent, light, heat, telephone, girl hire, consign your merchandise, and finance your accounts.

Apply Monday only, between 1 and 3 p. m. Ask for Mr. Lovell, Suite 404 Maryland Bldg., 63d-st. and Maryland-av.

MEN—WITH ABILITY TO INTERVIEW executives, can earn $46 a week commission, two small sales a day, presenting an endorsed News Service with no price resistance. Small sal. when qual. R. 1512, 58 E. Washington.
